President Goes Over Shake Up Plan

President Truman checks over with Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder a chart outlining a sweeping shake up of the scandal-ridden Internal Revenue Bureau. Reorganization plan calls for abolishing the 64 offices of District Collectors of Internal Revenue and putting all operating functions of the bureau under 25 district offices, each headed by a district commissioner. Capitol Proceeds Gently on Move

Truman Proposal Followed by Report on Ousting of 53 Agents

Washington, Jan. 3 (AP)—President Truman's proposal for a "sweeping reorganization" of the scandal-scarred Internal Revenue Bureau got a cautious reception on Capitol Hill today.

In advance of the return of the main body of Congress members next Monday, lawmakers already in town were divided in their reaction. Few showed any enthusiasm.

With government corruption charges already high on the Republican list of election-year issues, Mr. Truman made plain his move was but the first of a "series of actions to insure honesty, integrity and fairness" in Washington.

"In addition to the reorganization of the Bureau of Internal Revenue," he said, "I expect to take further administrative action and to make other recommendations to the Congress to insure complete integrity in the operations of the government."

Mr. Truman's statement was followed quickly by the disclosure that 53 more Internal Revenue Bureau employes have been sacked or suspended since the last official announcement, which covered the first ten months of last year.

Total 166 for Year

This made the total for the year 166, compared with 40 in 1950 and 36 in 1949. Of the 1951 total, 20 are suspensions, still under investigation.

Mr. Truman's statement was followed quickly by disclosure that 53 more Internal Revenue Bureau employes have been sacked or suspended. The last total—based on official reports—was 113 ousters in the first 11 months of 1951.

Dunlap said yesterday the total for 1951 was 166. This was a new compilation, apparently on a different basis from the earlier reports.

The only available information lists 40 ousters in 1950 and 36 in 1949, but a revenue spokesman said again a different basis was used in these surveys and that comparisons might not be completely accurate.

Congress members for the most part reacted to the President's reorganization plan with a "yes, but * * *" attitude. Some said it didn't go far enough. Some though perhaps it went too far in certain respects. Rep. Byrnes (R.-Wis.) said he hoped it wasn't a "smoke screen." Other reaction was similarly qualified.

President's Plan

The President's plan, designed to "protect the government from the insidious influence peddlers and favor seekers"—will be sent to Congress under the government Reorganization Act. It would:

1. Abolish the offices of the 64 internal revenue collectors, substituting 25 "district commissioners" in their place.

2. Create an independent inspection service, streamline and centralize bureau administration, and provide for "more adequate salaries" for top administrative officials.

3. Take collectorships out of the "political plum" category and place the entire agency under Civil Service with the sole exception of the internal revenue commissioner.

Governor Issues Order, Removes McLaren for Purpose

Albany, Jan. 3 (AP)—Governor Dewey today ordered a special grand jury investigation into alleged gambling and other vice in Columbia county as disclosed at recent public hearings held by the State Crime Commission.

Dewey, at the same time:

1. Said he would supersede Columbia county's Republican district attorney, John N. McLaren, in connection with the grand jury probe and "any resulting prosecutions."

2. Announced the appointment of Paul W. Williams of New York city, a former assistant U. S. attorney for the southern district of New York, as special prosecutor for the investigation.

3. Announced the resignation of John M. Minton of New York city as special prosecutor in charge of the Dewey-ordered investigation of gambling and possible political corruption in Saratoga county, which has been under way since last May.

To Appoint Williams

Dewey said that Williams would be appointed a special assistant attorney general and that he also would take over command of the Saratoga investigation as well as that at Hudson, Columbia county seat.

The governor acted after receiving a letter from Joseph M. Proskauer, State Crime Commission chairman who recommended a special grand jury probe in Columbia county.

Proskauer told the governor "there was no evidence of misfeasance" on the part of District Attorney McLaren.

Dewey's secretary, James C. Hagerty, who released the announcement, stressed that McLaren was being superseded in connection with the special grand jury activities only and would continue as county prosecutor on other matters.

Impressed by Sincerity

Proskauer wrote Dewey that the crime commission was "impressed by his (McLaren's) sincerity, and his integrity was in no way challenged."

Proskauer said:

"Yet his own testimony makes it clear that long family, social and political friendships and associations would make it difficult for him to pursue certain phases of the investigation.

"Fairness to Mr. McLaren and all the other circumstances impel the conclusion that he should be superseded for the purpose of conducting this grand jury investigation and any resulting prosecutions."

To Convert Ships

Washington, Jan. 3 (AP)—The navy soon will begin converting two heavy cruisers into the world's first known guided missile warships. It was learned today the 13,600-ton Canberra and Boston, which have been in the mothball fleet, will sail from the west coast, probably within a week, to east coast yards for a start on the remodeling.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Jan. 3 (AP)—The position of the Treasury Dec. 29. Net budget receipts $103,253,863.00; budget expenditures $838,164,616.21; cash balance $4,254,675,234.68; customs receipts for month $43,617,646.95; budget receipts for fiscal year (July 1) $23,809,099,987.41; budget expenditures for fiscal year $31,276,342,203.35; budget deficit $7,467,242,215.94; total debt $259,460,778,794.34; increase over previous day $137,487,706.40; gold assets $22,695,227,884.81.

Chiefs Say No Tax Cut Is Possible

Legislative Leaders Say Reluctantly Dewey Is Right—No Revolt Lies Ahead

Wicks Is Present

Senate's Majority Boss Had Hopes Earlier It Could Be Effected

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—There will be no state tax cut this year.

Republican legislative leaders today were in reluctant agreement with Governor Dewey that a tax slash was impossible in the face of the state's first billion-dollar budget.

This acknowledgment apparently ended a behind-the-scenes move by a small bloc of state Senate Republicans for a slash of five or 10 per cent in the personal income tax.

An influential legislative source predicted there would be no GOP tax-cut revolt against Dewey at the 1952 session of the Republican-controlled Legislature, which opens next Wednesday.

Dewey conferred with GOP legislative chiefs yesterday behind closed doors for four hours. He told them flatly that a tax reduction was impossible in the face of mandated and other increases that probably would send the 1952-53 budget over the billion-dollar mark.

The present tax budget is about 955 million dollars, but revenues are expected to exceed a billion.

Plead for Cut

Two leaders reportedly pleaded for a tax cut, but said later that fiscal data presented by Dewey were "pretty convincing."

Dewey told newsmen after the session that a tax increase could be avoided only by a "miracle," but indicated that he expected to hold the present tax line despite inflated governmental costs. Most politicians did not seriously anticipate any tax boosts in an election year.

The Senate tax-trimming bloc indicated they would make their move within party councils and did not desire a public, intra-party fight on the issue in a presidential election year.

They claimed the "sympathetic interest" of Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks and Chairman Walter J. Mahoney of the Senate Financing Committee.

Wicks and Mahoney indicated today that they would go along with Dewey's stand that the state's fiscal situation precluded a tax cut for 1952-53.

The Senate tax cutters had indicated earlier that they would not press for a reduction unless they had the support of either Wicks or Mahoney.

Lower Than 10 Years Ago

Dewey told newsmen the state's existing tax rates generally were lower that those in effect 10 years ago.

Holding of the present tax line would mean continuation of the 10 per cent abatement in the personal income tax, collected at 90 per cent of the basic statutory rate.

Dewey indicated that the state surplus for the 1951-52 fiscal year, which ends March 31, would be between 15 and 20 million dollars. Previously it had been speculated that it would be between 40 and 50 million.

Dewey said mandated increases in state aid to localities in the 1952-53 budget would exceed the 1951-52 surplus by 10 to 15 mil-

Reds Reject UN Plan as Slave Barter, Libby Says Foe Either Misunderstands Or Is Trying to Obscure Issues Purposely

Russia Is For Council Truce Talk

Paris, Jan. 3 (AP)—Soviet Russia, in a surprise move, proposed today that the United Nations Security Council intervene in the Korean Armistice negotiations. It asked that both Korea and the lessening of world tensions be considered at a high level, possibly by foreign ministers or chiefs of state.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky submitted the proposal to the 60-nation political committee after a long speech denouncing a western collective action plan, and hinting ominously at events to come in southeast Asia.

The American delegation immediately frowned on the Vishinsky proposal. Pending official comment, U. S. sources said the Soviet resolution was inacceptable.

Idea Once Rejected

The American informants pointed out that the U. S. favors continuation of collective measures as an important factor in the UN efforts for peace. They said the call for a Security Council meeting has been made before without response from the Russians, who would not recognize Nationalist China as a member of the council.

The Americans said that since the Soviets have veto power in the council, it would be useless to bring the Korean armistice negotiations to that body, adding that the place for successful conclusion of such talks is in Korea, with the veto-free General Assembly deciding later on a political settlement.

Vishinsky proposed that the council be called under Article 28 of the UN Charter which authorizes governments to send chiefs of state or foreign ministers as delegates to such council meetings. This made the proposal look like another version of the U.S.S.R. demand—keynote of its current peace offensive—for a five-power meeting, including Red China, to bring about a pact of peace.

Offered as Counter

The Soviet suggestion was offered to counter the 11-power draft calling upon the UN to set up new anti-aggression machinery. It was made after Vishinsky delivered a 37-page speech denouncing the western draft as one that could lead only to war. He said the American-sponsored proposal "boils down to sanctions—in other words, war."

In that speech, Vishinsky hinted at things to come in Asia. He accused the U. S. of ferrying Chinese Nationalist troops into Viet Nam, Burma and Thailand for an attack on the Chinese Reds. These measures, he said, would be described as "defensive" when "military operations begin against southern China."

This called to mind the beginning of the Korean war, when the Communists charged that the U. S. was the aggressor, and the Chinese intervention in Korea, when a similar charge was made.

Vishinsky touched only briefly on the point, without elaborating on his meaning.

Communist Rejection Is Refused — Group Deadlocked Over Red Airfield Stand

Radio Blasts Off

Peiping Calls UN Idea Brutal and Shameless One

Munsan, Korea, Jan. 3 (AP)—The Communists today turned down an allied plan for exchanging war prisoners and civilians as "no more than a barter of slaves."

But a UN negotiator said he "rejected the categorical rejection of the Reds."

North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho said he wanted no part of the allied plan because it was "simply and solely on a one-for-one exchange." The Reds want an all-for-all trade.

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby said that was the end result of the allied plan.

He refused to accept the Red rejection because they "either misunderstood our proposal or they are deliberately misinterpreting it in order to deliberately obscure the issues."

Might Be Waiting

Libby indicated Lee might be waiting for new instructions.

He reiterated that the UN plans to return every prisoner of war who wants ot be repatriated. He said the one-for-one exchange called for in the first two points of the allied plan would control merely the rate of exchange—not the number of war prisoners and civilians ultimately traded.

Another subcommittee, dealing with truce supervision, remained deadlocked Thursday over Communist insistence on the right to build and repair military airfields during an armistice.

Both subcommittees will return to Panmunjom at 11 a. m. Friday (9 p. m. EST Thursday).

Under the allies' plan offered Wednesday, prisoners of war would be exchanged on a man-for-man basis until all prisoners held by one side are turned back. Then the side still holding prisoners would trade them for civilians. When all prisoners were traded there would be a mass exchange of remaining civilians.

However, the allies specified no one would be handed over against his will. The Red Cross would interview each one to make sure he wanted to be repatriated.

Should Be Reclassified

While the allies hold far more prisoners than the Reds, Libby said thousands of South Koreans serving in the Communist armies should be reclassified as war prisoners and exchanged.

Lee said Thursday no South Koreans have been impressed by the North Koreans. He said South Koreans in the Red army are "reawakened Korean patriots."

Lee spent an hour and 40 minutes blasting the allied plan. He called it "no more than a barter of slaves" and "an attempt to detain an overwhelming proportion of the prisoners of war" in allied hands.

Chinese Col. Tsai Chang Wen said the Reds insist all prisoners of war be released and displaced persons be assisted back to their homes. He said the UN was "not going to be able to capture anybody at the conference table."

Earlier Thursday Red China's Peiping radio called the plan a "brutal and shameless" proposition.

The broadcast said the allies first agreed to an all-for-all exchange but then "refused to repatriate all prisoners of war and, in substance, proposed an exchange on a one-for-one basis."

Predict Cool Reception

London, Jan. 3 (AP)—Some British newspapers are picturing Washington as preparing a cool reception for Prime Minister Winston Churchill for fear he will go home with America's shirt. The independent London Times and the independent Liberal Manchester Guardian both report from the United States the proposal of Senator William Langer (R.-N. D.), that two warning lanterns be hung in the belfry of the old North Church, Boston, to herald Churchill's arrival.

54 Inductees Report

A total of 54 county men reported to Albany today for preinduction physical examinations. Local Board No. 18 (city) sent 37 of the men, and Local Board No. 19 (county) sent 17. Under January induction schedules, the city board is slated to send eight men and the county board will send 12 men for induction on Jan. 7.

State Boosts Fund For City Housing

Grant Is Made to Permit Construction of Units for 98 Families

State Housing Commissioner Herman T. Stichman today in New York announced that the state would increase by $118,500 the $1,181,500 it had contracted to lend the Kingston Housing Authority so that its Colonial Gardens public housing project, for 98 low income families can be put under construction without delay. In addition, he notified Arthur A. Davis, Jr., chairman of the authority, that maximum subsidies which the state will pay for 50 years to help keep rents below $9 per room monthly including light, heat and cooking fuel will be increased to $45,500 annually, an increase of about $4,150 per year.

Contracts have been awarded by the local Housing Authority to the following low bidders with the approval of Commissioner Stichman: foundations and general construction, Stewart M. Muller, Inc., Croton-on-Hudson, $737,500; heating, John R. Philip, Inc., Scarsdale, $79,950; electric, John D. Krusher, Sr., Kingston, $43,380; plumbing, L. Michel Plumbing & Heating Corp., New York city, $94,000. Construction is expected to start in January.

His Plan to Confer in Washington Taken as Tipoff

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 3 (AP)—President Truman again appealed to the CIO Steelworkers today to cancel their threat of an industry-wide steel strike.

Mr. Truman, in a message to the opening session of a specially-summoned union convention, applauded the union's decision to postpone a scheduled New Year's Day walkout and asked for a permanent postponement.

The convention was called to act on the matter. President Philip Murray of the CIO and the Steelworkers Union was prepared to recommend the further strike delay asked by the administration.

It was considered probable the union may set a new strike deadline, possibly mid-February. That would give the government's Wage Stabilization Board time to hear and make recommendations on the union's 18½ cent average hourly pay boost demand.

Hint Is Dropped

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 3 (AP)—President Philip Murray of the CIO United Steelworkers passed a strong hint that a crippling steel strike isn't likely—even before 2,500 delegates opened the convention today which was called to answer the walkout question.

Mossadegh Rejects World Bank Plan Minus Full Control

Iran Will Operate Industry, Says Premier, if Any Proposal Is to Be Taken

Tehran, Iran, Jan. 3 (AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh rejected today any plan by the World Bank for at least temporary revival of Iran's idle oil industry unless his government has complete control over the industry's operations.

Mossadegh informed Robert L. Garner, vice president of the bank, that he could see no reason for two bank representatives here to visit the Abadan refinery unless the bank accepts the principle of complete Iranian authority.

Torkild Rieber, president of the Barber Oil Corporation of New York, and Hector Prudhomme, are in Tehran now awaiting transportation to Abadan. They came here as representatives of the World Bank.

Mossadegh made public a letter of Dec. 28 from Garner which contained a statement of the principles under which the bank would agree to operate the oil industry, which has become virtually idle following Iran's nationalization of her oil resources.

The premier also released the text of his reply, which rejected part of Garner's proposals and asked clarification of others.

Mossadegh turned down flatly a bank proposal for division of proceeds from sale of oil between Iran and the "biggest purchaser," with the remaining proceeds to be placed in custody of the World Bank.

Presumably the biggest purchaser would be the Anglo-Iran Oil Company, whose billion dollar holdings were taken over by the Iranian government.

To Enter Contests

Washington, Jan 3 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen announced today he will enter primary contests in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Minnesota in his bid for Republican presidential nomination. Stassen told a news conference he has decided to go into Ohio because he feels that Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, also a candidate for the GOP nomination, has challenged him in Pennsylvania and Minnesota. Stassen is a former governor of Minnesota. In order to become a candidate for the presidential nomination he took a leave of absence from the presidency of the University of Pennsylvania. Stassen said he is deferring a decision as to whether to enter presidential primary races in such other states as New Hampshire, Wisconsin and Nebraska.

Aex Takes Post

Newburgh, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—Robert P. Aex, city controller of Rochester, N. Y., becomes city manager of Newburgh today. He was appointed by the New York City Council yesterday as the result of a dispute over abandonment of the city's two per cent sales tax. Fred D. Bayne, dismissed yesterday as city manager, had opposed ending the tax, claiming that the city would not be run efficiently without it. The council voted to eliminate the tax. Aex' salary will be $10,000 a year, $1,500 more than Bayne received.

Russians Rap Plan - Pravda Quotes Japanese

Andrei Vishinsky Says American Proposal to Build Regional Forces Would Mean War via Sanctions—New 'Policy' Is Heralded, Russians Say of Japanese News Story

Paris, Jan. 3 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky declared today that the American-sponsored plan to build United Nations regional forces against aggression could only lead to war.

Vishinsky told the 60-nation U. N. Political Committee in a 37-page speech that the "program boils down to sanctions—in other words, war."

In an apparent attempt to scare off any small power support for the new collective measures proposals, Vishinsky warned that "the morning after the night before is going to be a painful one" for those nations taking part in the plan.

He praised the Swedish delegate, Allan Vought, for the latter's speech yesterday in which Vought expressed fear that a UN collective security program might call on the small nations to agree in advance to take part in a war between the great powers.

"That is the correct inference," Vishinsky declared.

The security plan, introduced by 11 nations, would call on regional groups such as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) to send their forces to any part of the globe where aggression threatens.

Vishinsky said UN collective measures were possible under the charter, but only with the agreement of all the great powers.

The new program was drawn up as a result of the lesson learned in Korea and is intended to give the UN assembly power to act against aggression whenever the Security Council is prevented from acting by the veto.

The program has been violently opposed by Russia since it was originally introduced last year.

Vishinsky today repeated the old Russian charge that the Korean war is not an example of UN collective action, but simply aggression against the Korean people by the United States and "its vassals."

Australia, Belgium and Britain, co-signers of the collective measures resolution, had asked yesterday's debate before the political committee that the measure be passed.

Moscow, Jan. 3 (AP)—Pravada today carried some commentary from Japan on Prime Minister Stalin's unprecedented New Year's greetings to the Japanese people.

The Communist party newspaper and Izvestia, the government organ both quoted a Japanese radio commentator as saying the message and other recent and coming events heralded a new policy of the Soviet Union toward Japan.

In his message to Japan, Stalin said he was breaking tradition in sending it and expressed Soviet sympathy "with the Japanese people who are trapped in a serious situation under foreign occupation."

The message was sent in response to a request from the non-Communist Japanese Kyodo News Agency to leaders of 17 governments for New Year statements for publication.

The Japanese radio commentator was identified by Pravada and Izvestia as Rinitsi Sasaki. They said he commented on the Stalin message in a New Year's Day broadcast in Japan.

(In Tokyo, Rinitsi Sasaki was identified as vice managaing editor and foreign editor of Sangyo Keizai, an economic daily with about a million circulation. He broadcasts commentary twice a week.

(Sasaki commented Jan. 1 on Stalin's message to Kyodo, which provides a news report for Sasaki's paper. A representative of the board of the Japanese Broadcasting Corp. said Sasaki is neither a Communist nor a Red sympathizer; he is more critical of Soviet policy than of western policy.)

The papers quoted Sasaki as citing these events prior to Stalin's message as evidence of a new era in Soviet-Japanese relations:

Invitation of Japanese government leaders including Premier Shigeru Yoshida to a Russian banquet in Japan Nov. 7.

Talks by members of the Soviet mission in Tokyo on Japanese-Soviet trade with Parliament members in November.

Invitation of 10 Japanese economic leaders to an economic conference in Moscow next April.

Award of a Stalin peace prize to a Japanese Parliament member, Prof. Ikyo Kyoyama, a non-Communist.

They claimed the "sympathetic interest" of Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks and Chairman Walter J. Mahoney of the Senate Financing Committee.

Wicks and Mahoney indicated today that they would go along with Dewey's stand that the state's fiscal situation precluded a tax cut for 1952-53.

The Senate tax cutters had indicated earlier that they would not press for a reduction unless they had the support of either Wicks or Mahoney.

Lower Than 10 Years Ago

Dewey told newsmen the state's existing tax rates generally were lower that those in effect 10 years ago.

Holding of the present tax line would mean continuation of the 10 per cent abatement in the personal income tax, collected at 90 per cent of the basic statutory rate.

Dewey indicated that the state surplus for the 1951-52 fiscal year, which ends March 31, would be between 15 and 20 million dollars. Previously it had been speculated that it would be between 40 and 50 million.

Dewey said mandated increases in state aid to localities in the 1952-53 budget would exceed the 1951-52 surplus by 10 to 15 mil-

Reds Reject UN Plan as Slave Barter, Libby Says Foe Either Misunderstands Or Is Trying to Obscure Issues Purposely

Russia Is For Council Truce Talk

Paris, Jan. 3 (AP)—Soviet Russia, in a surprise move, proposed today that the United Nations Security Council intervene in the Korean Armistice negotiations. It asked that both Korea and the lessening of world tensions be considered at a high level, possibly by foreign ministers or chiefs of state.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky submitted the proposal to the 60-nation political committee after a long speech denouncing a western collective action plan, and hinting ominously at events to come in southeast Asia.

The American delegation immediately frowned on the Vishinsky proposal. Pending official comment, U. S. sources said the Soviet resolution was inacceptable.

Idea Once Rejected

The American informants pointed out that the U. S. favors continuation of collective measures as an important factor in the UN efforts for peace. They said the call for a Security Council meeting has been made before without response from the Russians, who would not recognize Nationalist China as a member of the council.

The Americans said that since the Soviets have veto power in the council, it would be useless to bring the Korean armistice negotiations to that body, adding that the place for successful conclusion of such talks is in Korea, with the veto-free General Assembly deciding later on a political settlement.

Vishinsky proposed that the council be called under Article 28 of the UN Charter which authorizes governments to send chiefs of state or foreign ministers as delegates to such council meetings. This made the proposal look like another version of the U.S.S.R. demand—keynote of its current peace offensive—for a five-power meeting, including Red China, to bring about a pact of peace.

Offered as Counter

The Soviet suggestion was offered to counter the 11-power draft calling upon the UN to set up new anti-aggression machinery. It was made after Vishinsky delivered a 37-page speech denouncing the western draft as one that could lead only to war. He said the American-sponsored proposal "boils down to sanctions—in other words, war."

In that speech, Vishinsky hinted at things to come in Asia. He accused the U. S. of ferrying Chinese Nationalist troops into Viet Nam, Burma and Thailand for an attack on the Chinese Reds. These measures, he said, would be described as "defensive" when "military operations begin against southern China."

This called to mind the beginning of the Korean war, when the Communists charged that the U. S. was the aggressor, and the Chinese intervention in Korea, when a similar charge was made.

Vishinsky touched only briefly on the point, without elaborating on his meaning.

Grant Is Made to Permit Construction of Units for 98 Families

State Housing Commissioner Herman T. Stichman today in New York announced that the state would increase by $118,500 the $1,181,500 it had contracted to lend the Kingston Housing Authority so that its Colonial Gardens public housing project, for 98 low income families can be put under construction without delay. In addition, he notified Arthur A. Davis, Jr., chairman of the authority, that maximum subsidies which the state will pay for 50 years to help keep rents below $9 per room monthly including light, heat and cooking fuel will be increased to $45,500 annually, an increase of about $4,150 per year.

Contracts have been awarded by the local Housing Authority to the following low bidders with the approval of Commissioner Stichman: foundations and general construction, Stewart M. Muller, Inc., Croton-on-Hudson, $737,500; heating, John R. Philip, Inc., Scarsdale, $79,950; electric, John D. Krusher, Sr., Kingston, $43,380; plumbing, L. Michel Plumbing & Heating Corp., New York city, $94,000. Construction is expected to start in January.

His Plan to Confer in Washington Taken as Tipoff

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 3 (AP)—President Truman again appealed to the CIO Steelworkers today to cancel their threat of an industry-wide steel strike.

Mr. Truman, in a message to the opening session of a specially-summoned union convention, applauded the union's decision to postpone a scheduled New Year's Day walkout and asked for a permanent postponement.

The convention was called to act on the matter. President Philip Murray of the CIO and the Steelworkers Union was prepared to recommend the further strike delay asked by the administration.

It was considered probable the union may set a new strike deadline, possibly mid-February. That would give the government's Wage Stabilization Board time to hear and make recommendations on the union's 18½ cent average hourly pay boost demand.

Hint Is Dropped

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 3 (AP)—President Philip Murray of the CIO United Steelworkers passed a strong hint that a crippling steel strike isn't likely—even before 2,500 delegates opened the convention today which was called to answer the walkout question.

A smiling, joking Murray told

Mossadegh Rejects World Bank Plan Minus Full Control

Iran Will Operate Industry, Says Premier, if Any Proposal Is to Be Taken

Tehran, Iran, Jan. 3 (AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh rejected today any plan by the World Bank for at least temporary revival of Iran's idle oil industry unless his government has complete control over the industry's operations.

Mossadegh informed Robert L. Garner, vice president of the bank, that he could see no reason for two bank representatives here to visit the Abadan refinery unless the bank accepts the principle of complete Iranian authority.

Torkild Rieber, president of the Barber Oil Corporation of New York, and Hector Prudhomme, are in Tehran now awaiting transportation to Abadan. They came here as representatives of the World Bank.

Mossadegh made public a letter of Dec. 28 from Garner which contained a statement of the principles under which the bank would agree to operate the oil industry, which has become virtually idle following Iran's nationalization of her oil resources.

The premier also released the text of his reply, which rejected part of Garner's proposals and asked clarification of others.

Mossadegh turned down flatly a bank proposal for division of proceeds from sale of oil between Iran and the "biggest purchaser," with the remaining proceeds to be placed in custody of the World Bank.

Presumably the biggest purchaser would be the Anglo-Iran Oil Company, whose billion dollar holdings were taken over by the Iranian government.

To Enter Contests

Washington, Jan 3 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen announced today he will enter primary contests in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Minnesota in his bid for Republican presidential nomination. Stassen told a news conference he has decided to go into Ohio because he feels that Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, also a candidate for the GOP nomination, has challenged him in Pennsylvania and Minnesota. Stassen is a former governor of Minnesota. In order to become a candidate for the presidential nomination he took a leave of absence from the presidency of the University of Pennsylvania. Stassen said he is deferring a decision as to whether to enter presidential primary races in such other states as New Hampshire, Wisconsin and Nebraska.

Aex Takes Post

Newburgh, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—Robert P. Aex, city controller of Rochester, N. Y., becomes city manager of Newburgh today. He was appointed by the New York City Council yesterday as the result of a dispute over abandonment of the city's two per cent sales tax. Fred D. Bayne, dismissed yesterday as city manager, had opposed ending the tax, claiming that the city would not be run efficiently without it. The council voted to eliminate the tax. Aex' salary will be $10,000 a year, $1,500 more than Bayne received.

Communist Rejection Is Refused — Group Deadlocked Over Red Airfield Stand

Radio Blasts Off

Peiping Calls UN Idea Brutal and Shameless One

Munsan, Korea, Jan. 3 (AP)—The Communists today turned down an allied plan for exchanging war prisoners and civilians as "no more than a barter of slaves."

But a UN negotiator said he "rejected the categorical rejection of the Reds."

North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho said he wanted no part of the allied plan because it was "simply and solely on a one-for-one exchange." The Reds want an all-for-all trade.

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby said that was the end result of the allied plan.

He refused to accept the Red rejection because they "either misunderstood our proposal or they are deliberately misinterpreting it in order to deliberately obscure the issues."

Might Be Waiting

Libby indicated Lee might be waiting for new instructions.

He reiterated that the UN plans to return every prisoner of war who wants ot be repatriated. He said the one-for-one exchange called for in the first two points of the allied plan would control merely the rate of exchange—not the number of war prisoners and civilians ultimately traded.

Another subcommittee, dealing with truce supervision, remained deadlocked Thursday over Communist insistence on the right to build and repair military airfields during an armistice.

Both subcommittees will return to Panmunjom at 11 a. m. Friday (9 p. m. EST Thursday).

Under the allies' plan offered Wednesday, prisoners of war would be exchanged on a man-for-man basis until all prisoners held by one side are turned back. Then the side still holding prisoners would trade them for civilians. When all prisoners were traded there would be a mass exchange of remaining civilians.

However, the allies specified no one would be handed over against his will. The Red Cross would interview each one to make sure he wanted to be repatriated.

Should Be Reclassified

While the allies hold far more prisoners than the Reds, Libby said thousands of South Koreans serving in the Communist armies should be reclassified as war prisoners and exchanged.

Lee said Thursday no South Koreans have been impressed by the North Koreans. He said South Koreans in the Red army are "reawakened Korean patriots."

Lee spent an hour and 40 minutes blasting the allied plan. He called it "no more than a barter of slaves" and "an attempt to detain an overwhelming proportion of the prisoners of war" in allied hands.

Chinese Col. Tsai Chang Wen said the Reds insist all prisoners of war be released and displaced persons be assisted back to their homes. He said the UN was "not going to be able to capture anybody at the conference table."

Earlier Thursday Red China's Peiping radio called the plan a "brutal and shameless" proposition.

The broadcast said the allies first agreed to an all-for-all exchange but then "refused to repatriate all prisoners of war and, in substance, proposed an exchange on a one-for-one basis."

Predict Cool Reception

London, Jan. 3 (AP)—Some British newspapers are picturing Washington as preparing a cool reception for Prime Minister Winston Churchill for fear he will go home with America's shirt. The independent London Times and the independent Liberal Manchester Guardian both report from the United States the proposal of Senator William Langer (R.-N. D.), that two warning lanterns be hung in the belfry of the old North Church, Boston, to herald Churchill's arrival.

54 Inductees Report

A total of 54 county men reported to Albany today for pre-induction physical examinations. Local Board No. 18 (city) sent 37 of the men, and Local Board No. 19 (county) sent 17. Under January induction schedules, the city board is slated to send eight men and the county board will send 12 men for induction on Jan. 7.

Russians Rap Plan - Pravda Quotes Japanese

Andrei Vishinsky Says American Proposal to Build Regional Forces Would Mean War via Sanctions—New 'Policy' Is Heralded, Russians Say of Japanese News Story

Paris, Jan. 3 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky declared today that the American-sponsored plan to build United Nations regional forces against aggression could only lead to war.

Vishinsky told the 60-nation U. N. Political Committee in a 37-page speech that the "program boils down to sanctions—in other words, war."

In an apparent attempt to scare off any small power support for the new collective measures proposals, Vishinsky warned that "the morning after the night before is going to be a painful one" for those nations taking part in the plan.

He praised the Swedish delegate, Allan Vought, for the latter's speech yesterday in which Vought expressed fear that a UN collective security program might call on the small nations to agree in advance to take part in a war between the great powers.

"That is the correct inference," Vishinsky declared.

The security plan, introduced by 11 nations, would call on regional groups such as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) to send their forces to any part of the globe where aggression threatens.

Vishinsky said UN collective measures were possible under the charter, but only with the agreement of all the great powers.

The new program was drawn up as a result of the lesson learned in Korea and is intended to give the UN assembly power to act against aggression whenever the Security Council is prevented from acting by the veto.

The program has been violently opposed by Russia since it was originally introduced last year.

Vishinsky today repeated the old Russian charge that the Korean war is not an example of UN collective action, but simply aggression against the Korean people by the United States and "its vassals."

Australia, Belgium and Britain, co-signers of the collective measures resolution, had asked yesterday's debate before the political committee that the measure be passed.

Moscow, Jan. 3 (AP)—Pravada today carried some commentary from Japan on Prime Minister Stalin's unprecedented New Year's greetings to the Japanese people.

The Communist party newspaper and Izvestia, the government organ both quoted a Japanese radio commentator as saying the message and other recent and coming events heralded a new policy of the Soviet Union toward Japan.

In his message to Japan, Stalin said he was breaking tradition in sending it and expressed Soviet sympathy "with the Japanese people who are trapped in a serious situation under foreign occupation."

The message was sent in response to a request from the non-Communist Japanese Kyodo News Agency to leaders of 17 governments for New Year statements for publication.

The Japanese radio commentator was identified by Pravada and Izvestia as Rinitsi Sasaki. They said he commented on the Stalin message in a New Year's Day broadcast in Japan.

(In Tokyo, Rinitsi Sasaki was identified as vice managaing editor and foreign editor of Sangyo Keizai, an economic daily with about a million circulation. He broadcasts commentary twice a week.

(Sasaki commented Jan. 1 on Stalin's message to Kyodo, which provides a news report for Sasaki's paper. A representative of the board of the Japanese Broadcasting Corp. said Sasaki is neither a Communist nor a Red sympathizer; he is more critical of Soviet policy than of western policy.)

The papers quoted Sasaki as citing these events prior to Stalin's message as evidence of a new era in Soviet-Japanese relations:

Invitation of Japanese government leaders including Premier Shigeru Yoshida to a Russian banquet in Japan Nov. 7.

Talks by members of the Soviet mission in Tokyo on Japanese-Soviet trade with Parliament members in November.

Invitation of 10 Japanese economic leaders to an economic conference in Moscow next April.

Award of a Stalin peace prize to a Japanese Parliament member, Prof. Ikyo Kyoyama, a non-Communist.

Millions of Americans have no economic philosophy whatever. Their daily living follows a catch-as-catch-can pattern. This partially accounts for the tremendous growth of social security plans and for the extension of local and state relief and unemployment programs.

There is no adequate substitute for individual thrift and saving. When this breaks down or is neglected, it takes its toll in hundreds of different ways. Economic destitution often takes its rise in most favorable circumstances where, were a small measure of thrift and saving present, storehouses of plenty would have warded off sad days.

Every year thousands of people, reaching the ages of 65, 70, 75, have nothing. Far, far too often improvidence has brought on impoverishment and destitution. The reason is easily explained: no thrift and savings plans have ever been established.

At age 25, 30 and 35, forty years seem an interminable period. And so the years fly by and no sound economic philosophy is set up in life. Yet, at an early age is the best time to do this.

Inflationary conditions help to discourage thrift and saving. A dollar goes a short way in 1952. Hence, it is easy to let a lot of money slip through one's fingers. Young fellows in the 25-40 age range, robust in health, holding good jobs that pay well and rapidly climbing the success ladder, snap their fingers when reminded occasionally they will be old men sometime.

The dynamic character of America's economy gives employment to millions of men and women who are not plodders. During my years of teaching at New York University and Columbia University, I met hundreds of them. They became salesmen, artists, free-lancers, executives, writers and such like. Their yearly incomes ran the gamut of uncertainty. A commission salesman for example, may make $5,000 in 1951 and $25,000 in 1952.

These are the very people who most easily avoid setting up a sound economic philosophy. Yet they are the ones who need a thrift and saving plan most. Every job that has any prince and pauper characteristics—big income one year, small income the next—should be somewhat anchored by these economic virtues.

Every person, of necessity, has a standard of living. And one of the components of that standard should be saving. How much should be set aside? Well, a minimum goal is 10 per cent. Anyone making $5,000 a year should put aside $500 to be invested as will best serve his purpose.

There should be no mystery about what form savings should take. A provident life begins by opening a savings account in a good bank. Regular and systematic deposits should follow. A growing account helps to stabilize one's economic life. Most people should keep $1,000 in savings banks. That is the first anchor.

The second anchor is insurance. There are thousands upon thousands of Americans who will never have a $25,000, $50,000, $100,000 estate unless and until they have insurance contracts written for these amounts which will be paid for out of monies now carelessly being spent. The squandering for creature comforts and for unhealthy habits runs into billions of dollars yearly.

In every community in the country there are those who should not wait for an insurance salesman to call. They should call to see the salesman! Who ever heard of that? You young junior executive who blew in $2,000 in 1951—take my advice, in 1952 blow in only $1,000 and with the savings take home unexpectedly some night to your wife a life insurance policy for $50,000! Sometime when you are 50 or 60, you will be thankful that you did.

The third anchor is sound investment equities. When should these be bought? When savings accounts have been established and insurance programs set up. In previous articles, I have detailed some of the principles that should be followed in making proper selections.

The fourth anchor comprises the capital appreciation field. This is the risk field. Myriads enter it who shouldn't. Why not? Because they have not the first three anchors down.

It is ridiculous for a man who carries $1,000 or $2,000 of insurance to carry a long line (often on margin) of speculative stocks. It is preposterous for anyone to buy risk-laden securities even for cash who hasn't values that can be turned into cash at 100 cents on the dollar.

The year 1929 taught many people nothing. Millions of persons had no economic philosophy then. History is repeating itself. Let 1952 be a different year.

Canadian Woman Gets Middletown Health Job

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—A Canadian woman will serve as assistant health officer in the Middletown district office of the State Health Department.

Dr. Thelma S. Miner of Saskatchewan is the first Canadian appointed by the department to a permanent civil service position under terms of a 1951 law that authorizes the naming of non-citizens where continuing vacancies exist.

In announcing Dr. Miner's appointment yesterday, the department emphasized that U. S. citizens residing in New York state still had top priority on vacancies, and that citizens in other states came next. Foreigners are chosen only when it appears unlikely that Americans can fill the vacancies.

Dr. Miner is a graduate of the University of Alberta and the University of Toronto. She has worked as medical officer for the province of Saskatchewan.

Her new job pays an annual salary ranging from $6,991 to $7,804.

Teddy Makes It Safely

Tokyo, Jan. 3 (AP)—Teddy, the para-pooch, almost made his last jump today. The little dog leaped from a big transport plane with paratroopers practing jumps over southern Japan. But as Teddy's chute snapped open a strap broke, leaving him suspended by his hind legs, the veteran para-pooch apparently knew enough not to struggle. He landed safely, but soldiers said he'd have slipped from the harness if he'd started wriggling.

Millions of Americans have no economic philosophy whatever. Their daily living follows a catch-as-catch-can pattern. This partially accounts for the tremendous growth of social security plans and for the extension of local and state relief and unemployment programs.

There is no adequate substitute for individual thrift and saving. When this breaks down or is neglected, it takes its toll in hundreds of different ways. Economic destitution often takes its rise in most favorable circumstances where, were a small measure of thrift and saving present, storehouses of plenty would have warded off sad days.

Every year thousands of people, reaching the ages of 65, 70, 75, have nothing. Far, far too often improvidence has brought on impoverishment and destitution. The reason is easily explained: no thrift and savings plans have ever been established.

At age 25, 30 and 35, forty years seem an interminable period. And so the years fly by and no sound economic philosophy is set up in life. Yet, at an early age is the best time to do this.

Inflationary conditions help to discourage thrift and saving. A dollar goes a short way in 1952. Hence, it is easy to let a lot of money slip through one's fingers. Young fellows in the 25-40 age range, robust in health, holding good jobs that pay well and rapidly climbing the success ladder, snap their fingers when reminded occasionally they will be old men sometime.

The dynamic character of America's economy gives employment to millions of men and women who are not plodders. During my years of teaching at New York University and Columbia University, I met hundreds of them. They became salesmen, artists, free-lancers, executives, writers and such like. Their yearly incomes ran the gamut of uncertainty. A commission salesman for example, may make $5,000 in 1951 and $25,000 in 1952.

These are the very people who most easily avoid setting up a sound economic philosophy. Yet they are the ones who need a thrift and saving plan most. Every job that has any prince and pauper characteristics—big income one year, small income the next—should be somewhat anchored by these economic virtues.

Every person, of necessity, has a standard of living. And one of the components of that standard should be saving. How much should be set aside? Well, a minimum goal is 10 per cent. Anyone making $5,000 a year should put aside $500 to be invested as will best serve his purpose.

There should be no mystery about what form savings should take. A provident life begins by opening a savings account in a good bank. Regular and systematic deposits should follow. A growing account helps to stabilize one's economic life. Most people should keep $1,000 in savings banks. That is the first anchor.

The second anchor is insurance. There are thousands upon thousands of Americans who will never have a $25,000, $50,000, $100,000 estate unless and until they have insurance contracts written for these amounts which will be paid for out of monies now carelessly being spent. The squandering for creature comforts and for unhealthy habits runs into billions of dollars yearly.

In every community in the country there are those who should not wait for an insurance salesman to call. They should call to see the salesman! Who ever heard of that? You young junior executive who blew in $2,000 in 1951—take my advice, in 1952 blow in only $1,000 and with the savings take home unexpectedly some night to your wife a life insurance policy for $50,000! Sometime when you are 50 or 60, you will be thankful that you did.

The third anchor is sound investment equities. When should these be bought? When savings accounts have been established and insurance programs set up. In previous articles, I have detailed some of the principles that should be followed in making proper selections.

The fourth anchor comprises the capital appreciation field. This is the risk field. Myriads enter it who shouldn't. Why not? Because they have not the first three anchors down.

It is ridiculous for a man who carries $1,000 or $2,000 of insurance to carry a long line (often on margin) of speculative stocks. It is preposterous for anyone to buy risk-laden securities even for cash who hasn't values that can be turned into cash at 100 cents on the dollar.

The year 1929 taught many people nothing. Millions of persons had no economic philosophy then. History is repeating itself. Let 1952 be a different year.

Canadian Woman Gets Middletown Health Job

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—A Canadian woman will serve as assistant health officer in the Middletown district office of the State Health Department.

Dr. Thelma S. Miner of Saskatchewan is the first Canadian appointed by the department to a permanent civil service position under terms of a 1951 law that authorizes the naming of non-citizens where continuing vacancies exist.

In announcing Dr. Miner's appointment yesterday, the department emphasized that U. S. citizens residing in New York state still had top priority on vacancies, and that citizens in other states came next. Foreigners are chosen only when it appears unlikely that Americans can fill the vacancies.

Dr. Miner is a graduate of the University of Alberta and the University of Toronto. She has worked as medical officer for the province of Saskatchewan.

Her new job pays an annual salary ranging from $6,991 to $7,804.

Teddy Makes It Safely

Tokyo, Jan. 3 (AP)—Teddy, the para-pooch, almost made his last jump today. The little dog leaped from a big transport plane with paratroopers practing jumps over southern Japan. But as Teddy's chute snapped open a strap broke, leaving him suspended by his hind legs, the veteran para-pooch apparently knew enough not to struggle. He landed safely, but soldiers said he'd have slipped from the harness if he'd started wriggling.

Says Low Standards To Hurt Police Work

Kingston, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—An official of the New York State Police Conference contends that the lowering of physical requirements is "a wrong approach" to the problem of filling state trooper ranks.

Peter Keresman, executive secretary, said in a statement yesterday that "lowering the height, weight or waistline measurements or extending the age limit just to put a man into a state trooper's uniform isn't going to maintain good police service."

Keresman said that the lowering of standards was "a wrong approach to a serious situation which the Legislature must squarely face."

Governor Dewey has said he will ask the 1952 Legislature to relax present "stiff" physical requirements with a view to boosting the state force of 700 men to its authorized strength of 900.

Dewey also has announced he will propose an increase in troopers' starting pay, which now is $1,680. The governor reportedly will recommend a $2,000 minimum.

Keresman said that pay increases and improvements in working conditions would "prevent the extravagance of constantly adding new men to fill vacancies."

The conference claims a membership of 40,000 members in 191 municipalities.

Would Boost Heroes' Pay

Washington, Jan. 3 (AP)—Rep. O'Toole (D-N.Y.) said today he will introduce legislation to pay holders of the Congressional Medal of Honor $100 monthly for life. O'Toole told a reporter that the $8 a month that medal holders now receive is "ridiculously inadequate."

Laidlaw Speaks On New School At Rotary Club

The new George Washington School, which will be ready for occupancy in a few weeks, is not a complete solution to the local school problem but a step toward consummation of the long-range school building program, which was inaugurated several years ago, Superintendent of Schools Arthur J. Laidlaw declared at the luncheon-meeting of the Rotary Club held Wednesday at the Hotel Stuyvesant.

The new school, which cost $1,400,000, has 40 rooms and up-to-date facilities for a community center for which it was designed, the local educator said.

In addition to this new school, which is nearing completion, the school building program, the superintendent stated, calls for a new school in Hasbrouck Park on Delaware avenue, a new school in the Loughran Park area and a junior high school.

He prefaced his description of the George Washington School with an enlightening account of the increasing birth rate and its effect on school systems throughout the country. Statistics quoted by the speaker showed that in New York state and also in the other states of the nation there is a tremendous task ahead in providing education for the youth.

The appalling degree of illiteracy in certain sections of the country, the vast number of young children who are not receiving any education at all and the scarcity of teachers to meet the present demands and the prospects for the future also were brought out in the statistical record.

Laidlaw traced the increased birth rate in Kingston over the past ten-year period, 1940 to 1950, and pointed to its effect on public school costs. Today there are 40 per cent more children in attendance in Kingston schools than there were 10 years ago.

In the brief time alloted, the speaker mentioned a number of outstanding features in the new school which include three rooms in the basement all modernly equipped for kindergarten classes. In the local public schools today there are some 460 young children attending kindergarten. This department was but recently opened by the local public school system.

There also is a janitor's apartment. It was felt by the education board members, he said, that this very valuable school property should have this added protection.

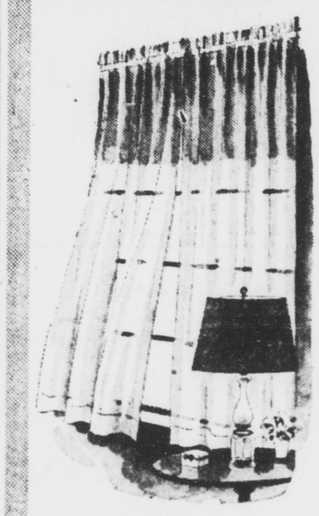

The spacious auditorium with its first-rate stage and facilities would be in great demand by the community, he asserted.

The cafeteria will accommodate 250 children.

The large gymnasium, the rooms for special classes, homemaking, visual education, the library and the equipment throughout the building also were described by the superintendent.

Says Low Standards To Hurt Police Work

Kingston, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—An official of the New York State Police Conference contends that the lowering of physical requirements is "a wrong approach" to the problem of filling state trooper ranks.

Peter Keresman, executive secretary, said in a statement yesterday that "lowering the height, weight or waistline measurements or extending the age limit just to put a man into a state trooper's uniform isn't going to maintain good police service."

Keresman said that the lowering of standards was "a wrong approach to a serious situation which the Legislature must squarely face."

Governor Dewey has said he will ask the 1952 Legislature to relax present "stiff" physical requirements with a view to boosting the state force of 700 men to its authorized strength of 900.

Dewey also has announced he will propose an increase in troopers' starting pay, which now is $1,680. The governor reportedly will recommend a $2,000 minimum.

Keresman said that pay increases and improvements in working conditions would "prevent the extravagance of constantly adding new men to fill vacancies."

The conference claims a membership of 40,000 members in 191 municipalities.

Would Boost Heroes' Pay

Washington, Jan. 3 (AP)—Rep. O'Toole (D-N.Y.) said today he will introduce legislation to pay holders of the Congressional Medal of Honor $100 monthly for life. O'Toole told a reporter that the $8 a month that medal holders now receive is "ridiculously inadequate."

Laidlaw Speaks On New School At Rotary Club

The new George Washington School, which will be ready for occupancy in a few weeks, is not a complete solution to the local school problem but a step toward consummation of the long-range school building program, which was inaugurated several years ago, Superintendent of Schools Arthur J. Laidlaw declared at the luncheon-meeting of the Rotary Club held Wednesday at the Hotel Stuyvesant.

The new school, which cost $1,400,000, has 40 rooms and up-to-date facilities for a community center for which it was designed, the local educator said.

In addition to this new school, which is nearing completion, the school building program, the superintendent stated, calls for a new school in Hasbrouck Park on Delaware avenue, a new school in the Loughran Park area and a junior high school.

He prefaced his description of the George Washington School with an enlightening account of the increasing birth rate and its effect on school systems throughout the country. Statistics quoted by the speaker showed that in New York state and also in the other states of the nation there is a tremendous task ahead in providing education for the youth.

The appalling degree of illiteracy in certain sections of the country, the vast number of young children who are not receiving any education at all and the scarcity of teachers to meet the present demands and the prospects for the future also were brought out in the statistical record.

Laidlaw traced the increased birth rate in Kingston over the past ten-year period, 1940 to 1950, and pointed to its effect on public school costs. Today there are 40 per cent more children in attendance in Kingston schools than there were 10 years ago.

In the brief time alloted, the speaker mentioned a number of outstanding features in the new school which include three rooms in the basement all modernly equipped for kindergarten classes. In the local public schools today there are some 460 young children attending kindergarten. This department was but recently opened by the local public school system.

There also is a janitor's apartment. It was felt by the education board members, he said, that this very valuable school property should have this added protection.

The spacious auditorium with its first-rate stage and facilities would be in great demand by the community, he asserted.

The cafeteria will accommodate 250 children.

The large gymnasium, the rooms for special classes, homemaking, visual education, the library and the equipment throughout the building also were described by the superintendent.

CENTRAL STRIKING FORCE

When we embarked on our present defense program, we knew we were taking on one of the toughest assignments in American history.

Never before had the people been asked to support in peacetime such colossal military preparations both for themselves and their friends abroad.

It can't really be held a surprise that the task is going slowly. Here there is no disposition to ask for more than the mildest curtailment of civilian life. In Europe, the politicians, remembering the nearness of other wars, can't bring themselves to demand heavy sacrifices from their peoples so soon again.

People don't work to a pitch easily in peace. If they get there, they won't stay long. The disheartening stream of reports from Europe in recent weeks is indication how tough it is to get action when the peril is not great and immediate. The West is talking a good defense, but not doing much.

Isn't it time to take a serious view of this dilemma? Does it mean that we aren't going to get a really adequate defense unless war is at hand?

Obviously this is a risk we can't afford. Selfish American interest, if nothing more, demands that we take genuinely effective measures to protect the Atlantic community of nations.

But what other course is open to us? John Foster Dulles suggested one not long ago. He proposed we stop trying to build a defense force of such size that each and every free land within our orbit may feel independently secure.

He suggested that instead we create what he termed "community punishing power," a large central striking force to be held at convenient places for dispatch to any and every spot where aggression might threaten.

Dulles is convinced this mobile power would pack so much weight in Soviet calculations that it would be as great a deterrent as a border bristling with armor.

And, theoretically at least, this should be more economical than to try to put each country into condition to repel the invader itself, just as it is cheaper to maintain a central police force than to post guards at every shop and store in the city.

Beyond all doubt we must find a way out of this period of backing filling. We've got to make up our minds what kind of defense we need to be safe and what kind of defense program people will actually support in peacetime.

If these are not the same thing, then some sort of workable compromise is imperative to assure us minimum security.

The Dulles proposal has undeniable appeal in this situation. And it might have a lot of impact in Congress, where in 1952, there is sure to be, more than ever, a questioning attitude toward the continuance of high military and economic aid to our Allies in the absence of clearly tangible results.

If the supporters of the present program think, however, that they have the best idea, then they should realize that they do not have much time left in which to prove it.

Some people try to go through life as though they were rowing a boat, thinking to move forward while looking backward.

BALANCE OF SPENDING

The Christmas season of 1951 was as good as any ever experienced by most American stores, but on the other side of the Atlantic merchants in London were saying that their Christmas business was the worst within their memory. Some blamed high prices and others blamed lack of money in the hands of the public, probably two ways of saying the same thing. At any rate, Londoners weren't buying many Christmas gifts, and the merchants felt in keenly.

Such a sharp contrast in Christmas buying is merely one manifestation of the great difference in economic conditions between America and most of the nations of Europe. Perhaps the depth of difference can be realized more clearly in terms of Christmas, since it is a season so dear to the hearts of people on both sides of the ocean. This economic contrast is one of the great problems of these times; a problem which must be solved sooner or later.

'These Days'

"BLESSED MOTHER GOOSE"

There were three of us in college who played together all through our years there. One, Tom Black, who hailed from Indiana, wandered off to France and North Africa; I went to Russia and China; Frank Scully went through hell.

And this is the story of Frank Scully and his wonderful trials and tribulations, his operations, 20 or more of them, his intense sufferings, his boundless good cheer and fervent faith and the wild course of his social consciousness which drove him to queer public activities.

His physical pain Frank Scully recorded in his various "Fun in Bed" books, which many bought with indecent yearning only to discover that they were devised to cheer the shut-in in the long hours of enforced boredom in the sick-bed.

During the most trying years of his life, when his leg finally had to go and the crutch became his companion, Scully was the European correspondent for "Variety." At one time, I believe it was in Nice, he employed the anarchist, Alexander Berkman, as his leg man, Frank not being able to use his own.

Nobody and nothing could lick Scully, not even his own boisterous ignorance of the practicalities of life. In 1930, he married Alice, a divine Swedish girl who nursed him through several of his major hells, and they have five children, most of whom, unfortunately, take after the father, may the Lord save them.

Now, there are many people who do not understand this amazing person, but I know him because I knew his mother. And I saw the beginning of his tubercular leg and we have been friends all these years. And so I knew that no medicine and no surgery could keep this man alive; yet life remained with him by sheer will, supported by an unerring faith in God.

And I often wondered why he never, in all the books he wrote, said something about that. This year, as a Christmas gift, came his beautiful book, "Blessed Mother Goose," published by a housewarven in Hollywood.

It seems that as Frank Scully's progeny came into the world, it was necessary for Frank to tell them nursery rhymes at night before they fell asleep and undoubtedly after they already knew their prayers. But he did not like the rhymes he found. They were just words, and some of the words were either meaningless or bad. And Frank decided to clean them up, to give them point and meaning, even beauty.

As you may imagine by his name, Frank Scully is Irish and I fear rigidly so. Frank's nursery rhymes are what he is, and so his children will be. For instance, see what he does to "Mary's Lamb":

"Mary had a little lamb
Its fleece was white as snow,
And everywhere that Mary went,
The lamb was sure to go.
"When she grew up she had a son,
Who died that we might live,
And through the ages she's the one
Who asks Him to forgive.
"For now wherever Mary goes,
Wherever people trod
Her son has now become our Lord,
The gentle Lamb of God."

Even those who are of other faiths must recognize the beauty of this rhyme, or to cite another, "The Shoe Woman":

"There was an old woman who lived in a shoe.
She had many children because she wanted to.
She taught them their grace and fed them some bread,
And gave them a kiss and blessed them in bed."

To bring a lesson home and make it all modern and understandable, this is what he does to "Tom, Tom the Piper's Son":

"Tom, Tom the Piper's son,
Stole a pig and away he run;
The pig was sought and Tom was caught,
And so his stealing went to naught.
"They sent him to the Boys Town farm
To keep him out of further harm,
And in that air so holy there,
His pigs won prizes at the fair."

I shall give you no more, lest you get it all for nothing, providing Scully with fame but no provender. Therefore, if you want more, you will have to get the book, which should be published less expensively so that more can afford to buy it.

There are so many ways by which human beings can fulfill themselves, and each in his way can add something to strengthen the Jacob's Ladder between earth and heaven. In "Blessed Mother Goose," Frank Scully has added a rung to that ladder, a blessed rung, as it is, for children entering upon their dreams.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

EXERCISE STRENGTHENS THE BLOOD

I write often about the "Friendly Force" behind mankind and of how Nature is always ahead of man's needs in supplying him with extra blood, extra blood pressure, extra white corpuscles to fight off invading organisms and increased amount of adrenal juice to strengthen him in an emergency.

I have also pointed out that Nature meant that man should use the hundreds of muscles in and on his body to keep him strong physically, give him an appetite, help his digestion, regulate his bowels, enrich his blood and maintain blood pressure. By simple physical work or exercise, man obtains all these helpful services. And should man engage in regular physical training or exercise, if only five to 15 minutes daily, he becomes faster in his movements. This applies to all forms of games or athletics, and a fraction of a second may make the difference between a win and a loss.

An interesting experiment showing the value of work or exercise to man's physical make-up is recorded by Dr. B. Gabraoui, Cairo, in the Journal of the Royal Egyptian Medical Association.

One of the juices very valuable to man's strength and speed of action is histamine as manufactured by the adrenal glands, situated one above each kidney. It is this juice or extract that enables man to do his best if he has to fight or flee in an emergency.

Dr. Gabraoui made observations on healthy volunteers to learn if work, exercise (muscular movement), affected the adrenal glands. The resting blood pressure was measured and 10 cc of blood drawn from the vein just above the elbow joint. This blood acted as a control, showing the amount of histamine in the blood before exercise. The circulation of the blood in the arm was obstructed by raising the pressure to 200 to 220 mg. mercury and the volunteer performed 15 to 20 vigorous contractions of the hand by pressing on a resistance ball. The pressure of the armlet (of the blood pressure machine) was released to just above the resting systolic pressure and a 10 cc. sample of blood drawn quickly by a wide-bored needle (15 seconds). Both blood samples were centrifuged and the amount of histamine present estimated.

In all experiments it was found that muscular contraction (work, exercise) in man is accompanied by a flow of histamine into the blood. The blood plasma collected after contraction of muscles contained three to four times more histamine than the control plasma sample.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — President Truman's relations with reporters at the White House are at an all-time low.

The boys in the White House press room, usually among his stanchest friends, resent the frequent cracks the President has been making about the press generally. And they don't appreciate the bawling out they get when asking simple questions at the White House news conferences.

It didn't get into the papers, but Mr. Truman, who returned from Key West tired and crochety, almost took two more digs at the reporters recently. First, he wanted to lecture them for not emphasizing that the list of war prisoners put out by the Chinese Communists was unverified and thus probably inaccurate—something, incidentally, that all reporters already had stressed.

He also wanted to bawl them out for leaking the story that Judge Tom Murphy of New York had turned down the job of chief graft investigator. However, the President's press officers, led by able Joe Short, convinced Mr. Truman to forget about it.

Inside Hungary

Final decision to pay the ransom of the four U. S. fliers in Hungary was made only after significant back-stage debate which goes to the very root of American policy toward Russian satellites.

Inside fact is that the Defense Department, not the State Department, made the decision to put up the ransom money—for two reasons:

1. The Four Air Force men were official representatives of the United States and specifically of the Defense Department.

2. The joint chiefs of staff shied away from any threat of retaliation for fear Hungary might call our bluff.

The latter point gets down to the root problem of whether it is wise to provoke the Soviet. It has come up time after time in the past, and the joint chiefs of staff always shy away from any showdown. In general, so does the State Department.

This was the issue involved in the question of bombing Manchurian territory beyond the Yalu river. It has also been involved in much milder matters in the cold war.

Propaganda Balloons

For instance, when this columnist last spring urged sending propaganda balloons behind the Iron Curtain, it was frowned on by military advisers and by some State Department officials. They feared a violent reaction in Moscow.

But when the Crusade for Freedom was able to float balloons into Czechoslovakia and Poland, the freedom leaflets were mimeographed, tacked on telephone poles, mailed anonymously to Communist officials, and created such a furor that Communist newspapers, the Czech prime minister and radio Moscow had to go into high gear to reply.

Public opinion became so riled inside Czechoslovakia that the Communists actually began looking for some way to free AP Correspondent William Oatis in order to turn off the heat.

However, when similar balloon or propaganda projects have been urged for Hungary and other satellite countries, an official wall of discouragement has been erected by the Pentagon and by some of the more timid souls in the State Department.

The reason is partly illustrated by a story told by Gen. Bedell Smith, expert head of Central Intelligence, who recounts a conversation between Georges Dimitrov and Stalin.

"Are you afraid of war?" Stalin was asked.

"Yes," replied Stalin, "but not as afraid as the west."

Nevertheless, there are plenty of propaganda steps that can be taken with no danger of war. Furthermore, it remains a fact that the law of the jungle remains the law of the Kremlin. And when U. S. propaganda stirs the population of Czechoslovakia or Hungary to a boiling point, the Kremlin is much more likely to act with reason.

Military Playground

When Senate investigators probed army camps recently, they didn't seem to notice that, while Fort Belvoir, Va., has squandered thousands of dollars on fancy golf courses, it has let its living quarters run down shamefully.

The Senate Preparedness Committee did rap Fort Belvoir for its "luxurious" recreational facilities. But it overlooked the condition of the crowded temporary barracks which have become fire hazards. Meanwhile Fort Belvoir is dangerously low on water for fire control.

In other words, Fort Belvoir has neglected its basic needs in order to build a Potomac boat club, skeet range, two golf courses, 24 bowling alleys, two field houses, two baseball fields, 11 softball fields (including one with lights for night playing), seven swimming pools, 16 tennis courts, two riverside picnic areas and literally dozens of other recreational facilities.

Diplomatic Pouch

Foreign Minister Vishinsky of Russia has scornfully rejected an appeal by Egypt for Soviet arms. It's supposed to be a diplomatic secret, but Egypt's Prime Minister Sala El Din met with Vishinsky last week to plead for Russian arms. Vishinsky coldly turned him down with the remark that Russia has arms for her friends only and not for her enemies. . . . The Chilean government has discovered uranium—and, believe it or not, the deposit was found in La Serena, the home town of President Gonzalez Videla. . . . High Commissioner McCloy reports the Russian Air Force in Eastern Germany now is completely equipped with jet fighters. McCloy has told the Pentagon the old propeller-driven fighters have been flown to Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria to build up the satellite air forces there. . . . The Communists have ordered a book purge of all libraries and bookshops in East Germany. All democratic books will be destroyed. However, the Communists are so hard up for paper that they have ruled against a spectacular book burning. Instead, the purged books will be reprocessed into new paper. . . . The American legation reports that Matias Rakosi, bullet-headed Communist dictator of Hungary, is getting increasingly jittery about his future. Premier Rakosi happens to be the man who ordered the four American fliers put on trial. He now fears he is being watched by secret Soviet agents. Maybe a purge is in store for him as it was for Vice Premier Slansky in Czechoslovakia.

President Has Clear Path Now to Appoint Successor to Howard McGrath

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 3—Attorney General Howard McGrath has told President Truman that he should consider himself free to appoint a successor at any time now that he wishes to do so.

Mr. McGrath made his position clear in writing to the President three weeks ago, not long after Mr. Truman announced from Key West the removal of Assistant Attorney General Caudle. It will be recalled that, when Mr. McGrath subsequently testified before the House subcommittee, he expressed himself as still uninformed as to the exact reason for the dismissal of Caudle. While he was advised in advance of the President's decision to remove his assistant, it is apparent that he was not given a bill of particulars and it can be inferred from Mr. McGrath's testimony that, while he regarded his assistant as indiscreet in the handling of outside activities, he did not hold Caudle to have been dishonest.

There is no ill feeling between the President and Mr. McGrath. The attorney general is reported to be anxious to leave public life so as to be able to devote himself to private business interests. This happens to coincide with the desire of the President to use the opportunity created by the vacancy to appoint someone as attorney general who can do a clean-up job, thus making it unnecessary perhaps to appoint a commission, though the idea of having two special prosecutors—one Republican and the other a Democrat—has not been altogether abandoned.

It is understood, too, that Mr. McGrath has felt that his own position would be untenable if special prosecutors were appointed unless he himself had recommended them. It was argued, too, presumably by Mr. McGrath himself, that perhaps the best solution was to find a new attorney general who would not be beholden to anyone previously appointed in the Department of Justice. So Mr. Truman is in the market for a hard-hitting prosecutor whose appointment will itself be the best proof of the administration's desire to make a genuine clean-up. Even a Republican lawyer would be eligible for the job.

Mr. Truman is determined to convince the American people that such irregularities as have arisen in the Bureau of Internal Revenue and in the Department of Justice will be cleaned up by his own action without the need for further inquisitorial efforts by Congress, though the committees on Capitol Hill will naturally seek to continue their inquiries.

The President, by his reorganization of the Internal Revenue Bureau, has taken a step which is long overdue and gets at a situation which needed correction under previous administrations—namely, the co-mingling of politics and administrative duties in such a delicate affair as tax collections and audits.

Mr. Truman has been listening to the advice of Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder and Commissioner John W. Dunlap, who was recently appointed head of the Internal Revenue Bureau. Both have for weeks been insisting that the bureau be streamlined, that plans be made to ask Congress for higher pay for the career men, and that political appointments be eliminated altogether.

The President is not likely to abate soon his new campaign of reorganization. While prosecutions of wrongdoers are spectacular and dramatic, what counts in the long run is a removal of the source of the evil—the extermination of political influence from tax audits and the prosecution of those who are accused of violating tax laws.

It is significant that, in the case of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the appointment of W. Stuart Symington has led to a clean-up there which is rapidly restoring public confidence in that agency. The same tactics of serious attention to day-by-day acts of continuous reorganization inside the Internal Revenue Bureau and the Department of Justice may prove similarly constructive with respect to those two agencies.

It is being said in many quarters here that the President is doing all this to make a good political impression either for himself or his party this year, but, whatever the motive, if it is in the public interest, the action taken will not be disparaged.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Paris—George Meany, the secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, has reported back that European governments and non-Communist unioneers are apathetic toward the efforts of the A.F. of L. to save the world from Soviet communism. Nobody ever asked the A.F. of L. to save the world from anything. But, for the last 15 years, millions of Americans have looked in vain to this disgraceful front for syndicates of murderers, grafters, extortioners, leg-breakers, stink-bombers and free-style betrayers of labor to clean out their own rotten household.

As yet, neither Meany, William Green nor any of the politicians of the Roosevelt-Truman corruption has shown the slightest interest in this phase of their moral responsibility. The A.F. of L. will not be qualified to fight any menace anywhere else until it has first contritely deplored its own betrayal of the cause of labor and of Christian morals and exerted itself to reform.

It has exalted the racket above the law and the teachings of religion and, even if it could be held that this immoral gang of musclemen ever had a mandate from God or man to fight back communism in western Europe, its failure would be due to no fault of sneering Europeans but to the guilt of F. D. Roosevelt, the Democratic party and the A.F. of L.

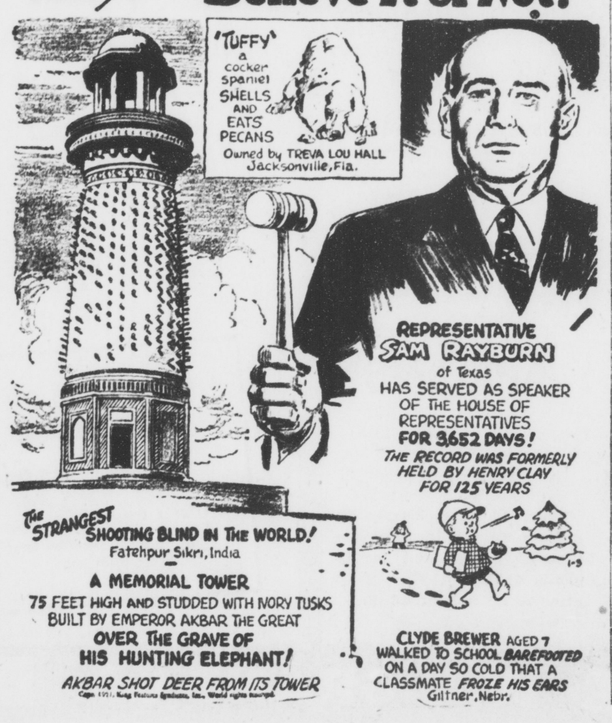

The gall of these racketeers in planting a system of "embassies" in Europe under a "secretary of state" named Jay Lovestone, who was Earl Browder's predecessor in the Communist party but found it convenient to his plans to profess reform, is so shocking that it stuns. Dave Dubinsky, who runs a union dictatorship in the garment trade and constantly lathers himself with idolatrous publicity in his own official journal at the expense of his faceless subjects, elected himself chief of this system. But one of our major ambassadors in a great European capital said "I am the only American ambassador here" and "our foreign policy comes from the State Department, not the A.F. of L." And Meany, returning from a luxurious European junket at the expense of the American working stiff, said, in Washington, that "the governments, the unions and everybody seem to feel that we are the great big colossus of the west. We have the money and we can spend it."

Why didn't he say how much money? Did the working saps of the A.F. of L. know they were putting up this money? What is it spent for? How much on booze and women?

The A.F. of L. has been promoting in Europe an international group of unions called the Confederation of Free Trade Unions with headquarters in Brussels. Its Communist rival is the World Federation of Trade Unions which the American C.I.O. heartily supported for years although those two miserable, knee-sprung fakers, Philip Murray, the president, and James Carey, the secretary, have lately been trying to convince the robots of their empire that they never did. These two selfish parasites work always for their own paltry job-interests. They have no trace of a "mandate" from any group of American workers but are elected by delegates in a survival of the worst form of the old "convention" system which long ago was abandoned in our public politics. Their sole function in the American war effort is to blackmail the people out of billions of dollars and retard production by threatening to blockade plants creating steel and other stuff unless the elected, national, public government raises wages so that they can claim to be benefactors of minorities of workers. Nevertheless, they too, now have their "diplomatic system" in Europe.

Their "ambassador in chief" in Paris is Victor Reuther, a brother of Walter, whose mobe raised terror in the auto plants in Michigan, riding down elected American government. The Reuther boys had just spent one year working in a Soviet factory and a joint letter home at that time, published in the records of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, expressed rapturous satisfaction with the Communist regime as they saw it close up. Now, Victor calls at the American Embassy here and, with a prestige which this name-dropping intimacy confers, is allowed to swoop down on French auto parts as an official American "labor" dignitary. Walter, the present chief of the American UAW, introduced the sitdown, slowdown, sit-in and skip-strikers to American assembly lines. All these were French

When we embarked on our present defense program, we knew we were taking on one of the toughest assignments in American history.

Never before had the people been asked to support in peacetime such colossal military preparations both for themselves and their friends abroad.

It can't really be held a surprise that the task is going slowly. Here there is no disposition to ask for more than the mildest curtailment of civilian life. In Europe, the politicians, remembering the nearness of other wars, can't bring themselves to demand heavy sacrifices from their peoples so soon again.

People don't work to a pitch easily in peace. If they get there, they won't stay long. The disheartening stream of reports from Europe in recent weeks is indication how tough it is to get action when the peril is not great and immediate. The West is talking a good defense, but not doing much.

Isn't it time to take a serious view of this dilemma? Does it mean that we aren't going to get a really adequate defense unless war is at hand?

Obviously this is a risk we can't afford. Selfish American interest, if nothing more, demands that we take genuinely effective measures to protect the Atlantic community of nations.

But what other course is open to us? John Foster Dulles suggested one not long ago. He proposed we stop trying to build a defense force of such size that each and every free land within our orbit may feel independently secure.

He suggested that instead we create what he termed "community punishing power," a large central striking force to be held at convenient places for dispatch to any and every spot where aggression might threaten.

Dulles is convinced this mobile power would pack so much weight in Soviet calculations that it would be as great a deterrent as a border bristling with armor.

And, theoretically at least, this should be more economical than to try to put each country into condition to repel the invader itself, just as it is cheaper to maintain a central police force than to post guards at every shop and store in the city.

Beyond all doubt we must find a way out of this period of backing filling. We've got to make up our minds what kind of defense we need to be safe and what kind of defense program people will actually support in peacetime.

If these are not the same thing, then some sort of workable compromise is imperative to assure us minimum security.

The Dulles proposal has undeniable appeal in this situation. And it might have a lot of impact in Congress, where in 1952, there is sure to be, more than ever, a questioning attitude toward the continuance of high military and economic aid to our Allies in the absence of clearly tangible results.

If the supporters of the present program think, however, that they have the best idea, then they should realize that they do not have much time left in which to prove it.

Some people try to go through life as though they were rowing a boat, thinking to move forward while looking backward.

BALANCE OF SPENDING

The Christmas season of 1951 was as good as any ever experienced by most American stores, but on the other side of the Atlantic merchants in London were saying that their Christmas business was the worst within their memory. Some blamed high prices and others blamed lack of money in the hands of the public, probably two ways of saying the same thing. At any rate, Londoners weren't buying many Christmas gifts, and the merchants felt in keenly.

Such a sharp contrast in Christmas buying is merely one manifestation of the great difference in economic conditions between America and most of the nations of Europe. Perhaps the depth of difference can be realized more clearly in terms of Christmas, since it is a season so dear to the hearts of people on both sides of the ocean. This economic contrast is one of the great problems of these times; a problem which must be solved sooner or later.

'These Days'

"BLESSED MOTHER GOOSE"

There were three of us in college who played together all through our years there. One, Tom Black, who hailed from Indiana, wandered off to France and North Africa; I went to Russia and China; Frank Scully went through hell.

And this is the story of Frank Scully and his wonderful trials and tribulations, his operations, 20 or more of them, his intense sufferings, his boundless good cheer and fervent faith and the wild course of his social consciousness which drove him to queer public activities.

His physical pain Frank Scully recorded in his various "Fun in Bed" books, which many bought with indecent yearning only to discover that they were devised to cheer the shut-in in the long hours of enforced boredom in the sick-bed.

During the most trying years of his life, when his leg finally had to go and the crutch became his companion, Scully was the European correspondent for "Variety." At one time, I believe it was in Nice, he employed the anarchist, Alexander Berkman, as his leg man, Frank not being able to use his own.

Nobody and nothing could lick Scully, not even his own boisterous ignorance of the practicalities of life. In 1930, he married Alice, a divine Swedish girl who nursed him through several of his major hells, and they have five children, most of whom, unfortunately, take after the father, may the Lord save them.

Now, there are many people who do not understand this amazing person, but I know him because I knew his mother. And I saw the beginning of his tubercular leg and we have been friends all these years. And so I knew that no medicine and no surgery could keep this man alive; yet life remained with him by sheer will, supported by an unerring faith in God.

And I often wondered why he never, in all the books he wrote, said something about that. This year, as a Christmas gift, came his beautiful book, "Blessed Mother Goose," published by a housewarven in Hollywood.

It seems that as Frank Scully's progeny came into the world, it was necessary for Frank to tell them nursery rhymes at night before they fell asleep and undoubtedly after they already knew their prayers. But he did not like the rhymes he found. They were just words, and some of the words were either meaningless or bad. And Frank decided to clean them up, to give them point and meaning, even beauty.

As you may imagine by his name, Frank Scully is Irish and I fear rigidly so. Frank's nursery rhymes are what he is, and so his children will be. For instance, see what he does to "Mary's Lamb":

"Mary had a little lamb
Its fleece was white as snow,
And everywhere that Mary went,
The lamb was sure to go.
"When she grew up she had a son,
Who died that we might live,
And through the ages she's the one
Who asks Him to forgive.
"For now wherever Mary goes,
Wherever people trod
Her son has now become our Lord,
The gentle Lamb of God."

Even those who are of other faiths must recognize the beauty of this rhyme, or to cite another, "The Shoe Woman":

"There was an old woman who lived in a shoe.
She had many children because she wanted to.
She taught them their grace and fed them some bread,
And gave them a kiss and blessed them in bed."

To bring a lesson home and make it all modern and understandable, this is what he does to "Tom, Tom the Piper's Son":

"Tom, Tom the Piper's son,
Stole a pig and away he run;
The pig was sought and Tom was caught,
And so his stealing went to naught.
"They sent him to the Boys Town farm
To keep him out of further harm,
And in that air so holy there,
His pigs won prizes at the fair."

I shall give you no more, lest you get it all for nothing, providing Scully with fame but no provender. Therefore, if you want more, you will have to get the book, which should be published less expensively so that more can afford to buy it.

There are so many ways by which human beings can fulfill themselves, and each in his way can add something to strengthen the Jacob's Ladder between earth and heaven. In "Blessed Mother Goose," Frank Scully has added a rung to that ladder, a blessed rung, as it is, for children entering upon their dreams.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

EXERCISE STRENGTHENS THE BLOOD

I write often about the "Friendly Force" behind mankind and of how Nature is always ahead of man's needs in supplying him with extra blood, extra blood pressure, extra white corpuscles to fight off invading organisms and increased amount of adrenal juice to strengthen him in an emergency.

I have also pointed out that Nature meant that man should use the hundreds of muscles in and on his body to keep him strong physically, give him an appetite, help his digestion, regulate his bowels, enrich his blood and maintain blood pressure. By simple physical work or exercise, man obtains all these helpful services. And should man engage in regular physical training or exercise, if only five to 15 minutes daily, he becomes faster in his movements. This applies to all forms of games or athletics, and a fraction of a second may make the difference between a win and a loss.

An interesting experiment showing the value of work or exercise to man's physical make-up is recorded by Dr. B. Gabraoui, Cairo, in the Journal of the Royal Egyptian Medical Association.

One of the juices very valuable to man's strength and speed of action is histamine as manufactured by the adrenal glands, situated one above each kidney. It is this juice or extract that enables man to do his best if he has to fight or flee in an emergency.

Dr. Gabraoui made observations on healthy volunteers to learn if work, exercise (muscular movement), affected the adrenal glands. The resting blood pressure was measured and 10 cc of blood drawn from the vein just above the elbow joint. This blood acted as a control, showing the amount of histamine in the blood before exercise. The circulation of the blood in the arm was obstructed by raising the pressure to 200 to 220 mg. mercury and the volunteer performed 15 to 20 vigorous contractions of the hand by pressing on a resistance ball. The pressure of the armlet (of the blood pressure machine) was released to just above the resting systolic pressure and a 10 cc. sample of blood drawn quickly by a wide-bored needle (15 seconds). Both blood samples were centrifuged and the amount of histamine present estimated.

In all experiments it was found that muscular contraction (work, exercise) in man is accompanied by a flow of histamine into the blood. The blood plasma collected after contraction of muscles contained three to four times more histamine than the control plasma sample.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — President Truman's relations with reporters at the White House are at an all-time low.

The boys in the White House press room, usually among his stanchest friends, resent the frequent cracks the President has been making about the press generally. And they don't appreciate the bawling out they get when asking simple questions at the White House news conferences.

It didn't get into the papers, but Mr. Truman, who returned from Key West tired and crochety, almost took two more digs at the reporters recently. First, he wanted to lecture them for not emphasizing that the list of war prisoners put out by the Chinese Communists was unverified and thus probably inaccurate—something, incidentally, that all reporters already had stressed.

He also wanted to bawl them out for leaking the story that Judge Tom Murphy of New York had turned down the job of chief graft investigator. However, the President's press officers, led by able Joe Short, convinced Mr. Truman to forget about it.

Inside Hungary

Final decision to pay the ransom of the four U. S. fliers in Hungary was made only after significant back-stage debate which goes to the very root of American policy toward Russian satellites.

Inside fact is that the Defense Department, not the State Department, made the decision to put up the ransom money—for two reasons:

1. The Four Air Force men were official representatives of the United States and specifically of the Defense Department.

2. The joint chiefs of staff shied away from any threat of retaliation for fear Hungary might call our bluff.

The latter point gets down to the root problem of whether it is wise to provoke the Soviet. It has come up time after time in the past, and the joint chiefs of staff always shy away from any showdown. In general, so does the State Department.

This was the issue involved in the question of bombing Manchurian territory beyond the Yalu river. It has also been involved in much milder matters in the cold war.

Propaganda Balloons

For instance, when this columnist last spring urged sending propaganda balloons behind the Iron Curtain, it was frowned on by military advisers and by some State Department officials. They feared a violent reaction in Moscow.

But when the Crusade for Freedom was able to float balloons into Czechoslovakia and Poland, the freedom leaflets were mimeographed, tacked on telephone poles, mailed anonymously to Communist officials, and created such a furor that Communist newspapers, the Czech prime minister and radio Moscow had to go into high gear to reply.

Public opinion became so riled inside Czechoslovakia that the Communists actually began looking for some way to free AP Correspondent William Oatis in order to turn off the heat.

However, when similar balloon or propaganda projects have been urged for Hungary and other satellite countries, an official wall of discouragement has been erected by the Pentagon and by some of the more timid souls in the State Department.

The reason is partly illustrated by a story told by Gen. Bedell Smith, expert head of Central Intelligence, who recounts a conversation between Georges Dimitrov and Stalin.

"Are you afraid of war?" Stalin was asked.

"Yes," replied Stalin, "but not as afraid as the west."

Nevertheless, there are plenty of propaganda steps that can be taken with no danger of war. Furthermore, it remains a fact that the law of the jungle remains the law of the Kremlin. And when U. S. propaganda stirs the population of Czechoslovakia or Hungary to a boiling point, the Kremlin is much more likely to act with reason.

Military Playground

When Senate investigators probed army camps recently, they didn't seem to notice that, while Fort Belvoir, Va., has squandered thousands of dollars on fancy golf courses, it has let its living quarters run down shamefully.

The Senate Preparedness Committee did rap Fort Belvoir for its "luxurious" recreational facilities. But it overlooked the condition of the crowded temporary barracks which have become fire hazards. Meanwhile Fort Belvoir is dangerously low on water for fire control.

In other words, Fort Belvoir has neglected its basic needs in order to build a Potomac boat club, skeet range, two golf courses, 24 bowling alleys, two field houses, two baseball fields, 11 softball fields (including one with lights for night playing), seven swimming pools, 16 tennis courts, two riverside picnic areas and literally dozens of other recreational facilities.

Diplomatic Pouch

Foreign Minister Vishinsky of Russia has scornfully rejected an appeal by Egypt for Soviet arms. It's supposed to be a diplomatic secret, but Egypt's Prime Minister Sala El Din met with Vishinsky last week to plead for Russian arms. Vishinsky coldly turned him down with the remark that Russia has arms for her friends only and not for her enemies. . . . The Chilean government has discovered uranium—and, believe it or not, the deposit was found in La Serena, the home town of President Gonzalez Videla. . . . High Commissioner McCloy reports the Russian Air Force in Eastern Germany now is completely equipped with jet fighters. McCloy has told the Pentagon the old propeller-driven fighters have been flown to Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria to build up the satellite air forces there. . . . The Communists have ordered a book purge of all libraries and bookshops in East Germany. All democratic books will be destroyed. However, the Communists are so hard up for paper that they have ruled against a spectacular book burning. Instead, the purged books will be reprocessed into new paper. . . . The American legation reports that Matias Rakosi, bullet-headed Communist dictator of Hungary, is getting increasingly jittery about his future. Premier Rakosi happens to be the man who ordered the four American fliers put on trial. He now fears he is being watched by secret Soviet agents. Maybe a purge is in store for him as it was for Vice Premier Slansky in Czechoslovakia.

And Meany, returning from a luxurious European junket at the expense of the American working stiff, said, in Washington, that "the governments, the unions and everybody seem to feel that we are the great big colossus of the west. We have the money and we can spend it."

Why didn't he say how much money? Did the working saps of the A.F. of L. know they were putting up this money? What is it spent for? How much on booze and women?

The A.F. of L. has been promoting in Europe an international group of unions called the Confederation of Free Trade Unions with headquarters in Brussels. Its Communist rival is the World Federation of Trade Unions which the American C.I.O. heartily supported for years although those two miserable, knee-sprung fakers, Philip Murray, the president, and James Carey, the secretary, have lately been trying to convince the robots of their empire that they never did. These two selfish parasites work always for their own paltry job-interests. They have no trace of a "mandate" from any group of American workers but are elected by delegates in a survival of the worst form of the old "convention" system which long ago was abandoned in our public politics. Their sole function in the American war effort is to blackmail the people out of billions of dollars and retard production by threatening to blockade plants creating steel and other stuff unless the elected, national, public government raises wages so that they can claim to be benefactors of minorities of workers. Nevertheless, they too, now have their "diplomatic system" in Europe.

Their "ambassador in chief" in Paris is Victor Reuther, a brother of Walter, whose mobe raised terror in the auto plants in Michigan, riding down elected American government. The Reuther boys had just spent one year working in a Soviet factory and a joint letter home at that time, published in the records of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, expressed rapturous satisfaction with the Communist regime as they saw it close up. Now, Victor calls at the American Embassy here and, with a prestige which this name-dropping intimacy confers, is allowed to swoop down on French auto parts as an official American "labor" dignitary. Walter, the present chief of the American UAW, introduced the sitdown, slowdown, sit-in and skip-strikers to American assembly lines. All these were French

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Retail prices of several important food items pushed a little higher in this first week of the new year.

Butter rose two to six cents a pound in most places as production declined when storms slowed shipment of cream. Some beef cuts, particularly prime rib roasts, were marked up a few cents in many stores. Lamb and chicken edged higher.

In fresh produce departments, potatoes, onions, new cabbage, cauliflower, celery, radishes, sweet potatoes and citrus fruits—especially tangerines — all averaged higher. Tomatoes and lettuce though about unchanged from last week, continued relatively high.

Retailers said canned milk probably would advance a penny or two within the next couple of weeks, reflecting higher costs for fluid milk.

Eggs Lead

Eggs led the small number of foods running counter to the uptrend this week, dropping two to six cents a dozen in major store chains and independents. Production is on the seasonal upswing now and trade sources report that a 2 to 4 per cent increase in laying flocks should soon put additional pressure on egg prices.

Cucumbers and peppers were about the only fresh vegetables generally lower this week. Carrots and old cabbage were down slightly in some places. Snap beans and eggplant were abundant and relatively low priced. So were green Italian squash and yellow straight-neck squash. Distant markets received their first volume shipments of rhubarb from Michigan hothouses.

Little Uniformity

Specials advertised by major chains and independents for the next few days showed little uniformity. Most stores held their fresh and smoked ham prices at the special pre-New Year's Day levels, but otherwise their meat features varied from sliced bacon and frankfurters to pork loin roasts, leg of lamb and Wisconsin geese. Other advertised leaders: Frozen halibut steaks, frying chickens, canned pork and beans and canned hash, oatmeal, split peas, dried prunes, graham crackers, fresh string beans, carrots and oranges.

The Agriculture Department headlined processed orange projects as the week's most plentiful food for thrifty buying.

Food market observers reported that processors' holdings of canned tomatoes and corn in both the east and midwest are unusually light, indicating that somewhat higher prices for those items may be on the way in the next several months. Canned green beans and several of the major fruits, with the exception of fruit cocktail and pineapple, also were said to be showing price firmness.

Below Ceilings

Price Stabilizer Michael V. DeSalle said a 2,000-store survey over the past few months showed retail food prices were averaging about 4 per cent below their ceilings.

He's going to try "community pricing" in about a month in Jacksonville, Fla.; Fresno, Calif., and Fargo, N. D. Food stores will be required to post dollars-and-cents ceilings on 350 to 400 food items, with the prices identical for all stores in the same class in each of the cities. The price posters will be revised every two weeks, oftener if necessary.

If this test indicates the community-wide system will prove as feasible or desirable as it was during World War 2, it will be used throughout the nation, DeSalle said. It was the most popular system then, he added, because shoppers could tell at a glance whether they are being overcharged, grocers were saved considerable figuring and record-keeping, and enforcement was easier. At present, grocers figure their own ceilings by applying a percentage mark-up formula to their own costs.

Dividend Is Declared

Directors of Electrol Incorporated, this city, have declared a stock dividend of 4 per cent on the outstanding common shares, payable on January 30 to stockholders of record as of January 7. The company, which manufactures aircraft and industrial hydraulic devices, reports that its current backlog of orders exceeds $12,000,000.

Olive Needs Blood Donors

The American Legion Auxiliary will sponsor a blood bank at the town office in West Shokan, Thursday, Jan. 10 from 7 to 8 p. m. At least 20 donors are needed so blood can be supplied free of charge for six months. Anyone in good health between 21 and 56 may give. To arrange to give call Shokan 2631 or 2640 before January 7.

Po'keepsie Youth Held for Shooting Stepfather Jan. 1

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—John Wesley Sellers, 19, was held in the Dutchess county jail here today on a first degree murder charge in the shooting of his stepfather.

The stepfather, John Calvin Sellers, 42, was wounded fatally New Year's Day at Glenham during a dispute between him and the youth's mother.

Dutchess County Judge John R. Swartz held young Sellers without bail last night. The mother, Mrs. Lottie Sellers, was held in $10,000 bail as a material witness.

The youth, sought over a wide area, was arrested by state police yesterday while hiding in the cellar of an Orange county farm tenant building occupied by his uncle, Agar Williams.

State Police Lieut. L. E. Maxwell said young Sellers admitted shooting his stepfather. The stepfather, shot when the youth reportedly intervened in the dispute, died early yesterday at Highland Hospital at Beacon.

Maxwell said the youth, who was unarmed and offered no resistance to arrest, told of hitchhiking 30 miles from Glenham to his uncle's home after the shooting.

Two fathers were talking about their respective babies.

First Father—You say your baby does not walk yet? Mine does and he's not as old as yours. Has your baby cut his teeth yet?

Second Ditto—No, he hasn't.

First Ditto—Oh, my baby has them all. Your baby talk yet?

Second Ditto—Not yet, can yours?

First Ditto—Great Scott, yes.

Second Ditto—Does your baby use a safety razor or one of the others?

"Thank heavens, the country is still free and a man can do as his wife pleases."

Wife—This is an 18th Century secretary.

Husband—Does she still take dictation?

Many a woman who can't add can certainly distract.

Husband (after the theatre)—But, dear, what did you object to?

Wife—Why, the idea of you bellowing 'Author! Author!' at a Shakespearian drama!

The best way to keep your lipstick on, girls, is to eat lots of garlic.

Willie—I went fishing today, Mother, with a bent pin.

Mother—You shouldn't hurt the poor dear little fish, son. Next time I'll give you a safety pin.

U. S. labor is campaigning for a guaranteed annual wage, and may some day think of guaranteeing a good year's work in exchange for it.

It's simple to find your station in life. Somebody will tell you where to get off.

About the time a fellow gets his Christmas bills paid, and his taxes paid he is confronted with the fact that it is the month when he must get a new license tag for his car.

In a booklet telling how to live happily in houses rented from the city, Hitchin, England, lists the following: Keep dogs under control; don't get in arrears with rent; don't smoke in bed and don't try to find gas leaks with a lighted match."

Student—To whom was Minerva married?

Professor—My boy, when will you learn that Minerva was the Goddess of Wisdom? She wasn't married.

One consolation about these riotous Christmas neckties is that they don't cause runaways like they used to do in the horse-and-buggy days.

First Hobo—I'm like the poet, I long for the wings of a dove.

Second Ditto—Huh! Right now I'd rather have the breast of a chicken, 'long with a couple a drumsticks.

A chap went into court and wanted his name changed. Not for any of the ordinary reasons.

The court, always particular in instances of this kind, asked why the visitor was dissatisfied.

Man—Why my name is Fyer, and when I ask for it on the telephone they always give me the fire department.

A victorious attitude will do much toward aiding each of us to become a winner.

Season Reason

For wintry winds hitch-hiker folks
Don't give a worn-out dime.
Quite naturally they much prefer
The good old slumber time!
—S. Omar Barker

Two fathers were talking about their respective babies.

First Father—You say your baby does not walk yet? Mine does and he's not as old as yours. Has your baby cut his teeth yet?

Second Ditto—No, he hasn't.

First Ditto—Oh, my baby has them all. Your baby talk yet?

Second Ditto—Not yet, can yours?

First Ditto—Great Scott, yes.

Second Ditto—Does your baby use a safety razor or one of the others?

"Thank heavens, the country is still free and a man can do as his wife pleases."

Wife—This is an 18th Century secretary.

Husband—Does she still take dictation?

Many a woman who can't add can certainly distract.

Husband (after the theatre)—But, dear, what did you object to?

Wife—Why, the idea of you bellowing 'Author! Author!' at a Shakespearian drama!

The best way to keep your lipstick on, girls, is to eat lots of garlic.

Willie—I went fishing today, Mother, with a bent pin.

Mother—You shouldn't hurt the poor dear little fish, son. Next time I'll give you a safety pin.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Holiday Games Full of Action

Woodstock, Jan. 3 — During both of the holiday week-ends a lively schedule of basketball games kept fans enthralled both Friday and Saturday nights of each week, as well as on Christmas night. Friday, Dec. 21, the Woodstock Varsity trimmed the New Paltz team 98 to 68 at the Woodstock School. There was no Jayvee game that night. Saturday, Dec. 22, the Saugerties Amrods, playing at Saugerties, trailed the Woodstock Jayvees but two points, with a score of 44 for Woodstock and 42 for Saugerties. In the Jayvee game the same night Woodstock scored 37 and Saugerties 29. Christmas night the Woodstock Varsity beat the Esopus Firemen 69 to 58. Harder was high scorer with 20 points.

Friday, Dec. 28, at the Woodstock School fans of long standing are afforded the opportunity to see both present and former stars in action. The Woodstock Varsity battled a team composed of their former cohorts and won 74 to 61. The Jayvees scored by a narrower margin over the visiting Jayvee team 42 to 38. Members of the team of former players were Sammy Wilson, home on leave from West Point, Don West from Utica College, Paul Van Wagenen from the Citadel and Bob Hastie just released from the army. Bud Blazy and Joe Raymond who are at present living in this village also played on the team. Wilson, West and Van Wagenen have been playing with the Varsity since they came home. Wilson, playing like his old self, thrilled spectators by scoring 40 points. In that game Waterous was high for Woodstock with 23 points.

The last game of the holiday season, Saturday, Dec. 28, at the school again brought victory to the Woodstock Jayvees who piled up 83 points to the Saugerties Amrods' 60. Kleine was high scorer with 29 points. On the same night the Woodstock Jayvees beat the Amrod Jayvees 49 to 31.

The next basketball game will be played at the Woodstock School, Friday, Jan. 4, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Magazine Features Story on Bellows

Woodstock, Jan. 3—In the art section of Time Magazine, Dec. 24, there is a reproduction of George Bellows' famous portrait of his wife, who is a summer resident of this village, entitled Emma in a Purple Dress, with the sub caption Not upset, just puzzled.

The accompanying article reports that "when he was not painting grim ringside views of prizefighters at work, Artist George Bellows liked nothing better than to paint pleasant pictures of his pretty wife Emma. Bellows painted six of them in 15 years, and all but two were sold. Last week Emma Bellows was offering her favorite for sale at a small Manhattan showing of her husband's works.

"As one of Bellows' best, Emma in a Purple Dress ranks high among U. S. portraits. Scanning his wife's trim ankles, high-piled dark hair and tapering fingers with an appreciative, penetrating eye, Bellows managed to give her face and figure the elegance and spirit of a Goya duchess, her simple low-waisted silk dress an air of perennial chic. It was the last portrait he ever did of his wife. In 1925, two years after he completed it, he died at 42, at the peak of his talent.

"Since then, Emma Bellows has lived in the small Manhattan house where her husband had his studio. She has spent her time raising their two daughters, managing the fat parcel of canvases Painter Bellows left behind ('That's a full-time job, choosing varnishes, choosing frames'). By carefully supervised sales to important U. S. museums and collections, she has supported herself, helped establish her husband as one of America's favorite painters. 'I won't let just anybody buy George's paintings,' she says. 'I want them placed where they can be seen.'

"Last week, a plump grandmother of 67, Emma Bellows was not upset at the thought of parting with her last important portrait, but she was still puzzling over one thing. 'I know that dress by heart. I made the jacket myself. The skirt was rose-colored, the jacket blue. I don't know why he called it Emma in a Purple Dress.'"

Pepers Win Two

Woodstock, Jan. 3—Bowling recently in the Saugerties Academy, Peper's Garage won two games out of three against Klugo's. Peper's scored 819-822-764 and Klugo's 741-720-859. Individual scores for Peper's were J. Holdridge, Jr., 170-185-150; J. Holudridge, Sr., 176-180-178; K. Harder 140-132-152; C. Nickponski 182-137-152; V. Busch 151-188-130. Individual scores for Klugo's were J. Meyers 150-151-153; H. Meyers 136-130; G. Fisher 142-129-222; R. Snyder 143-114; R. Teitter 165-188-195; W. Minkler 138-159, with a handicap of 5 on the first game. High single scorer was G. Fisher with 222 and high triple scorer was R. Teitter with 548.

Road Superintendent Will Hear Residents

Woodstock, Jan. 3 — Benjamin De Graff, newly-elected road superintendent, who took office January 1, has announced that he will be at the town hall every weekday, Monday through Friday, from 11:30 a. m. until 12 noon, and will welcome calls from residents of the township.

De Graff will be glad to discuss recommendations and suggestions for the better maintenance of the 94 miles of town roads, and declares that he will do the best possible job in keeping them in good condition.

According to De Graff two more snow plows are expected to arrive in the village within a week or ten days, to be added to town equipment.

Will Hold Election

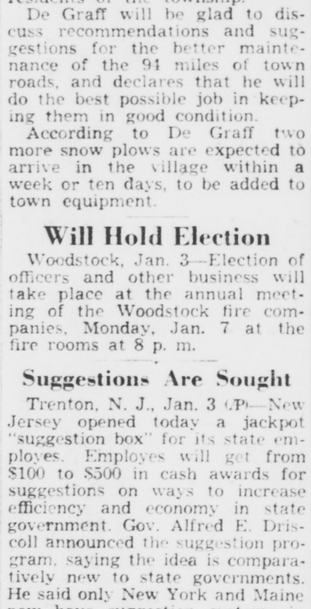

Woodstock, Jan. 3—Election of officers and other business will take place at the annual meeting of the Woodstock fire companies, Monday, Jan. 7 at the fire rooms at 8 p. m.

Suggestions Are Sought

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 3 (AP)—New Jersey opened today a jackpot "suggestion box" for its state employes. Employes will get from $100 to $500 in cash awards for suggestions on ways to increase efficiency and economy in state government. Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll announced the suggestion program, saying the idea is comparatively new to state governments. He said only New York and Maine now have suggestion systems in operation. New York saved over $400,000 in four years as a result of the program, Driscoll said.

Hangar Is Destroyed

Trenton, Ont., Jan. 3 (AP)—At least three planes were destroyed last night in a fire which destroyed the main repair hangar at the Royal Canadian Air Force hangar here. An air force spokesman estimated damage of over one million dollars. Origin of the blaze was not determined.

Death of Infant Being Probed by County Officers

Susan Ann Harvey, five-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harvey of 46 Locust avenue, died mysteriously some time during the night. An inquiry was being made today to determine the cause of death of the infant child. An autopsy was being performed by Dr. Sidney Pauker and Dr. Herman Derman at the direction of Coroner Ernest A. Kelly and District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn.

It was believed the child had suffocated in its crib some time during the night. The child had been ill, it was reported.

Mrs. Margaret Harvey told County Investigator Arthur H. Brown that she had fed the infant at 10 o'clock last night as was customary and the child appeared to be well. Early this morning the mother said she went to the crib to bring the child to her bed as was the custom and found the baby apparently dead.

Dr. Pauker was called and on arrival pronounced the child dead. Coroner Kelly and District Attorney Bruhn were notified and the local police department notified. Investigator Brown later was sent to the home and conducted an investigation. Cause of death was not announced pending the result of the autopsy.

Rate Increase Petition

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—A vice president of the New York State Electric and Gas Corp. told the Public Service Commission today his firm needed a 2½ million dollar annual electric rate boost to finance a huge construction program. W. J. Foster, Jr., of Ithaca, was the first witness at a PSC hearing on the utility's petition for a rate increase in its south central and eastern New York service areas.

Gamblers Pay Tax

Cleveland, Jan. 3 (AP)—Upwards of $630,000 was bet during November with professional gamblers in 22 northeastern Ohio counties. The internal revenue office here revealed that yesterday in reporting it had collected $63,000 so far for that month from gamblers under a new federal tax. There had been predictions the new tax would drive gamblers out of business.

Roundup Brooklyn Gang

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—Seventeen teen-age boys, one of them a juvenile, were under arrest today as the result of a police roundup of a Brooklyn gang that allegedly specialized in armed robbery and burglary. An eighteenth youth was charged with criminally receiving stolen property. Police said he was not a member of the gang, which is known as the Gringoes.

Gives Warning to Egypt

Cairo, Egypt, Jan. 3 (AP)—Dr. Hafez Afifi Pasha, new pro-western chief adviser to King Farouk, said today that Egypt in its fight against British imperialism should avoid being caught "in the grip of imperialism of a different character"—meaning Soviet Russia.

Radio-Phone Trouble

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—Two men were accused yesterday of operating a radio-telephone device linking two buildings in a bookmaking scheme. The apparatus was uncovered during federal investigation of complaints that interference originating in East Manhattan was jamming radio signals transmitted by Station WJZ whose transmitter is in Lodi, N. J. The alleged use of electronic equipment for the relay of telephone conversations was the first of its kind known to the Federal Communications Commission, according to William Kiser, a FCC engineer. U. S. Attorney Myles J. Lane said Fred Fisher, 33, of Brooklyn, a former city policeman, and Edward Chudy, 27, of Manhattan, faced charges of operating a radio transmitter without a federal license.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—Price changes in the stock market were confined to narrow limits today. Trends were mixed.

It was another day of slow trading, as traders showed small inclination to commit themselves until they get a clearer picture of what lies ahead in foreign affairs and in the domestic economy.

Occasionally the market displayed a tendency to dip into lower ground, but each time activity quieted and prices steadied again.

Railroad shares which provided a prop for the entire market yesterday were mixed and narrow today. Some of the steels, rubbers, copper mining and oil shares sought lower ground. Several utilities achieved small advances.

Suicide by Gas

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—The marriage of a Yale University professor's daughter to a Negro artist ended yesterday with her suicide by gas, apparently in despair over world conditions. She was Mrs. Elizabeth Adams Wright, 41, daughter of the late Dr. Thomas S. Adams, prominent Yale economics professor and author of a number of Wisconsin tax laws. She was married in 1945 to George Wright, a member of a well-to-do Honduran shipping family. They met and fell in love while he was a wartime Merchant Marine officer and she was a librarian at the Carver Institute for adult education.

Mayor in Albany To Press State for B'way Opening

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk was in Albany today to confer with officials of the state Department of Public Works on the possibility of opening the Broadway railroad underpass to traffic during winter months while work on the project is shut down.

The Mayor in his annual message to the Common Council on Tuesday expressed "not only disappointment but indignation at the slow progress of work which has made it necessary to continue the detour of the city's traffic."

He added, "I promise to continue my efforts to speed the opening of the underpass."

A representative of Lipsett, Inc., the contractor, said last week that several factors, including the problem of insurance protection, indicated that the underpass may remain closed to traffic during the winter shut down. At that time, Mayor Newkirk expressed his disappointment and revealed that he had been assured by the contractor that the project would be opened to traffic during the winter.

MODENA

Modena, Jan. 3 — Plans are complete for the card and games party which members of the Public Health Nursing Committee of the Town of Plattekill will hold Friday evening, Jan. 11 in Hasbrouck Memorial Hall. Mystery Man Slain

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—Carlos Diaz, 38, described by police as a well-dressed "man of mystery," was shot and mortally wounded on his doorstep early today. Police said the slayer apparently knocked on the door of his ground-floor apartment at 1:20 a. m., fired three shots from an automatic when Diaz answered, and fled. Detectives said they were without a clue to the identity of the slayer or the motive.

Reds Want Meeting

Paris, Jan. 3 (AP)—Russia called today for a top level Security Council meeting to help bring about an armistice in Korea. The council meeting would be called under Article 28 of the UN charter which authorizes governments to send their chiefs of state or foreign ministers as delegates to council meetings.

Seeding and Other Farm Problems Will Be Subjects

Seeding, fertilizing and other problems relative to growing of field crops will be discussed by seed and fertilizer dealers of Ulster and adjoining counties at a dinner meeting, Wednesday, Jan. 9, in the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie.

Announcement of the conference, one of 12 scheduled throughout the state, was made today by Robert D. Guzewich, county agricultural agent, who said dinner will be served at 6 p. m. The evening session is to end at 9 o'clock.

A section on vegetable crops has been added to the program this year for the first time, Guzewich said.

Prof. A. A. Johnson, plant breeding specialist, and Prof. S. R. Aldrich, crop specialist at Cornell, will speak on choosing adaptable corn hybrids for various areas; fertilizing and selecting varieties for top yields of oats, barley and wheat. Other topics on the program are: outlook for seeds and fertilizers; experiences in custom weed spraying.

Agent Guzewich said that dealers will discuss with the Cornell specialists these and other questions commonly asked by farmers: should ranger alfalfa replace grimm alfalfa, and can any corn hybrids resist root and stalk rot?

Representatives from the Cornell vegetable crops department will give field results on weed killers, sprout inhibitors, fruit-set hormones, defoliants, and fertilizers to use in obtaining top vegetable yields.

Time will be given on the program for discussions of special problems and questions. The one-day conference is arranged by a committee of dealers, county agricultural agents, and Cornell specialists.

Romance by Mail

Berlin, Jan. 3 (AP)—A former American jockey married a German woman today after a brief courtship by mail. The ceremony was performed by a German magistrate for J. M. Henderson of (89-05 163rd Street) Jamaica, New York, and Martha Schikora, native of Breslaw. The 65-year-old Henderson said a friend in New York "introduced" him to Martha, 43, by mail. "Her letters and her picture made me come all the way to Berlin to marry her," he chuckled between puffs on a big cigar.

Library Association Plans Annual Meeting

Harry Rigby, Jr., of Kingston's 300th anniversary, will address members of the Kingston Library Association at that group's annual meeting Wednesday, Jan. 9, at 7:30 p. m. at the library.

The meeting will also serve to elect three members to the library's board of trustees in the place of the three members whose terms expire: A. S. Hickey, Mrs. Harold S. King and Mrs. Ronald Herrick. All members in good standing are eligible to vote.

Reports from the librarian and the officers of the board will be received.

Rigby's talk will review plans for the celebration of this city's 300th anniversary and will include a report on progress made to date in promoting the anniversary program.

Cash Is Taken From Gas Station

Approximately $30 in cash was stolen sometime during the night from a gasoline station owned by Philip Sior at the intersection of Albany and Flatbush avenues, police reported.

The money was taken from the register after the thief had broken open its cash drawer, police said.

Inspection of the premises disclosed that entrance apparently was made through a rear window.

Detective Clarence Brophy is conducting the investigation.

Death of Infant Being Probed by County Officers

Susan Ann Harvey, five-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harvey of 46 Locust avenue, died mysteriously some time during the night. An inquiry was being made today to determine the cause of death of the infant child. An autopsy was being performed by Dr. Sidney Pauker and Dr. Herman Derman at the direction of Coroner Ernest A. Kelly and District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn.

It was believed the child had suffocated in its crib some time during the night. The child had been ill, it was reported.

Mrs. Margaret Harvey told County Investigator Arthur H. Brown that she had fed the infant at 10 o'clock last night as was customary and the child appeared to be well. Early this morning the mother said she went to the crib to bring the child to her bed as was the custom and found the baby apparently dead.

Dr. Pauker was called and on arrival pronounced the child dead. Coroner Kelly and District Attorney Bruhn were notified and the local police department notified. Investigator Brown later was sent to the home and conducted an investigation. Cause of death was not announced pending the result of the autopsy.

Rate Increase Petition

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—A vice president of the New York State Electric and Gas Corp. told the Public Service Commission today his firm needed a 2½ million dollar annual electric rate boost to finance a huge construction program. W. J. Foster, Jr., of Ithaca, was the first witness at a PSC hearing on the utility's petition for a rate increase in its south central and eastern New York service areas.

Gamblers Pay Tax

Cleveland, Jan. 3 (AP)—Upwards of $630,000 was bet during November with professional gamblers in 22 northeastern Ohio counties. The internal revenue office here revealed that yesterday in reporting it had collected $63,000 so far for that month from gamblers under a new federal tax. There had been predictions the new tax would drive gamblers out of business.

Roundup Brooklyn Gang

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—Seventeen teen-age boys, one of them a juvenile, were under arrest today as the result of a police roundup of a Brooklyn gang that allegedly specialized in armed robbery and burglary. An eighteenth youth was charged with criminally receiving stolen property. Police said he was not a member of the gang, which is known as the Gringoes.

Gives Warning to Egypt

Cairo, Egypt, Jan. 3 (AP)—Dr. Hafez Afifi Pasha, new pro-western chief adviser to King Farouk, said today that Egypt in its fight against British imperialism should avoid being caught "in the grip of imperialism of a different character"—meaning Soviet Russia.

Radio-Phone Trouble

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—Two men were accused yesterday of operating a radio-telephone device linking two buildings in a bookmaking scheme. The apparatus was uncovered during federal investigation of complaints that interference originating in East Manhattan was jamming radio signals transmitted by Station WJZ whose transmitter is in Lodi, N. J. The alleged use of electronic equipment for the relay of telephone conversations was the first of its kind known to the Federal Communications Commission, according to William Kiser, a FCC engineer. U. S. Attorney Myles J. Lane said Fred Fisher, 33, of Brooklyn, a former city policeman, and Edward Chudy, 27, of Manhattan, faced charges of operating a radio transmitter without a federal license.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—Price changes in the stock market were confined to narrow limits today. Trends were mixed.

It was another day of slow trading, as traders showed small inclination to commit themselves until they get a clearer picture of what lies ahead in foreign affairs and in the domestic economy.

Occasionally the market displayed a tendency to dip into lower ground, but each time activity quieted and prices steadied again.

Railroad shares which provided a prop for the entire market yesterday were mixed and narrow today. Some of the steels, rubbers, copper mining and oil shares sought lower ground. Several utilities achieved small advances.

Suicide by Gas

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—The marriage of a Yale University professor's daughter to a Negro artist ended yesterday with her suicide by gas, apparently in despair over world conditions. She was Mrs. Elizabeth Adams Wright, 41, daughter of the late Dr. Thomas S. Adams, prominent Yale economics professor and author of a number of Wisconsin tax laws. She was married in 1945 to George Wright, a member of a well-to-do Honduran shipping family. They met and fell in love while he was a wartime Merchant Marine officer and she was a librarian at the Carver Institute for adult education.

Mayor in Albany To Press State for B'way Opening

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk was in Albany today to confer with officials of the state Department of Public Works on the possibility of opening the Broadway railroad underpass to traffic during winter months while work on the project is shut down.

The Mayor in his annual message to the Common Council on Tuesday expressed "not only disappointment but indignation at the slow progress of work which has made it necessary to continue the detour of the city's traffic."

He added, "I promise to continue my efforts to speed the opening of the underpass."

A representative of Lipsett, Inc., the contractor, said last week that several factors, including the problem of insurance protection, indicated that the underpass may remain closed to traffic during the winter shut down. At that time, Mayor Newkirk expressed his disappointment and revealed that he had been assured by the contractor that the project would be opened to traffic during the winter.

MODENA

Modena, Jan. 3 — Plans are complete for the card and games party which members of the Public Health Nursing Committee of the Town of Plattekill will hold Friday evening, Jan. 11 in Hasbrouck Memorial Hall. Mystery Man Slain

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—Carlos Diaz, 38, described by police as a well-dressed "man of mystery," was shot and mortally wounded on his doorstep early today. Police said the slayer apparently knocked on the door of his ground-floor apartment at 1:20 a. m., fired three shots from an automatic when Diaz answered, and fled. Detectives said they were without a clue to the identity of the slayer or the motive.

Reds Want Meeting

Paris, Jan. 3 (AP)—Russia called today for a top level Security Council meeting to help bring about an armistice in Korea. The council meeting would be called under Article 28 of the UN charter which authorizes governments to send their chiefs of state or foreign ministers as delegates to council meetings.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—The state superintendent of banks issued a call today for reports from state banks, trust companies, industrial banks and private bankers as of the close of business Dec. 31.

Seeding and Other Farm Problems Will Be Subjects

Seeding, fertilizing and other problems relative to growing of field crops will be discussed by seed and fertilizer dealers of Ulster and adjoining counties at a dinner meeting, Wednesday, Jan. 9, in the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie.

Announcement of the conference, one of 12 scheduled throughout the state, was made today by Robert D. Guzewich, county agricultural agent, who said dinner will be served at 6 p. m. The evening session is to end at 9 o'clock.

A section on vegetable crops has been added to the program this year for the first time, Guzewich said.

Prof. A. A. Johnson, plant breeding specialist, and Prof. S. R. Aldrich, crop specialist at Cornell, will speak on choosing adaptable corn hybrids for various areas; fertilizing and selecting varieties for top yields of oats, barley and wheat. Other topics on the program are: outlook for seeds and fertilizers; experiences in custom weed spraying.

Agent Guzewich said that dealers will discuss with the Cornell specialists these and other questions commonly asked by farmers: should ranger alfalfa replace grimm alfalfa, and can any corn hybrids resist root and stalk rot?

Representatives from the Cornell vegetable crops department will give field results on weed killers, sprout inhibitors, fruit-set hormones, defoliants, and fertilizers to use in obtaining top vegetable yields.

Time will be given on the program for discussions of special problems and questions. The one-day conference is arranged by a committee of dealers, county agricultural agents, and Cornell specialists.

Romance by Mail

Berlin, Jan. 3 (AP)—A former American jockey married a German woman today after a brief courtship by mail. The ceremony was performed by a German magistrate for J. M. Henderson of (89-05 163rd Street) Jamaica, New York, and Martha Schikora, native of Breslaw. The 65-year-old Henderson said a friend in New York "introduced" him to Martha, 43, by mail. "Her letters and her picture made me come all the way to Berlin to marry her," he chuckled between puffs on a big cigar.

Library Association Plans Annual Meeting

Harry Rigby, Jr., of Kingston's 300th anniversary, will address members of the Kingston Library Association at that group's annual meeting Wednesday, Jan. 9, at 7:30 p. m. at the library.

The meeting will also serve to elect three members to the library's board of trustees in the place of the three members whose terms expire: A. S. Hickey, Mrs. Harold S. King and Mrs. Ronald Herrick. All members in good standing are eligible to vote.

Reports from the librarian and the officers of the board will be received.

Rigby's talk will review plans for the celebration of this city's 300th anniversary and will include a report on progress made to date in promoting the anniversary program.

Cash Is Taken From Gas Station

Approximately $30 in cash was stolen sometime during the night from a gasoline station owned by Philip Sior at the intersection of Albany and Flatbush avenues, police reported.

The money was taken from the register after the thief had broken open its cash drawer, police said.

Inspection of the premises disclosed that entrance apparently was made through a rear window.

Detective Clarence Brophy is conducting the investigation.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL
A Column of Contrary Opinion

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

There is one contrary thought concerning economic trends in 1952 that the Ruminator thinks we should pay some attention to; namely, that there will be many sharp movements in prices and many new shocks.

This is not written simply to be sensational, but because this writer has been struck with the number of "opinions" he has noticed which take the viewpoint that things will rock along during the new year without much change.

It seems to me that there is more reason for anticipating "changes" in 1952 than at this time last year.

The year just passed fooled the majority of people because they expected severe shortages of civilian goods, rapid inflation, and high-tension war production. Well, as you know, quite the contrary happened: You could buy anything you wanted, inflation was definitely retarded, and war production only got under momentum as the year ended.

So, it seems to me that it is logical to expect some of the rapid changes this year that were looked for last year.

Take the matter of wages and prices. It certainly looks as if the unions will have a picnic at the expense of industries and stockholders in coming months. The steel controversy will set the pattern, of course. You may as well be prepared to see quite a generous deal made with the steel union sometime in the next couple of months. There won't be any settlement at a puny five or ten cents an hour. Doubtless be nearer twenty cents—but I'm only guessing, obviously.

Then the steel companies will be asked to absorb the cost-increases without raising a stew. It is an even guess at the moment what will happen, but don't be too surprised if the steel companies are forced to accept most of the added cost burden. Steel prices may be upped somewhat, but the Ruminator would be willing to wager a fifty-cent dollar that the increase in steel prices will not equal the wage rise. This is an election year and the government will make every deal possible that appeals to the masses. Obviously, the big appeal is to increase wages and take it out of profits. That is the "Fair Deal" we hear so much about.

And speaking of the Fair Deal, we'll probably get a new dose of that in the President's various messages to the Congress.

Over and above everything that will influence affairs in 1952 is the international situation.

From numerous reports—from newspaper correspondents, radio newsmen, private reports, etc.—one gets the composite feeling that conditions abroad are thought to be much better than they were a year ago.

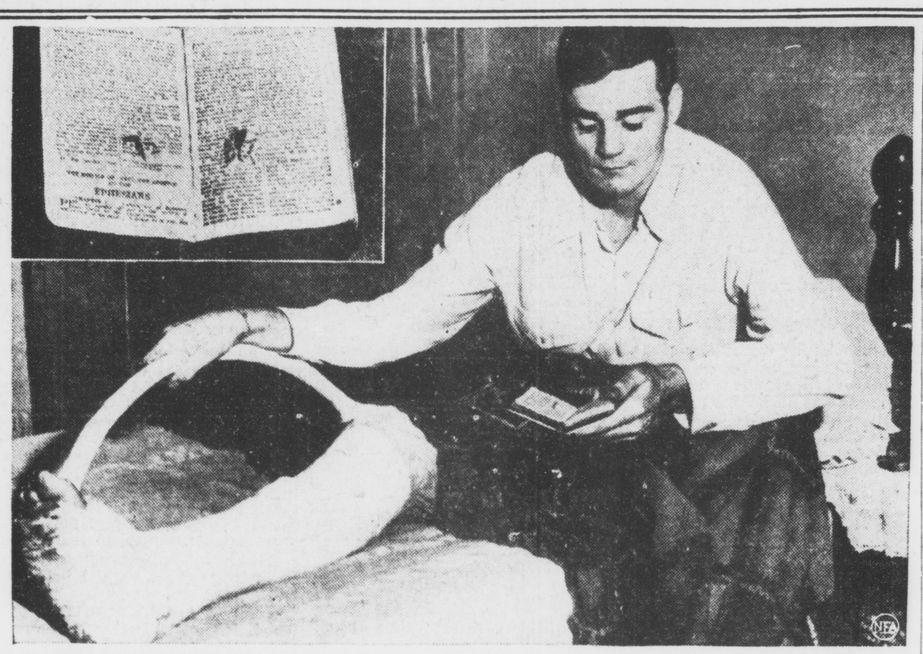

I think we should keep our fingers crossed on this viewpoint, too. Up until recently the Ruminator thought that general opinion was the other way around—was pessimistic on conditions abroad. I misjudged general opinions, I think, from what I have noted in the past few days—in the year-end reports and comments.

Probably the reason that observers appear to be more sanguine now than a year ago is because no great crisis occurred in western Europe during 1951. Inasmuch as Russia has made no overt move in Europe, and at the same time western nations have grown stronger, it is natural to be more cheerful on the outlook. Yet, we know that very often when things look quiet on the surface there are rough seas boiling up from underneath.

So, I think it would be prudent to expect some new shocks from the international viewpoint. The middle east, in particular, is literally a powder keg, as everyone recognizes. Also, the western European nations, including Great Britain, are not too happy about the manner in which we are attempting to boss the world. Prime Minister Churchill is certainly not coming over here for his health. He could not be making the journey unless he was convinced that there had to be a new modus operandi between our two nations—and between us and the rest of western Europe.

No, the Ruminator cannot see a status quo in 1952. (I seem to be using Latin terms this week, but the two used express the conditions accurately, so I'll let them ride, if you don't mind.)

Those who expect to see the stock and commodity markets rock along evenly this year will be surprised, too, I think. There is a good deal more likelihood of rather sharp moves — and it wouldn't be too surprising if the moves would be down, because so many are looking for steadiness or "up" markets this year.

SAVED BY SCRIPTURE—Lt. Richard P. Cassity of Charleston, W. Va., above, says he owes his life to the pocket Bible which he carried in a shirt pocket over his heart while fighting in Korea. Inset shows where a Communist slug penetrated halfway through the small Bible. Cassity was wounded in the leg several months after the incident.

Picking Up Pack Poses Problems

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"One of our recent games of Canasta brings up two problems," writes a Milwaukee correspondent. "I won the first discard pile, consisting of about twelve cards. There were five jacks in the pile, but the top card of the discard pile (used in my initial meld, naturally) was a king.

"First, do experts throw so many cards of the same rank into a pile? Would you expect to find five jacks in a pile of only twelve cards if all the players were first class players?

"Second, is it a good idea to meld some or all of those jacks?"

First, experts very often throw the same rank all around the table. If it looks like a safe discard it may be thrown by one side that hopes to win the pack. If it looks like a worthless card to hang on to, it may be thrown by a player who doesn't hope to win the pack but merely wants to build up his hand.

Second, it is a very bad idea to meld any of those jacks. In a poor game, the opponents may forget you have them if you just save them in your hand or discard a couple of them. But even in a good game, they should not be melded.

If you won a pack of twelve cards, you probably wound up with about fifteen or sixteen cards after you had made your irreducible initial meld. That is a good holding, but it is not big enough to give you complete control of the discard pile.

You can afford to discard the jacks and thus make room for fifteen or sixteen cards that will give you a good chance at the discard pile. If you melded the jacks, you would then have only about ten cards to use in this struggle.

Q—My partner, needing 90 points for the initial meld, put down three aces and a joker. Before discarding, he next put down two kings and tried to move the joker so as to make a meld with the kings. The opponents said he couldn't move the joker. He said his play wasn't finished until he had discarded. Who is right?

A—The opponents are right. The joker was part of a legal meld to begin with. The rule says that no card of a legal meld may be shifted to any other meld. The joker must stay with the aces. The player must do something about those two kings, now, to make them a meld of some kind.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

There is one contrary thought concerning economic trends in 1952 that the Ruminator thinks we should pay some attention to; namely, that there will be many sharp movements in prices and many new shocks.

This is not written simply to be sensational, but because this writer has been struck with the number of "opinions" he has noticed which take the viewpoint that things will rock along during the new year without much change.

It seems to me that there is more reason for anticipating "changes" in 1952 than at this time last year.

The year just passed fooled the majority of people because they expected severe shortages of civilian goods, rapid inflation, and high-tension war production. Well, as you know, quite the contrary happened: You could buy anything you wanted, inflation was definitely retarded, and war production only got under momentum as the year ended.

So, it seems to me that it is logical to expect some of the rapid changes this year that were looked for last year.

Take the matter of wages and prices. It certainly looks as if the unions will have a picnic at the expense of industries and stockholders in coming months. The steel controversy will set the pattern, of course. You may as well be prepared to see quite a generous deal made with the steel union sometime in the next couple of months. There won't be any settlement at a puny five or ten cents an hour. Doubtless be nearer twenty cents—but I'm only guessing, obviously.

Then the steel companies will be asked to absorb the cost-increases without raising a stew. It is an even guess at the moment what will happen, but don't be too surprised if the steel companies are forced to accept most of the added cost burden. Steel prices may be upped somewhat, but the Ruminator would be willing to wager a fifty-cent dollar that the increase in steel prices will not equal the wage rise. This is an election year and the government will make every deal possible that appeals to the masses. Obviously, the big appeal is to increase wages and take it out of profits. That is the "Fair Deal" we hear so much about.

And speaking of the Fair Deal, we'll probably get a new dose of that in the President's various messages to the Congress.

Over and above everything that will influence affairs in 1952 is the international situation.

From numerous reports—from newspaper correspondents, radio newsmen, private reports, etc.—one gets the composite feeling that conditions abroad are thought to be much better than they were a year ago.

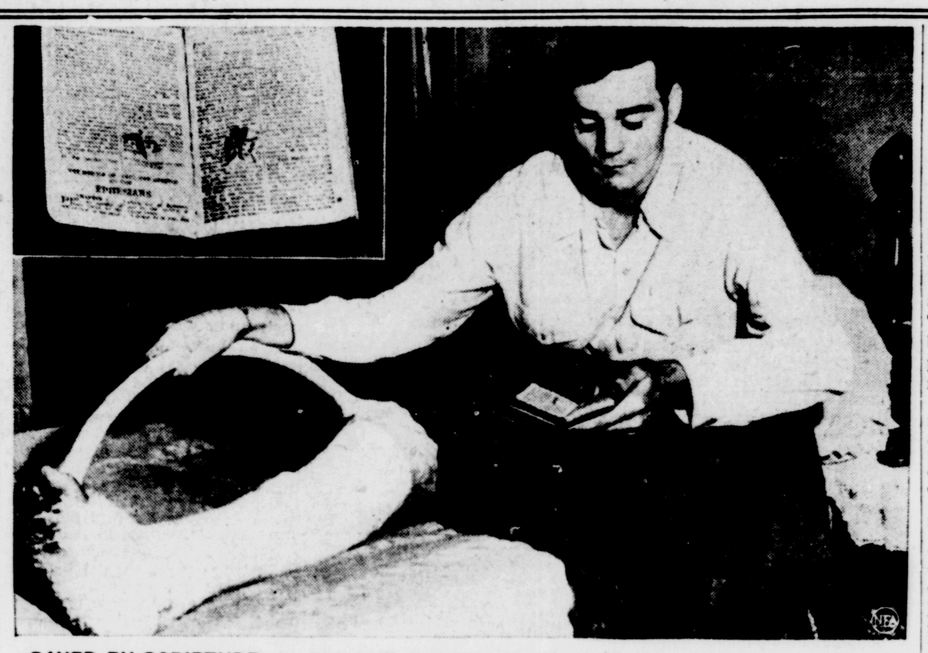

I think we should keep our fingers crossed on this viewpoint, too. Up until recently the Ruminator thought that general opinion was the other way around—was pessimistic on conditions abroad. I misjudged general opinions, I think, from what I have noted in the past few days—in the year-end reports and comments.

Probably the reason that observers appear to be more sanguine now than a year ago is because no great crisis occurred in western Europe during 1951. Inasmuch as Russia has made no overt move in Europe, and at the same time western nations have grown stronger, it is natural to be more cheerful on the outlook. Yet, we know that very often when things look quiet on the surface there are rough seas boiling up from underneath.

So, I think it would be prudent to expect some new shocks from the international viewpoint. The middle east, in particular, is literally a powder keg, as everyone recognizes. Also, the western European nations, including Great Britain, are not too happy about the manner in which we are attempting to boss the world. Prime Minister Churchill is certainly not coming over here for his health. He could not be making the journey unless he was convinced that there had to be a new modus operandi between our two nations—and between us and the rest of western Europe.

No, the Ruminator cannot see a status quo in 1952. (I seem to be using Latin terms this week, but the two used express the conditions accurately, so I'll let them ride, if you don't mind.)

Those who expect to see the stock and commodity markets rock along evenly this year will be surprised, too, I think. There is a good deal more likelihood of rather sharp moves — and it wouldn't be too surprising if the moves would be down, because so many are looking for steadiness or "up" markets this year.

Wet Snow Slows Traffic in Area

A wet snow which began falling about 9 p. m. Wednesday clung to branches and wires, transforming Ulster county overnight into a winter scene of much beauty. It also made highways and streets slippery, but no serious accidents were reported overnight.

The three-inch snowfall brought this season's total in the city to slightly more than 22 inches. The seasonal average for Kingston over a 16-year period is 39.35 inches, according to records maintained by the city's engineering department.

Temperatures last night and early this morning hovered about the freezing point, dropping to 31 degrees for a period of about two hours.

In Kingston, one slight accident was reported at the intersection of Wurts and McEntee streets at 3:25 a. m. today. Police said the matter was settled between the drivers.

Rafalowsky Heads 1952 Cancer Drive

It was announced today by the Ulster County Branch of the American Cancer Society that Herman G. Rafalowsky has accepted the chairmanship of the Cancer fund raising campaign committee which will get under way in April. Rafalowsky expects to name the members of his committee soon.

A member of the board of directors of the cancer society, Rafalowsky has always been enthusiastic in assisting with the work of the organization.

Trial Date Is Set

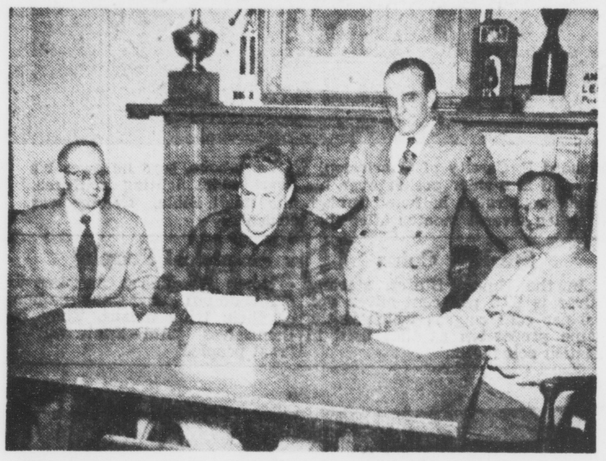

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan today set Jan. 21 for the trial of Harry Steinfield, Queens fur manufacturer, after he pleaded innocent to a charge of using the mails to defraud. Steinfeld, 40, of 98-09 64th Road, Forest Hills, is charged with mailing two false financial statements to obtain credit of $1,500,000. He is free under $10,000 bail.

This picture was taken somewhere on the Korean front. Center is Pvt. Donald D. Havens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Havens, of 123 Greenkill avenue, and two ROK soldiers. Pvt. Havens has been in Korea for three months and recently was awarded the Combat Infantryman's Badge and the Korean Service Ribbon with one campaign star. The picture was taken during a rest period.

To Convene Court Monday for Month

Justice Harry E. Schirick will convene the January trial term of Supreme Court Monday at 11 a. m. A trial and grand jury will be in attendance.

Justice Schirick also held the December trial term and at that term disposed of an unusually large number of cases. There were 71 cases marked settled and 13 cases were stricken from the calendar for various reasons. There were but six cases actually tried of the 90 cases which were disposed of.

At the outset of the term Justice Schirick set a goal of about ninety cases and through pre-trial conferences was able to reach that goal in his effort to reduce the number of cases on the calendar. It is the aim of the justices of the district to reduce the calendar to the extent that a case may be reached for trial within a year of the filing of the note of issue and in this way speed the ends of justice.

Each term cases oldest on the calendar are called first and usually before the newer cases are reached the term is concluded, giving newer issues little chance of being speedily reached. At the end of the January term, to which 45 additional cases have been added, Justice Schirick expects to have the calendar in Ulster county in such shape that cases may be reached for trial within a year of the commencement of the action.

West Point Delays Memorial Plans

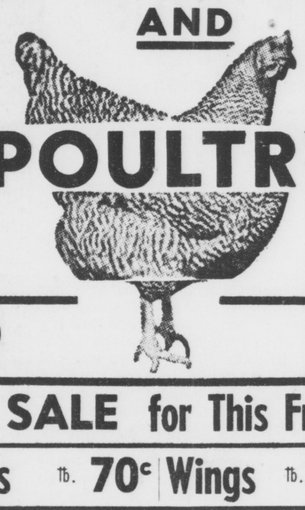

West Point, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—Arrangements for a memorial service here for 19 West Point cadets killed in an Arizona air crash were held in abeyance today to determine wishes of the parents.

A spokesman for the military academy said a memorial service undoubtedly would be conducted but that the time and type had not been determined.

He said that, as each body was removed from the Arizona mountainside, the victim's parents were being notified officially of the death. They are being asked also whether they prefer burial to be in a home cemetery or at the academy.

The spokesman said a memorial service might be held in conjunction with the burial service, if a number were buried at the academy, or that it might be held later.

Governor to Ask Blue Laws Change

Albany, Jan. 3 (AP)—Governor Dewey will ask the 1952 Legislature to eliminate what he terms the "more inconsistent" provisions of the state's Sunday "blue laws."

It was learned today that Dewey would ask the lawmakers to create a bi-partisan joint legislative committee to redraft the controversial laws.

He will suggest that the committee make an interim report at the coming session so that the "more inconsistent provisions" may be removed immediately.

The Legislature convenes next Wednesday.

The State Council of Churches, which represents about five million Protestants, already has urged that the state bring the laws "up to date." Lt. Gov. Frank C. Moore and several legislators also have called for changes.

Illegal to Fish

Dewey will note that, under the present laws, it is illegal to fish, stage track meets or engage in many other activities he reportedly feels do not interfere with the religious aspects of the Sabbath.

A golfer himself, the governor also will point out that a legal debate has been under way all summer on whether golf on public courses, especially those operated by the state, is legal on Sundays.

The target for the joint committee, will be section 2145 of the state penal law and its many amendments.

The section says that "all shooting, hunting, playing, horse-racing, gaming or other public sports, exercises or shows, upon the first day of the week, and all noises unreasonably disturbing the peace of the day are prohibited."

Ban Amended

However, the general ban has been amended to permit local governing bodies to allow baseball, football, basketball, hockey, soccer, bowling, movies and many other activities, such as dramatic and musical productions.

However, stock-car, motorcycle and bicycle races still are banned, so are boxing, wrestling and circuses.

The governor reportedly will claim that the original broad prohibitions have been whittled away through the years by numerous exemptions so that the present bans comprise illogical and inconsistent patterns.

Man Is Taken Ill While Held at Hall

Bernard Maines, 63, no home, suffered an attack of illness in a detention cell at city hall this morning while he was waiting transportation to the county jail, where he had been sentenced to spend 120 days on a public intoxication charge, police reported.

Maines was taken to Kingston Hospital, where his condition early this afternoon was reported as "fair." His sentence was later ordered suspended by City Judge Raymond Mino.

Maines was arrested on Wall street at 7:10 p. m. by Patrolmen Peter Camp and Thomas McGrane and he pleaded guilty to the charge when he was arraigned in city court this morning.

Potato Price Problem

Washington, Jan. 3 (AP)—The government said today an order to slap price controls of white potatoes has been completed but no decision has been reached as to when it will be issued. An Office of Price Stabilization aide said the regulation could be issued "on short notice." Potato prices have been rising rapidly since September.

Wet Snow Slows Traffic in Area

A wet snow which began falling about 9 p. m. Wednesday clung to branches and wires, transforming Ulster county overnight into a winter scene of much beauty. It also made highways and streets slippery, but no serious accidents were reported overnight.

The three-inch snowfall brought this season's total in the city to slightly more than 22 inches. The seasonal average for Kingston over a 16-year period is 39.35 inches, according to records maintained by the city's engineering department.

Temperatures last night and early this morning hovered about the freezing point, dropping to 31 degrees for a period of about two hours.

In Kingston, one slight accident was reported at the intersection of Wurts and McEntee streets at 3:25 a. m. today. Police said the matter was settled between the drivers.

Rafalowsky Heads 1952 Cancer Drive

It was announced today by the Ulster County Branch of the American Cancer Society that Herman G. Rafalowsky has accepted the chairmanship of the Cancer fund raising campaign committee which will get under way in April. Rafalowsky expects to name the members of his committee soon.

A member of the board of directors of the cancer society, Rafalowsky has always been enthusiastic in assisting with the work of the organization.

Trial Date Is Set

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan today set Jan. 21 for the trial of Harry Steinfield, Queens fur manufacturer, after he pleaded innocent to a charge of using the mails to defraud. Steinfeld, 40, of 98-09 64th Road, Forest Hills, is charged with mailing two false financial statements to obtain credit of $1,500,000. He is free under $10,000 bail.

To Convene Court Monday for Month

Justice Harry E. Schirick will convene the January trial term of Supreme Court Monday at 11 a. m. A trial and grand jury will be in attendance.

Justice Schirick also held the December trial term and at that term disposed of an unusually large number of cases. There were 71 cases marked settled and 13 cases were stricken from the calendar for various reasons. There were but six cases actually tried of the 90 cases which were disposed of.

At the outset of the term Justice Schirick set a goal of about ninety cases and through pre-trial conferences was able to reach that goal in his effort to reduce the number of cases on the calendar. It is the aim of the justices of the district to reduce the calendar to the extent that a case may be reached for trial within a year of the filing of the note of issue and in this way speed the ends of justice.

Each term cases oldest on the calendar are called first and usually before the newer cases are reached the term is concluded, giving newer issues little chance of being speedily reached. At the end of the January term, to which 45 additional cases have been added, Justice Schirick expects to have the calendar in Ulster county in such shape that cases may be reached for trial within a year of the commencement of the action.

West Point Delays Memorial Plans

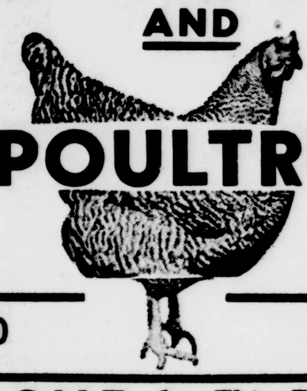

West Point, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—Arrangements for a memorial service here for 19 West Point cadets killed in an Arizona air crash were held in abeyance today to determine wishes of the parents.

A spokesman for the military academy said a memorial service undoubtedly would be conducted but that the time and type had not been determined.

He said that, as each body was removed from the Arizona mountainside, the victim's parents were being notified officially of the death. They are being asked also whether they prefer burial to be in a home cemetery or at the academy.

The spokesman said a memorial service might be held in conjunction with the burial service, if a number were buried at the academy, or that it might be held later.

Albany, Jan. 3 (AP)—Governor Dewey will ask the 1952 Legislature to eliminate what he terms the "more inconsistent" provisions of the state's Sunday "blue laws."

It was learned today that Dewey would ask the lawmakers to create a bi-partisan joint legislative committee to redraft the controversial laws.

He will suggest that the committee make an interim report at the coming session so that the "more inconsistent provisions" may be removed immediately.

The Legislature convenes next Wednesday.

The State Council of Churches, which represents about five million Protestants, already has urged that the state bring the laws "up to date." Lt. Gov. Frank C. Moore and several legislators also have called for changes.

Illegal to Fish

Dewey will note that, under the present laws, it is illegal to fish, stage track meets or engage in many other activities he reportedly feels do not interfere with the religious aspects of the Sabbath.

A golfer himself, the governor also will point out that a legal debate has been under way all summer on whether golf on public courses, especially those operated by the state, is legal on Sundays.

The target for the joint committee, will be section 2145 of the state penal law and its many amendments.

The section says that "all shooting, hunting, playing, horse-racing, gaming or other public sports, exercises or shows, upon the first day of the week, and all noises unreasonably disturbing the peace of the day are prohibited."

Ban Amended

However, the general ban has been amended to permit local governing bodies to allow baseball, football, basketball, hockey, soccer, bowling, movies and many other activities, such as dramatic and musical productions.

However, stock-car, motorcycle and bicycle races still are banned, so are boxing, wrestling and circuses.

The governor reportedly will claim that the original broad prohibitions have been whittled away through the years by numerous exemptions so that the present bans comprise illogical and inconsistent patterns.

Man Is Taken Ill While Held at Hall

Bernard Maines, 63, no home, suffered an attack of illness in a detention cell at city hall this morning while he was waiting transportation to the county jail, where he had been sentenced to spend 120 days on a public intoxication charge, police reported.

Maines was taken to Kingston Hospital, where his condition early this afternoon was reported as "fair." His sentence was later ordered suspended by City Judge Raymond Mino.

Maines was arrested on Wall street at 7:10 p. m. by Patrolmen Peter Camp and Thomas McGrane and he pleaded guilty to the charge when he was arraigned in city court this morning.

Potato Price Problem

Washington, Jan. 3 (AP)—The government said today an order to slap price controls of white potatoes has been completed but no decision has been reached as to when it will be issued. An Office of Price Stabilization aide said the regulation could be issued "on short notice." Potato prices have been rising rapidly since September.

Brodhead Is Held For Grand Jury on Assault Accusation

Percy Brodhead, 28, of 146 West Pierpont street, was ordered held for grand jury action after a trial in city court this morning on a second degree assault charge accusing him of striking Mrs. Mary Mapes, 39, with a shovel early New Year's morning.

Brodhead, who appeared in his own defense in court, stated that he had been struck on his head before the alleged assault upon Mrs. Mapes, and that he was acting in self defense.

Attorney Sherwood E. Davis, who appeared for the district attorney's office, called several witnesses, including Mrs. Mapes.

Says He Forced Door

After testifying as to the events during New Year's eve and early the following morning, Mrs. Mapes said she ran from Brodhead, went to her apartment at 157 Abeel street and locked the door. Brodhead forced his way into the apartment, grabbed a shovel, and the two tusseled in the kitchen, during which time Mrs. Mapes grabbed a cooking pot and struck Brodhead. Mrs. Mapes testified.

She testified that she ran into the bedroom, locked the door, but that again Brodhead forced his way in and struck her with the shovel.

Claims She Hit Him

Brodhead in his statement said that he had been hit with something while they were still in the automobile before Mrs. Mapes ran inside the house. He further contended that "if the door was locked, it didn't take any force to push it in," and that "if I hit her in the bedroom with a shovel, I was acting in self defense because I had a gash on my head."

He also stated that after Mrs. Mapes fell to the floor, he called police and remained at the Abeel street apartment until they arrived.

Also called to appear at the trial was Patrolman George Loughran, who with Patrolman James Harbeck answered the call at 2:57 a. m. Tuesday.

Was Cut on Face

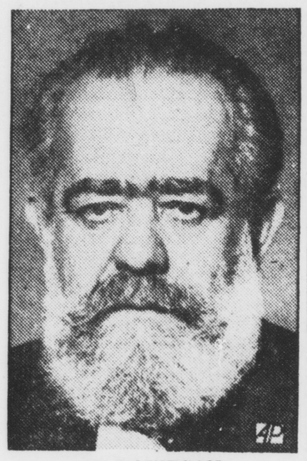

After hearing the evidence, Judge Raymond Mino stated that he believed the evidence warranted holding the defendant for the action of the grand jury, and that Brodhead could make application for bail.

In court today, Mrs. Mapes, who was treated at Kingston Hospital on New Year's Day and discharged later the same day, displayed several marks on her face and left arm which she claimed were inflicted by Brodhead.

Rural Carrier Retires

Sanborn, Minn. (AP)—Route 2 is now only a memory for Ed Radtke, 69, who gave up the rural mail chore recently. Ed made the rounds for 46 years, using the same Model T Ford for the last 26. He had a total of 20 cars during his career of carrying letters, papers and packages to the 152 boxes on the 45-mile route. He uesd to find dressed poultry, eggs and other produce in the mailboxes during the holiday season. But most of all, he misses the people along Route 2. "You just can't help remembering the people," he says.

Jo Davidson, 68, Dies in France of Heart Ailment

JO DAVIDSON

Paris, Jan. 3 (AP)—Jo Davidson, 68, famed American sculptor died of a heart attack last night at his country home in central France.

The bearded sculptor, who rose from New York's lower East Side tenements to the top level of art and living, had been regarded as in relatively good health despite a few minor heart attacks in recent months.

Davidson was stricken late yesterday afternoon at Becheron, the estate he owned at Azay-Le-Rideau, near Tours. He was taken to the Tours Clinic for emergency treatment and died four hours later while asleep under sedatives.

"He couldn't say anything before he died, poor dear," said Mrs. Davidson, who was with him. Andre (Dig) Dignimont, noted French cartoonist and painter, also was at the bedside. Dignimont and his wife had been holiday house guests of the Davidsons.

Davidson, widely known for his wit and zest for living, spent considerable time in the Touraine area, which was the home of Francois Rabelais, a lusty wit and Davidson's literary idol. Davidson was a founder of the "Compagnons De Rabelais," world-wide organization devoted to following Rabelaisaian precepts of fun and laughter.

Burial in Paris

Funeral arrangements were being made today. Burial probably will be in Paris, his widow said.

Many of the great men of his time sat for Davidson sculpture and many of his works are on permanent display in museums and government buildings over the world.

In recent years he had taken an interest in political and social trends.

He won many prizes, including the French Legion of Honor. He had lived and studied many years in Paris but had maintained a New York home until recently.

Among his subjects were Franklin D. Roosevelt, John D. Rockefeller, Sr., Albert Einstein, Will Rogers and great figures of the world wars.

He returned to France Dec. 20 from Israel after doing busts of that nation's leaders, including President Chaim Weizmann, Premier David Ben-Gurion and Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett.

Mrs. Davidson said the sculptor had appeared tired after the trip to Israel where, she said, "he did a great amount of work." She said he had a bronchial condition which affected his heart.

The sculptor became interested in politics through the Artists and Writers Committee for Roosevelt in 1944. Three years later he became co-chairman of the Progressive Citizens of America and later was made honorary chairman. He was a co-chairman of the Wallace-for-President committee in 1948, supporting the candidacy of former Vice-President Henry A. Wallace.

Settlement Broken Up

Johore Bahru, Malaya (AP)—A spokesmen for the Johore state government has explained why the Mawai settlement of 1,200 was abandoned and its families resettled in other areas. The settlement could not be defended against Communist terrorists. The residents said they did not wish to be put behind wire in the area, he said.

Murray Gives . . .

a news conference last night he expects to be in Washington Monday for the first Wage Stabilization Board hearing on the great steel dispute.

Since the WSB does not conduct hearings in labor controversies where a strike exists, Murray's statement was a potent tip that the nation's steel mills will continue to pour steel for important defense and civilian customers.

An indefinite strike postponement is expected by many observers.

Talks to Newsmen

Murray talked to newsmen after a meeting of the union's executive board. That 35-man policy-making body drew up undisclosed recommendations for the convention. Murray declined to reveal what the board will recommend and said he wasn't sure whether the suggested action will be submitted to delegates at the opening session or whether a meeting tomorrow will be necessary.

The convention was called by the union's wage-policy committee after contract negotiations with the steel industry bogged down and government mediators failed to get them rolling again.

The USW wants an 18½ cent hourly pay hike for workers now earning about $1.93 an hour, plus a union shop, guaranteed annual wage, elimination of wage inequities and other concessions.

The industry, led by United States Steel Corporation, made no wage offer and proposed to forego a price increase if the union agreed to give up its wage demand. Present federal controls limit the USW to pay a boost of eight or nine cents an hour. Industry wants price relief before granting any pay hike.

Dispute Is Referred

The stalemate brought the government into the picture, with President Truman finally referring the dispute to the WSB and asking for continued steel production past the Dec. 31, 1951, contract expiration. The USW's 136-man wage policy committee directed the workers to stay on the job until the convention outlined the union's future course.

Murray, who also heads the CIO, and long has been friendly with the Truman administration, told newsmen he hopes for a quick recommended settlement by the WSB. That group can only recommend. Its findings aren't binding. The WSB, however, may be able to count on public pressure to work for acceptance of whatever recommendation it makes.

One tentative convention program highlight was stricken off before delegates gathered. President Benjamin F. Fairless of U. S. Steel declined to address the group. Murray invited Fairless to present the industry's side, but the steel official said he wouldn't. He contended the unionists all had fixed opinions.

The labor leader said Fairless sent an aid to USW headquarters with a stipulation that the public and newsmen would have to be barred if Fairless appeared. Murray declared:

"All Mr. Fairless wanted to do was to come read a paper to the delegates and run."

Murray said he declined the request.

Asked to comment on Fairless' stand, Murray said with a grin:

"I'll reserve the comment but I wouldn't say it was a reserved comment."

When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Local Zionist Organization to Present Israel Artists at Temple Emanuel Jan. 13 have been on tour in this country with the Here's Israel caravan for the past two months under the auspices of the Zionist Organization of America will be presented in the Temple Emanuel Vestry rooms, Sunday, Jan. 13, at 8:30 p. m., it was announced today by Harry Streifer, president of the local Zionist district. The artists are Shoshana Damari, folk singer; Ralph J. Kaplan, author and philosopher; and Moshe Wilensky, concert pianist and composer.

The cross country good will tour was launched to further the organization's program to strengthen the cultural link between American Jewry and Israel, with particular emphasis on support of Israel's role as a citadel of democracy in the Middle East, according to a statement made by Benjamin G. Browdy, president of the ZOA.

"The emergence of the State of Israel more than three years ago," said Mr. Browdy, "has brought into sharp focus Israel's role in absorbing and salvaging the lives of countless homeless from all parts of the world. Moreover it has underscored the strategic position of the fledgling state as a key factor for the stability and peace of the world.

"The close relationship that has been established between Israel and the United States will be immeasurably cemented through the building of a cultural bridge between both countries. This can be best achieved by bringing the message of Israel through the living word; a first hand contact with Israel's culture and entertainment, to major communities in this country," said Mr. Browdy.

Third Social Event Is Planned by Moose

Kingston Lodge, 970, Loyal Order of Moose is preparing for its third social event within a short span, the Booster Dinner scheduled for Monday, Jan. 7.

The dinner is one of the features of the membership campaign being conducted by the fraternal order, which has signed Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk as leader of the new class which is expected to contain 100 enrollees.

Two of the most recent social events held by the lodge were the Christmas party for children and New Year's Eve celebration for members and friends.

When Santa arrived for his annual Moose visit to the youngsters, 200 smiling faces greeted him at the club on West Chestnut street, where there were refreshments and gifts. Entertainment was furnished by Lucielle's dancing school with musical accompaniment by Julia Sisco.

The New Year's party was very successful, according to committee reports, and those attending had an enjoyable time.

Future Bride

MISS JUNE KELDER

Mr. and Mrs. William Kelder of Bloomington announce the engagement of their daughter, June, to Thomas Schatzel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schatzel of 14 Spruce street, this city.

Former Resident's Daughter Wed in Rockville Center

Miss Jacqueline Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Meyer of 267 Morris avenue, Malverne, and Army Private Nicholas Karamessinis, son of Mrs. Michael Chambers of New York were married Saturday in the Rockville Centre Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Charles Souter officiated at the ceremony. A reception followed. The bride's mother, the former Miss Helen A. McCausland, was a resident of this city.

The bride wore a white brocaded satin gown fashioned with a fitted bodice and full skirt. Her fingertip illusion veil fell from a headpiece of rose point heirloom lace and she carried an old fashioned bouquet.

Miss Mary Hansen of Manhattan was maid of honor. Miles Borden of Kings Point served as best man and the ushers were Robert Smith of Amityville and William Hardy of Rochester.

Mrs. Karamessinis was graduated from Malverne High School and will be graduated this month from Oswego State Teachers College. Private Karamessinis, a graduate of the same college, is stationed at Fort Dix, N. J.

Holiday Spirit at Benedictine Hospital

The peace and happiness of Christmas prevailed in the Benedictine Hospital throughout the holidays. Members of the Auxiliary decorated the reception halls of the hospital. Beautiful Christmas wreaths were in evidence everywhere, and Yule logs with candles were placed in the windows of the patients rooms.

Several days before Christmas, the patients were more than thrilled by the beautiful carols played by members of Local 215, quartet of musicians under the direction of Bob Steuding, accompanied by William Steuding, John Napolene and Ole Christensen.

The children's ward was generously remembered with beautiful favors made by a group of pupils from the Campus School in New Paltz.

On Christmas Eve, at noon, the patients were delighted with the beautiful carols sung by the 6th and 7th grade pupils from the Immaculate Conception School.

A great surprise and much pleasure was given the patients on the day following Christmas when the Rural Carolers, as the 25 Seminarians from St. Joseph's Seminary in Dunwoodie, Yonkers, call themselves, sang the sacred Christmas carols.

The members of the Junior Catholic Daughters of America were again generous in their distribution of their attractive favors for every patient in the hospital.

The Salvation Army too were solicitous in their distribution of gift packages and useful books for the patients reading.

The merchants were most generous and many friends contributed an abundance of poinsettias and attractive plants which made the chapel and hospital a scene of beauty.

The Benedictine Sisters and the entire staff are most grateful for the thoughtful remembrances of their many friends in contributing so generously towards the happiness of their patients.

Miss June Croswell Is Engaged to Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Roy Croswell of 52-22 Metropolitan avenue, Brooklyn, announce the engagement of their daughter, June Lee to Robert W. Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Davidson of Maspeth.

Miss Croswell attended Kingston High School and is a graduate of Grover Cleveland High School.

Mr. Davidson is a graduate of Newton High School. He has served in the U. S. Navy.

PAYING RESTAURANT CHECK

How to pay eight dinner checks is the subject of the following letter: "I belong to a bridge club consisting of eight women. Every so often we go out to dinner and the theatre. This is all Dutch treat of course. When we are given the restaurant check we never know quite how to handle the payment of it, and there is always a shuffling around of money which is very embarrassing. Is there some way this can be handled inconspicuously?"

The most practical thing to do is to appoint one in the group the treasurer and each give her the same amount of money beforehand, let's say five dollars, or whatever, and then she pays the bill and returns to each the change that is due her.

Eating Banana

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it correct to eat a whole banana in the fingers when seated at table?

Answer: Although it is not bad manners to peel the skin halfway down and eat the fruit bite by bite, at table, it is perhaps better manners to peel the skin all the way off, lay the fruit on your plate, cut it in slices, and eat with a fork.

Especially When Ushering

Dear Mrs. Post: At a formal daytime wedding where all of the men in the wedding party are wearing cutaway coats and striped trousers do the ushers wear their grey gloves while ushering, or only to and from the church?

Answer: It is for ushering that they wear them.

Parents of Attendants

Dear Mrs. Post: When only the immediate families of the bride and groom are invited to a dinner following the ceremony, is it necessary to invite the parents of the bride's attendants?

Answer: Not usually! But those might be who are really intimate friends of one or the other family.

Miss Jennie Apa Weds Pvt. Carmine Spada

Miss Jennie Mary Apa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Apa, 97 Rock street, was married to Pvt. Carmine Spada, U. S. Army, stationed at Camp Kilmer, N. J., son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Spada, 14 Derrenbacher street, Dec. 15, in St. Mary's Church. The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, assistant pastor, officiated at the ceremony. A reception for 100 guests followed at Tommy's restaurant.

White carnations were used to decorate the church. Theodore Riccobono was the organist and Miss Barbara Bruck, soloist.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown fashioned with basque bodice, long pointed sleeves and nylon tulle yoke. Her full skirt, with pleated nylon tulle godet, ended in a cathedral train. Her silk illusion three quarter length veil was attached to a headpiece of satin and starched lace.

Miss Frances Apa was her sister's only attendant. With her teal blue gown of velveteen and nylon net, she wore a shoulder capelet and a headpiece of curled ostrich feathers.

Sergeant Charles Greco of Glasco, now stationed on Long Island, was his cousin's best man.

Mrs. Spada is employed by the Hercules Powder Co. Private Spada was employed by Kingston Dresses, Inc., before entering the service.

Hoertel-Beach

Mrs. Lulu Beach was married to George W. Hoertel at the Stone Ridge Dutch Reformed Church parsonage, Wednesday. The Rev. Gerrit Timmer, pastor, performed the ceremony. The newlyweds are both residents of High Falls and will spend the winter months in Florida.

Personal Notes

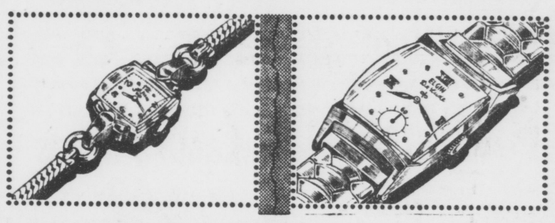

Miss Marianita Cahill has returned to Washington, D. C., after spending the holidays with her mother, Mrs. A. P. Cahill, 129 Pine Grove avenue.

Meyer of 267 Morris avenue, Malverne, and Army Private Nicholas Karamessinis, son of Mrs. Michael Chambers of New York were married Saturday in the Rockville Centre Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Charles Souter officiated at the ceremony. A reception followed. The bride's mother, the former Miss Helen A. McCausland, was a resident of this city.

The bride wore a white brocaded satin gown fashioned with a fitted bodice and full skirt. Her fingertip illusion veil fell from a headpiece of rose point heirloom lace and she carried an old fashioned bouquet.

Miss Mary Hansen of Manhattan was maid of honor. Miles Borden of Kings Point served as best man and the ushers were Robert Smith of Amityville and William Hardy of Rochester.

Mrs. Karamessinis was graduated from Malverne High School and will be graduated this month from Oswego State Teachers College. Private Karamessinis, a graduate of the same college, is stationed at Fort Dix, N. J.

Holiday Spirit at Benedictine Hospital

The peace and happiness of Christmas prevailed in the Benedictine Hospital throughout the holidays. Members of the Auxiliary decorated the reception halls of the hospital. Beautiful Christmas wreaths were in evidence everywhere, and Yule logs with candles were placed in the windows of the patients rooms.

Several days before Christmas, the patients were more than thrilled by the beautiful carols played by members of Local 215, quartet of musicians under the direction of Bob Steuding, accompanied by William Steuding, John Napolene and Ole Christensen.

The children's ward was generously remembered with beautiful favors made by a group of pupils from the Campus School in New Paltz.

On Christmas Eve, at noon, the patients were delighted with the beautiful carols sung by the 6th and 7th grade pupils from the Immaculate Conception School.

A great surprise and much pleasure was given the patients on the day following Christmas when the Rural Carolers, as the 25 Seminarians from St. Joseph's Seminary in Dunwoodie, Yonkers, call themselves, sang the sacred Christmas carols.

The members of the Junior Catholic Daughters of America were again generous in their distribution of their attractive favors for every patient in the hospital.

The Salvation Army too were solicitous in their distribution of gift packages and useful books for the patients reading.

The merchants were most generous and many friends contributed an abundance of poinsettias and attractive plants which made the chapel and hospital a scene of beauty.

The Benedictine Sisters and the entire staff are most grateful for the thoughtful remembrances of their many friends in contributing so generously towards the happiness of their patients.

Good Taste Today

PAYING RESTAURANT CHECK

How to pay eight dinner checks is the subject of the following letter: "I belong to a bridge club consisting of eight women. Every so often we go out to dinner and the theatre. This is all Dutch treat of course. When we are given the restaurant check we never know quite how to handle the payment of it, and there is always a shuffling around of money which is very embarrassing. Is there some way this can be handled inconspicuously?"

The most practical thing to do is to appoint one in the group the treasurer and each give her the same amount of money beforehand, let's say five dollars, or whatever, and then she pays the bill and returns to each the change that is due her.

Eating Banana

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it correct to eat a whole banana in the fingers when seated at table?

Answer: Although it is not bad manners to peel the skin halfway down and eat the fruit bite by bite, at table, it is perhaps better manners to peel the skin all the way off, lay the fruit on your plate, cut it in slices, and eat with a fork.

Especially When Ushering

Dear Mrs. Post: At a formal daytime wedding where all of the men in the wedding party are wearing cutaway coats and striped trousers do the ushers wear their grey gloves while ushering, or only to and from the church?

Answer: It is for ushering that they wear them.

Parents of Attendants

Dear Mrs. Post: When only the immediate families of the bride and groom are invited to a dinner following the ceremony, is it necessary to invite the parents of the bride's attendants?

Answer: Not usually! But those might be who are really intimate friends of one or the other family.

Miss Jennie Apa Weds Pvt. Carmine Spada

Miss Jennie Mary Apa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Apa, 97 Rock street, was married to Pvt. Carmine Spada, U. S. Army, stationed at Camp Kilmer, N. J., son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Spada, 14 Derrenbacher street, Dec. 15, in St. Mary's Church. The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, assistant pastor, officiated at the ceremony. A reception for 100 guests followed at Tommy's restaurant.

White carnations were used to decorate the church. Theodore Riccobono was the organist and Miss Barbara Bruck, soloist.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown fashioned with basque bodice, long pointed sleeves and nylon tulle yoke. Her full skirt, with pleated nylon tulle godet, ended in a cathedral train. Her silk illusion three quarter length veil was attached to a headpiece of satin and starched lace.

Miss Frances Apa was her sister's only attendant. With her teal blue gown of velveteen and nylon net, she wore a shoulder capelet and a headpiece of curled ostrich feathers.

Sergeant Charles Greco of Glasco, now stationed on Long Island, was his cousin's best man.

Mrs. Spada is employed by the Hercules Powder Co. Private Spada was employed by Kingston Dresses, Inc., before entering the service.

Hoertel-Beach

Mrs. Lulu Beach was married to George W. Hoertel at the Stone Ridge Dutch Reformed Church parsonage, Wednesday. The Rev. Gerrit Timmer, pastor, performed the ceremony. The newlyweds are both residents of High Falls and will spend the winter months in Florida.

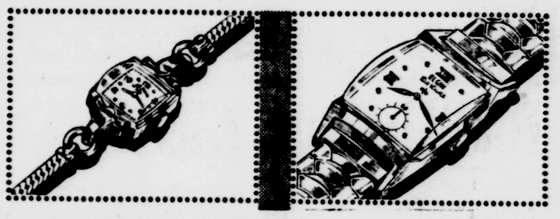

Personal Notes

Fined in Failure to Pay Damage to Woman's Car

Richard E. Smith, 19, of High Falls was arrested on a warrant Wednesday charging him with operating a car without a license. The complainant was Evelyn Williams of High Falls who charged that on December 24, a car operated by Smith struck and damaged a car owned by her. At the time an agreement was made to pay for the damage.

County Investigator Arthur H. Brown arrested Smith and arraigned him before Justice of the Peace John L. Smith where a plea of guilt to driving without a license was entered and a $25 fine imposed and an agreement was made to pay for damage to complainant's car.

Fox Reaches End of Line

Plandome, N. Y. (AP)—A red fox that had been fooling commuters hereabouts came recently to the end of the line—the Long Island railroad line. Nearly dead, the animal was found by a workman beneath the station here. Apparently it had touched the electrified third rail. Few commuters who gaped at the bushy-tailed beauty realized that fox inhabited this region at the end of the line but within sight of Manhattan's towers.

Budapest Radio Tells of Rumors Affecting Money

Vienna, Austria, Jan. 3 (AP)—Rumors of a devaluation of the Hungarian currency are presently turning the Hungarian capital into a "lunatic-asylum", radio Budapest said late last night.

The broadcast accused British-American agents of having caused a panic among the city's population by spreading rumors of an impending devaluation of Hungarian banknotes of higher value.

"For two days Budapestians are trying to buy whatever they can get for their money," the radio said. It added that especially luxury goods, phonograph records and stamps were being bought by the public.

Describing the rumors as blunt lies and attempts to create unrest, the radio appealed to the population to keep its senses together.

Fox Reaches End of Line

Plandome, N. Y. (AP)—A red fox that had been fooling commuters hereabouts came recently to the end of the line—the Long Island railroad line. Nearly dead, the animal was found by a workman beneath the station here. Apparently it had touched the electrified third rail. Few commuters who gaped at the bushy-tailed beauty realized that fox inhabited this region at the end of the line but within sight of Manhattan's towers.

Budapest Radio Tells of Rumors Affecting Money

Vienna, Austria, Jan. 3 (AP)—Rumors of a devaluation of the Hungarian currency are presently turning the Hungarian capital into a "lunatic-asylum", radio Budapest said late last night.

The broadcast accused British-American agents of having caused a panic among the city's population by spreading rumors of an impending devaluation of Hungarian banknotes of higher value.

"For two days Budapestians are trying to buy whatever they can get for their money," the radio said. It added that especially luxury goods, phonograph records and stamps were being bought by the public.

Describing the rumors as blunt lies and attempts to create unrest, the radio appealed to the population to keep its senses together.

80,000 HORSES!

From Danskammer Point Steam Station electrical energy is now flowing equal to the work of 80,000 horses . . . 60,000 kilowatts . . . enough electricity to serve the homes, stores and factories of a city of 160,000 people.

- This huge new generating station consumes enough coal in one year to heat 25,000 average-size homes!
- In one day enough Hudson River water passes through the plant for steam condensing purposes to supply the domestic water use of ten cities the size of Poughkeepsie!
- The outside rim of the largest turbine wheel travels faster than the speed of sound . . . at a speed sufficient to circle the earth each 33 hours!

But Danskammer Point Steam Station has deeper significance than mere facts and figures. It is renewed evidence of the sincere desire of Central Hudson to assure its customers of dependable and reliable electric service. It is a clear indication of the Company's faith in the continued development and growth of the progressive area it serves.

Built at a cost of more than $12.000,000 it is the first of a four-unit generating station which will eventually stand on this site. A second unit has been planned to go into service in 1954.

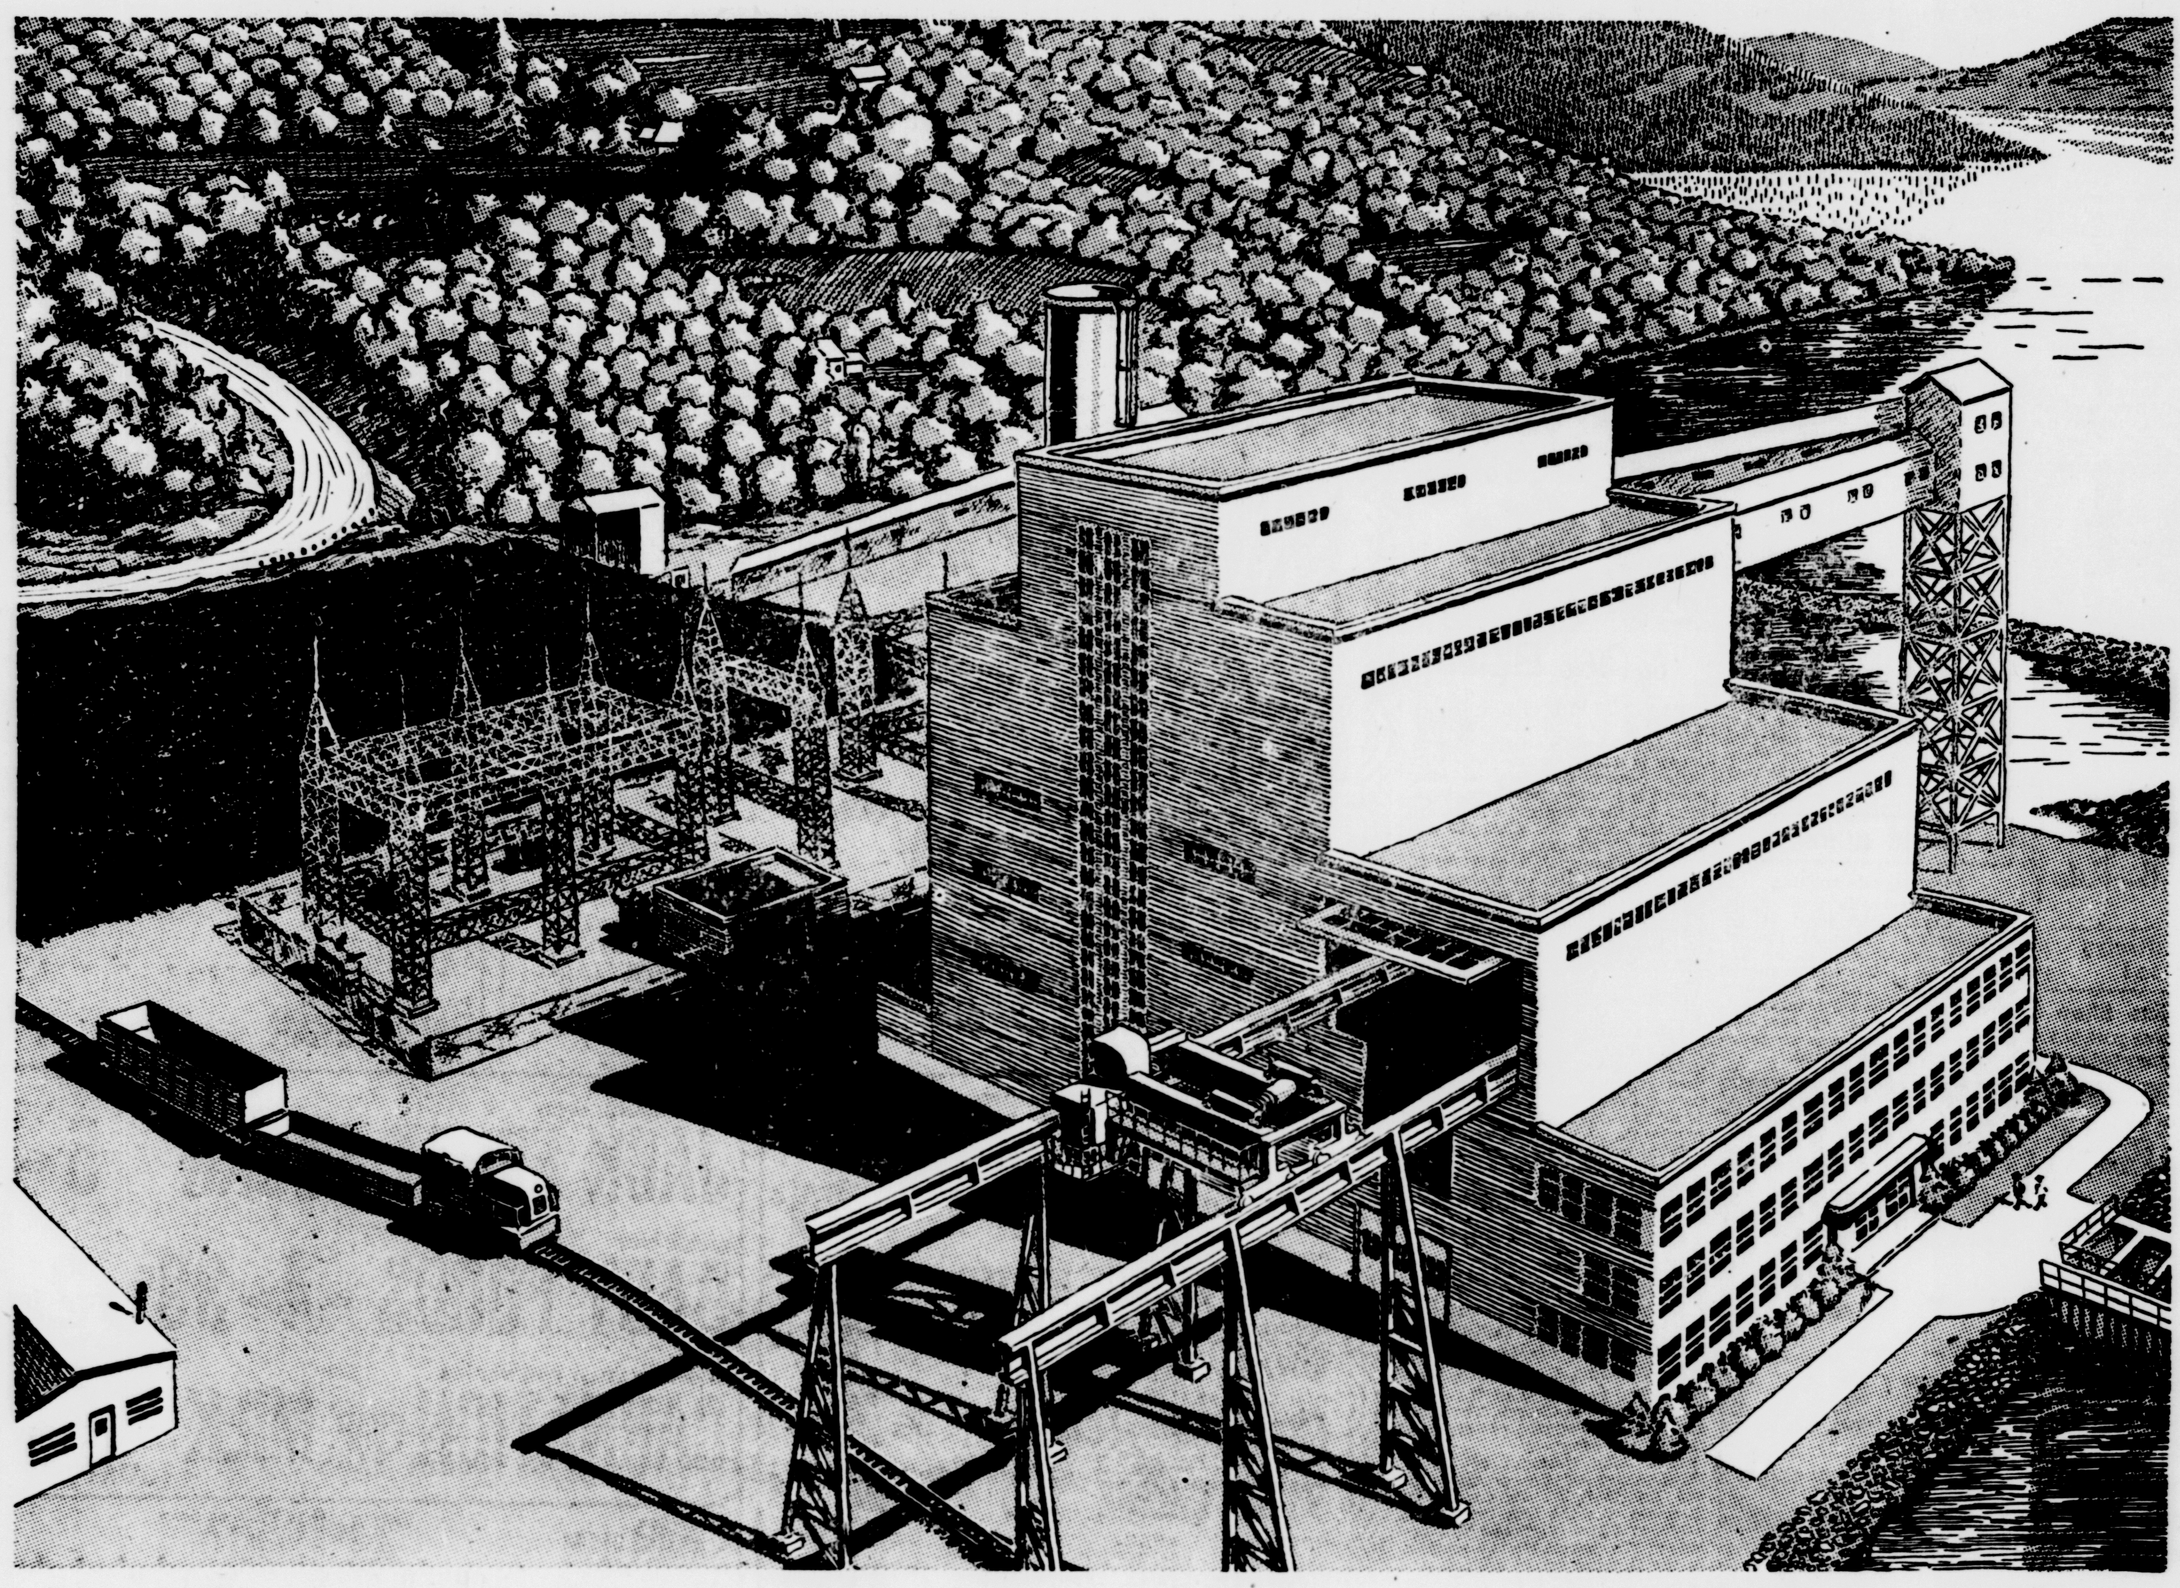

Danskammer Point Steam Station is an enduring symbol of the American Way of life. The money to build it came from the savings of many people. The money you place for safekeeping in a bank, the life insurance you buy, the securities in which you invest . . . all these savings pooled together with those of countless others make possible the investment of such sums. Of course, the owners of these savings are entitled to payment for the use of their funds — and such payment is provided by the interest and dividends paid by the Company.

Danskammer Point Steam Station represents the largest single item ever added to the assessment rolls in this region and the resulting increase in tax collections will go far to help finance local schools and other public services.

This is the traditional American Way as opposed to the methods being advanced by the federal government today under which huge sums have been appropriated from tax collections to build the many tax-free, government-operated, government-financed, heavily-subsidized power projects now in existence throughout the country.

It is the Way which has developed thrift, individual initiative and the highest standard of living in all history.

Can't Get Along Without an Angle

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—Two boys returned from a West Indies cruise yesterday convinced that the earth is round but that life is full of angles.

Their particular angle centered on the point of how they both made the trip when only one passage was available

"I just figured an angle," explained their host, Mortimer Steinberg, Manhattan real estate man.

Steinberg had promised his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Margulis, of 90 Ven Air avenue, New Rochelle, N. Y. that he would take their son, Max, seven, on a cruise.

He booked passage on the Cunard liner Caronia, which sailed from New York on Dec. 21. But before the ship sailed, Max' brother, Robert, 14, raised a clamor to go along also. By that time there were no bookings left.

"We had Robert's baggage sent to the pier under Max' name."

Robert went aboard supposedly to see his brother off and just stayed aboard. When the ship was 15 miles beyond Ambrose light, Steinberg went to the purser, explained the ruse, and offered to pay Robert's fare.

Gets Artificial Legs

Chicago, Jan. 3 (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Mae Stevens, 25, Chicago's "frozen woman," received a pair of artificial legs yesterday from the Chicago welfare department. Both Mrs. Stevens' feet and ankles were amputated last March. She had been found on Feb. 8 frozen stiff in an alley with a body temperature of 64 degrees, the lowest ever recorded for survival in medical history. Normal body temperature is 98 plus degrees. Mrs. Stevens, a Negro, has been confined to the welfare department's convalescent home since last August after spending six months in Michael Reese Hospital.

Long Road to Education

Indio, Calif., (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Hatton Adams drives 85 miles every day to attend school. The high school sophomore lives with his family at an isolated desert water-pumping station. Until he was given a special driver's license last year, his mother had to make the 85-mile round trip—twice a day.

Vishinsky Charges U. S. Puts Chinese Troops at Points

Paris, Jan. 3 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky charged today that the United States is transporting Nationalist Chinese troops from Formosa to Thailand and western Burma.

He said they were intended for use as part of an American campaign of aggression against Communist China.

Vishinsky made the charges during a lengthy speech on a proposed new veto-free United Nations anti-aggression plan.

He said one of the dangers of the new plan was that "when events begin to take their course on the southern borders of China," the "legitimate defensive act" of China might be condemned as aggressive by the "American-controlled" Assembly and UN machinery put to work against that country.

Vishinsky said this is what happened in Korea.

Body Is Found

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—Police are trying to identify the frozen body of a man found yesterday on the west bank of the Hudson river near here. Coroner W. Ronan Campion said the body was clothed in blue coveralls and a brown jacket. Campion added that the man might have fallen from a boat.

CHOCOLATE CAKE IS A WINNER

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

When in doubt how to make your husband happy, bake a chocolate cake.

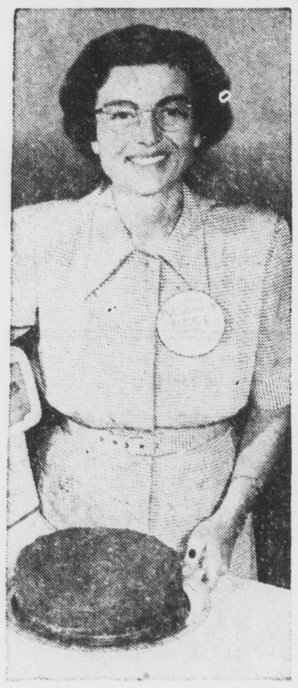

That's the advice of 39-year-old Mrs. S. P. Weston of La Jolla, California. She recently won the $25,000 Pillsbury third annual Bake-Off prize and a complete General Electric kitchen, worth $3,000, for her Starlight Double Delight chocolate cake.

Prize-winner Weston and Freda De Knight, nationally known food editor, author of the mouth-watering cook book, "Date With A Dish," and one of America's greatest cooks, for our money, disagree about the kind of chocolate cake men like best.

Mrs. Weston says they want it very, very sweet.

Mrs. De Knight says they don't like it too sweet, but want thick layers of rich chocolate frosting on it.

Mrs. Samuel P. Weston and her prize devil's food cake.

Mrs. Weston's Prize-Winning Cake

Cream together 2 packages (3 oz. size) cream cheese, ½ cup shortening, ½ teaspoon vanilla and ½ teaspoon peppermint extract until fluffy. Measure 6 cups (1½ lbs.) sifted confectioners' sugar. Blend half of the sugar into creamed cheese mixture. Add ¼ cup hot water alternately with balance of sugar. Blend in 4 squares (4 oz.) melted chocolate. Reserve half of mixture (2 cups) as frosting for baked cake.

Sift together 2¼ cups sifted enriched flour, 1½ teaspoons soda and 1 teaspoon salt. Combine ¼ cup shortening and remaining chocolate-frosting mixture; mix thoroughly. Blend in 3 eggs, one at a time. Beat for 1 minute. Measure ¾ cup milk; add alternately with sifted dry ingredients to creamed mixture, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. (With electric mixer use low speed.) Pour into two well-greased and lightly-floured 9-inch round layer pans. Bake at moderate (350 degrees F.) for 30 to 35 minutes. Cool; frost with reserved chocolate frosting. All ingredients should be at room temperature.

Freda De Knight's Sour Milk Chocolate Cake

One and a half cups flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 teaspoon soda, 3 teaspoons cocoa, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup sour milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter and sugar. Add 1 cup sour milk in which soda has been dissolved. Mix and sift dry ingredients. Add to sour milk mixture. Add vanilla and bake in layers or as cup cakes in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Frost with rich chocolate frosting or uncooked butter frosting.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Pineapple juice, soft-cooked eggs, oatmeal muffins, butter or fortified margarine, grape jelly, coffee, milk.

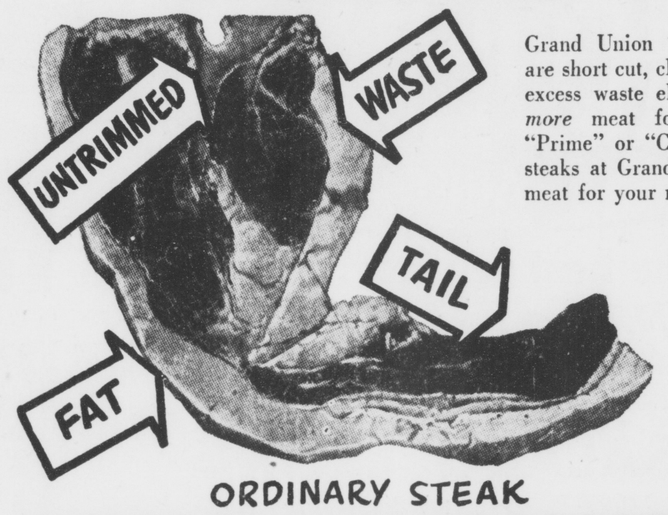

LUNCHEON: Vegetable soup in cups, crackers, toasted cheese sandwiches, celery, baked apples, tea, milk.

DINNER: Meat and vegetable loaf, tomato sauce, baked potatoes, quick-cooked cabbage, crusty bread, butter or fortified margarine, stewed apricots, chocolate cake, coffee, milk.

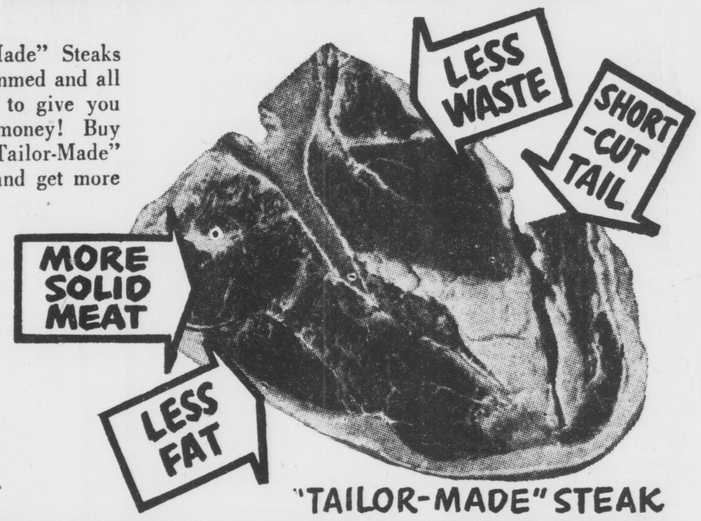

King Back on Job

Vientiane, Laos, Indochina (AP)—His Majesty Sisavang Vong, the King of Laos, is back in Vientiane after a long stay in France. The king recently reviewed soldiers of the infant Laotican army and French units. Two newly formed battalions of the Laotian army recently were outfitted with new American Army-type Garand rifles for operations against Communist-led Vietminh guerrillas who are infiltrating into this remote Indochinese kingdom.

As Pegler Sees It

Communist tricks. Now, the Truman government gives these people informal but very strong credentials to impose on French industry, to examine and size up weak and strong spots in their production lines and supplies and to do business with French unions.

It would be juvenile to take literally the word of the American ambassador who proudly insists that he is the only real American ambassador in the country to which he is accredited. He is one of our best men, certainly not a unioneer, and loyal to the country. Nevertheless, he is a Democrat and owes his highest position in life to date to Truman's appointment. It is not hard for a clever man to rationalize the statement that neither Reuther, Lovestone nor Irving Brown, Dave Dubinsky's special plenipotentiary in Belgium and France, has any authority.

Officially they have none. But in the practical sense they are very strong, for we have eased into our diplomatic system a functionary of the union racket known as the "labor attache" in all our embassies. And the "attache" is always a union man. Moreover, the embassies have been going in for a dangerous practice of "relying" on this Irving Brown, a total stranger to the American people, to out-scuffle the Communists in gangbattles, although no such incident has yet occurred. In one case, Brown's professional press-agents claimed, he organized a mob to throw Communist goons off the piers when the Reds threatened to seal off American boats bearing munitions to the new Joint European Army. Nothing of the kind happened. The American military officer in charge made a deal with the French unioneers to confine the strike to the other side of the river, where the American boats were not. The day was Sunday and the temptation of overtime heartily persuaded the Reds to the wisdom of the American general's position. Dubinsky's Brown took no part in this coup.

At this writing, I have just failed in another attempt to interview Mr. Brown. He was on a Christmas holiday at Innsbruck, Austria. Richard Eldridge, the American embassy's "labor" attache, and his assistant both were on home leave in the United States. It is not a hard life.

Now it is flatly understood that our State Department is giving informal cooperation to the unofficial and illegal organizations of the A.F. of L. and the C.I.O. The purpose is to thwart the Communist World Federation of Trade Unions in international labor politics and the Communist General Confederation of Labor in France. But the Communists are telling the truth when they charge our country with organized subversive activities in foreign lands. All this is subversive activity carried on by organizations with bad criminal records in our own country. It is all contrary to our own laws and our passport regulations and the people in charge have bad political reputations and their unions are notorious oppressors of millions of American workers. Nevertheless we find even some of our clergy praising this vicious conspiracy, solely because its purpose is to "save" European labor from Soviet communism. The alternative, however, is extreme socialism, and these clerics are pleading that the end justifies the means and the consequences.

This intrusion might have some grace if the racket bosses ever had shown the minimum traits of moral and civic decency. But they came here with dirty hands and no respectable Frenchman can be blamed for treating them as racketeers.

Written for NEA Service

Today's hand started an argument when it was played in a recent rubber bridge game at the Cavendish Club in New York. East thought that declarer had been peeking into his hand, and he said that declarer ought to be ashamed of himself.

West opened the jack of hearts, and South won with the queen. South thought for a moment or two and then led a diamond to dummy's queen. He returned a low diamond from dummy, and East followed with the eight of diamonds.

South thereupon finessed the nine of diamonds. East clutched his cards closer to his chest and began to grumble at once. Meanwhile South rattled off five diamond tricks, making his game contract very easily with a trick to spare.

The argument was easily settled. South restored the original cards to his own hand and the dummy and called over some of the experts who are always to be found in large numbers at the Cavendish Club.

South described the bidding and the opening lead, and asked the simple question: "How to play the hand?"

Every one of the experts crossed to dummy with the queen of diamonds and finessed the nine of diamonds on the way back. East was finally convinced that the actual declarer had made the right play without peeking.

The point is really very simple. South needs four diamonds to make his contract. In the process of developing four diamond tricks he must not allow East to gain the lead—for East would return a heart and set the contract.

South really expects to lose the finesse of the nine of diamonds, but that doesn't matter. If West can win the second round of diamonds, the rest of the suit will be South's, and the contract is safe. When the deep diamond finesse actually succeeds, of course, South makes his contract with an extra trick.

Teachers Union Would Give Reds Right to Serve

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—The Teachers Union (Ind.) wants the State Education Commissioner to spike a New York city resolution prohibiting the employment of Communist or subversive teachers.

The union, as a unit of the United Public Workers, was expelled from the CIO in 1950. The CIO contended the UPW was Communist-controlled.

In a statement yesterday, the teachers organization announced two challenges to an anti-Communist "statement of policy" adopted last Dec. 6 by the New York city board of education.

The challenges were brought by two teachers, Arthur Aaron and Miss Dorothy Bloch, who said the ban was unconstitutional.

The board declared in its resolution that "a teacher or other school employe who is a member of the Communist party or of a group advocating the overthrow of the government by force and violence is not qualified to continue in the school system."

The teachers union said both Aaron and Miss Bloch were questioned by school officials "concerning alleged association with the Communist party." Both teachers have denied such membership.

The State Education Department said the appeals would be referred to its counsel. A spokesman indicated Commissioner Lewis A. Wilson probably would set a date for a public hearing soon.

As Pegler Sees It

Communist tricks. Now, the Truman government gives these people informal but very strong credentials to impose on French industry, to examine and size up weak and strong spots in their production lines and supplies and to do business with French unions.

It would be juvenile to take literally the word of the American ambassador who proudly insists that he is the only real American ambassador in the country to which he is accredited. He is one of our best men, certainly not a unioneer, and loyal to the country. Nevertheless, he is a Democrat and owes his highest position in life to date to Truman's appointment. It is not hard for a clever man to rationalize the statement that neither Reuther, Lovestone nor Irving Brown, Dave Dubinsky's special plenipotentiary in Belgium and France, has any authority.

Officially they have none. But in the practical sense they are very strong, for we have eased into our diplomatic system a functionary of the union racket known as the "labor attache" in all our embassies. And the "attache" is always a union man. Moreover, the embassies have been going in for a dangerous practice of "relying" on this Irving Brown, a total stranger to the American people, to out-scuffle the Communists in gangbattles, although no such incident has yet occurred. In one case, Brown's professional press-agents claimed, he organized a mob to throw Communist goons off the piers when the Reds threatened to seal off American boats bearing munitions to the new Joint European Army. Nothing of the kind happened. The American military officer in charge made a deal with the French unioneers to confine the strike to the other side of the river, where the American boats were not. The day was Sunday and the temptation of overtime heartily persuaded the Reds to the wisdom of the American general's position. Dubinsky's Brown took no part in this coup.

At this writing, I have just failed in another attempt to interview Mr. Brown. He was on a Christmas holiday at Innsbruck, Austria. Richard Eldridge, the American embassy's "labor" attache, and his assistant both were on home leave in the United States. It is not a hard life.

Now it is flatly understood that our State Department is giving informal cooperation to the unofficial and illegal organizations of the A.F. of L. and the C.I.O. The purpose is to thwart the Communist World Federation of Trade Unions in international labor politics and the Communist General Confederation of Labor in France. But the Communists are telling the truth when they charge our country with organized subversive activities in foreign lands. All this is subversive activity carried on by organizations with bad criminal records in our own country. It is all contrary to our own laws and our passport regulations and the people in charge have bad political reputations and their unions are notorious oppressors of millions of American workers. Nevertheless we find even some of our clergy praising this vicious conspiracy, solely because its purpose is to "save" European labor from Soviet communism. The alternative, however, is extreme socialism, and these clerics are pleading that the end justifies the means and the consequences.

This intrusion might have some grace if the racket bosses ever had shown the minimum traits of moral and civic decency. But they came here with dirty hands and no respectable Frenchman can be blamed for treating them as racketeers.

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand started an argument when it was played in a recent rubber bridge game at the Cavendish Club in New York. East thought that declarer had been peeking into his hand, and he said that declarer ought to be ashamed of himself.

West opened the jack of hearts, and South won with the queen. South thought for a moment or two and then led a diamond to dummy's queen. He returned a low diamond from dummy, and East followed with the eight of diamonds.

South thereupon finessed the nine of diamonds. East clutched his cards closer to his chest and began to grumble at once. Meanwhile South rattled off five diamond tricks, making his game contract very easily with a trick to spare.

The argument was easily settled. South restored the original cards to his own hand and the dummy and called over some of the experts who are always to be found in large numbers at the Cavendish Club.

South described the bidding and the opening lead, and asked the simple question: "How to play the hand?"

Every one of the experts crossed to dummy with the queen of diamonds and finessed the nine of diamonds on the way back. East was finally convinced that the actual declarer had made the right play without peeking.

The point is really very simple. South needs four diamonds to make his contract In the process of developing four diamond tricks he must not allow East to gain the lead—for East would return a heart and set the contract.

South really expects to lose the finesse of the nine of diamonds, but that doesn't matter. If West can win the second round of diamonds, the rest of the suit will be South's, and the contract is safe. When the deep diamond finesse actually succeeds, of course, South makes his contract with an extra trick.

CPL. JOHN ROSSITZ

Cpl. John F. Rossitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rossitz of Bushnellsville, spent the Christmas holidays with his parents.

He entered the army February, 1951, and received his basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C. In July he was transferred into the aviation engineers and was sent to Fort Huachuca, Ariz., where he was promoted to corporal. Since September, 1951, he has been training and teaching carpentry. Upon his return to the Arizona camp, he expects to be shipped to the Far East.

Sicklers in Marines

The local marine corps recruiting office has announced the enlistment of Edward O. Sickler, 17, and Francis J. Sickler, 19, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Sickler, 173 Lincoln street. The Sickler brothers enlisted on December 28 for a period of three years and will take their basic training at Parris Island, S. C. Edward and Francis are members of the 156th Field Artillery, National Guard, and both attended Kingston High School. Edward was employed by the Skyline Manufacturing Co.

Serves in Korea

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Steeley, Sr., of Rosendale, have received word that their son, Cpl. Teachers Union Would Give Reds Right to Serve

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—The Teachers Union (Ind.) wants the State Education Commissioner to spike a New York city resolution prohibiting the employment of Communist or subversive teachers.

The union, as a unit of the United Public Workers, was expelled from the CIO in 1950. The CIO contended the UPW was Communist-controlled.

In a statement yesterday, the teachers organization announced two challenges to an anti-Communist "statement of policy" adopted last Dec. 6 by the New York city board of education.

The challenges were brought by two teachers, Arthur Aaron and Miss Dorothy Bloch, who said the ban was unconstitutional.

The board declared in its resolution that "a teacher or other school employe who is a member of the Communist party or of a group advocating the overthrow of the government by force and violence is not qualified to continue in the school system."

The teachers union said both Aaron and Miss Bloch were questioned by school officials "concerning alleged association with the Communist party." Both teachers have denied such membership.

The State Education Department said the appeals would be referred to its counsel. A spokesman indicated Commissioner Lewis A. Wilson probably would set a date for a public hearing soon.

Lew Hymes Blasts 274-663; Evelyn Francis Leads Women

Former Sets New Central Rec Mark

Veteran Lou Hymes sizzled through the weekly action in the Central Rec Major League Wednesday night with an opening four-timer and bouncing back with a six-time strike spree for a new 274 single record and a hefty 663 series.

The 274 blast eclipsed the former solo record of 260 held by Charlie Grunenwald.

While Hymes led the individual bowlers last night, Evelyn Francis, a promising keglerette for a few years running, ended her 1951-1952 slump with a neat 536 triple to lead the Colonial Women's League at the Bowlatorium.

Piling up wood for his 274 game, Hymes opened with four strikes, then had a seven-pin fill, a spare and six more strikes to complete the robust game.

His other counts were for 189 and 200 even for the 663 series.

Broskie Raps 628

Following Hymes' 274—663 blast in the Central Rec Major, a couple of 600s were turned in by Harold Broskie and Tom Welch, both also achieving the hat trick.

Other top pinfall included George Robinson with 220—594; John "Red" Sangi 206—588; Ken Williams 233—586; Cliff Quick 213—579; Harry Smith 224-200—579; Larry Weishaupt 202—576; George Flemings 202—574; Ed Heins 225—570; and Jack Houghtaling with a 239 single.

Displaying some of her top form, Evelyn Francis' 536 triple was put around scores of 167-186-183 in the Colonial Women's League. Elizabeth Bruck posted 529; Ada Markle 514; Mary Wyant 512; Rose Rhymer 488; Phyl Gehringer 475; Charlotte Lapine 472; Rose Schatzel 471; Winnie Overfield 470; Kay Brodhead 468; Carrie Mohr 467; Bertha Schaller 466; Dot Rawding 462; Betty Bailey 461 and Dot Khederian 460. Mae Martalto hit 213—452, turning in the lone 200 of the night.

In the Silver class of the Colonial Women's loop, Helen Bordenstein turned in 140-147-179 for 466. Marion O'Donnell rolled 464; Mabel Davis 459; Dora Manfro 454; Marie Kelekian 453.

Sue Healy's 170-133-144 for 447 topped the Purple Division. Pauline Barth posted 446; Nancy Hussey 438; Anna Mitchell 432; Anna Berardi 428; Gwen Hulsair 427; Ruth Toffel 427; Peggy Duffy 406 and Mabel MacAvery 404.

Bill Johnson was runnerup to Ed Heins in the Junior Major circuit with a pair of 200's—215 and 218—for 616. Herb Sleight rolled 214-575; Ed Ougheltree 549; Tom Provenzano 214-548; Tony Albany 544; Ernie Bartroff 537; J. Spadafora 202-537 and George Magley 536.

Other good pinfall in the CYO loop belonged to Nick Bruck who polished off 554; Ed Koskie 203-540; John Zeeh 533; Gerard Kearney 202-522; Joe Mannello 517; Don Clausi 514; Ken Radel 202-504; Ed Lukas 503 and A. Maurer 502.

Closing Date Set

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—Nominations for the 1952 Belmont Stakes, final number in the triple crown of racing, will close Jan. 15. The Belmont, which follows the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, will retain the $100,000-added value, and is expected to be run on June 7, final Saturday of Belmont Park's spring meeting. Nominations also close Jan. 15 for the $50,000 Coaching Club American Oaks, for three-year-old fillies. The Belmont spring meeting runs from April 29 through June 9.

Robinson's 192 Tops Rec Major

George Robinson, the hard working secretary who handles the vital statistics for the Ferraro and Central Rec major ten pin leagues, is leading the latter circuit with a 192 average.

Mitzie Arlensky, the stylish southpaw, boasts 194 but has competed in only 18 games.

Ken Joseph trails the leader by a point with 191. Angelo Ferraro and Clifton Quick are tied with 190.

Pontiac Broadway Garage has opened up a seven-game lead over second place Jimmie's Inn and Amell's in the team race, with 32 wins and 13 losses.

Individual records are held by Charlie Gunenwald, 260, and Joe Ruzzo 706. Team marks are Miron Lumber's 1084 and Amell's 3063.

New State Ski Guide Available to Skiers

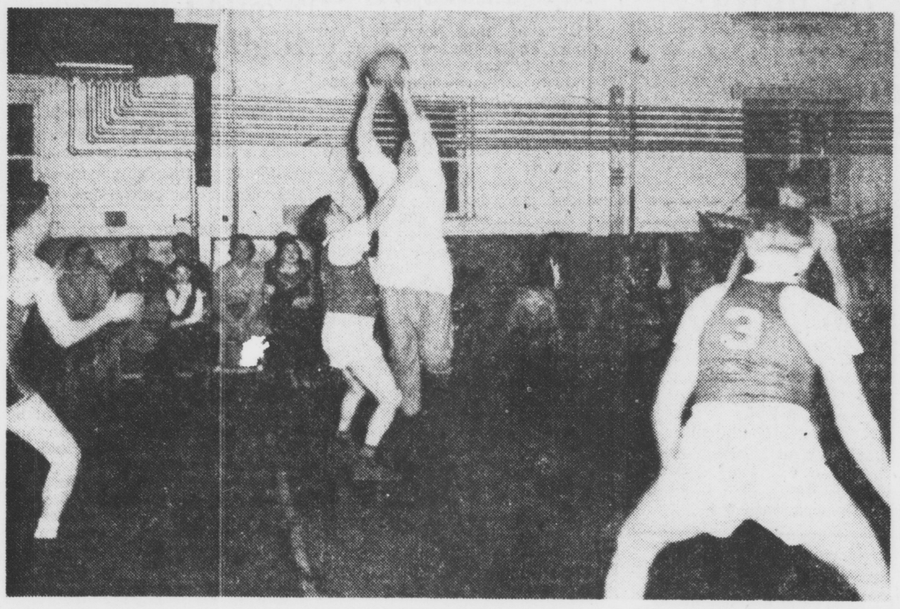

Albany, N. Y.—Publication of "Ski New York," a guide to ski centers in the state, was announced today by the State Department of Commerce.

The guide will be distributed to skiers as part of the department's program of promoting winter travel and recreation. The pocket-size booklet contains 56 pages and is illustrated with photographs of winter sports activities.

Seventy-seven ski centers are described in detail. Length, width and descent of slopes and trails is given and the hours of operation of lifts and tows. Instruction available and equipment for rent is listed. An item of special interest to motorists is the detail for each center showing highways to them.

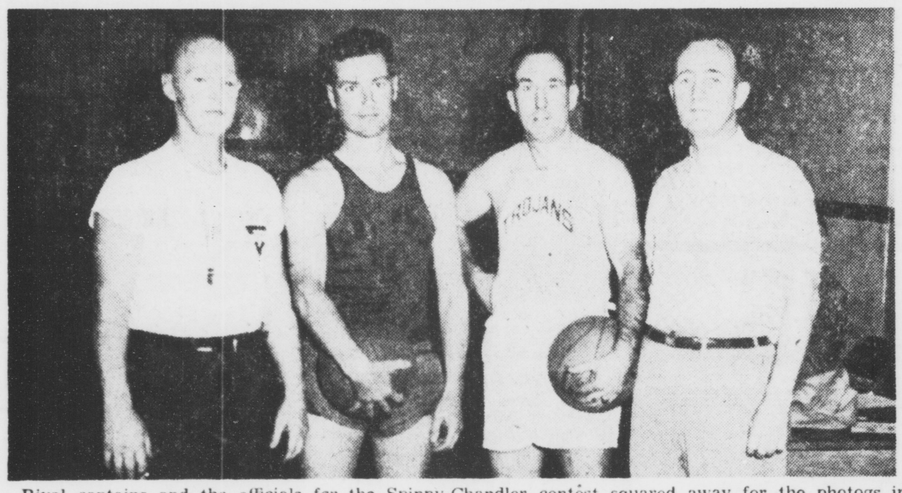

Free copies of the booklet may be obtained from the New York State Department of Commerce, 112 State street, Albany 7, N. Y.

Greenberg Says Yankees Will Be Lucky To Finish in Top Four Without DiMag

Champs Ordinary Team With Joe Gone

Cleveland, Jan. 3 (AP) — Hank Greenberg says that "without Joe Di Maggio the New York Yankees will be lucky to finish in the first division next season."

And the Cleveland Indians general manager pointed out he was not saying that just because the retired fielder was inspirational around the club house for the World Champion Yanks.

"After all, there's no way to measure his value in that respect," said Greenberg. "But you can measure his value as a hitter and as a center fielder. That's why I say they'll be just an ordinary ball club without him."

He pointed out the Yankee Clipper played in 116 games last season, batted .263, hit 12 homers and drove in 71 runs.

"How many others drove in 71 runs?" he continued, and then answered himself:

"Something like 17 players drove in more than 71 runs, but only two of them played fewer than 116 games."

"As old and tired as he was, he was still one of the best—and still a great center fielder, too. Don't forget that," Hank added.

Greenberg refused to predict a pennant for his Tribe because "it's a little too early for that," but he did say that "the Indians are one of three or four teams better than the Yankees, now that their big guy is gone."

Robust Training Grind

Roanoke, Va., Jan. 3 (AP)—The Rev. Robert (Bob) Richards, whose amazing pole-vaulting and decathlon performances earned him the 1951 James E. Sullivan Memorial trophy, raked a sweaty forehead with the back of his hand. The Flying Parson had just pulled up in the darkness after a tour around a city park here. The time was 1 a. m. (E.S.T.) today "Well," said Richards, the amateur athlete of 1951, "I guess that's enough for tonight. I've worked out in this little park for almost two hours now. After a shower, I'll go to bed."

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

You will hear it said many times that the world in general and the sports world in particular are quite willing to forget 1951—if they can.

Korea, the national scandals, mounting taxes and a general decline of morality flattened John Q. Public in the last 12 months. He can't take much more.

Intercollegiate athletics experienced a year of shame and disgrace, fixes, corruption and scandals.

So what will 1952 bring for Kingston sports, you ask?

Unless early signs are cock-eyed, baseball could experience its most dismal slump in the post-war period. This prediction is based on the assumption that the stock cars replace baseball at municipal stadium.

Yet, baseball has always had its share of local Moses ready to lead an indifferent populace out of the sports bullrushes. Don't bet your 1951 surplus (if you had any) that somebody doesn't come forward with a sure cure for our professional baseball ailments.

When you think of independent baseball promotions, you think of one man. It can be said on good authority that this particular gentleman isn't interested in 1952 and that in itself is the major sports surprise of the infant year.

The KAA's Little League enjoyed tremendous success during 1951 due mainly to the tireless efforts of president Bob Umpleby and able staff of coaches and interested parents. That interest in Little League will be greater in 1952 is assured. It is just a matter of time before Little Leagues start cropping up in different sections of the city.

President Joe Kelly's City Baseball League hurdled a major financial crisis in 1951. By now the twilight league managers and officials realize that hard-headed business policies must replace the sentimentality of old. It is not feasible to operate more than six teams in the City League, the economic and player situation being what it is. We believe the twi circuit will operate with six teams and a tighter schedule.

We are on the threshold of the most spectacular DUSO basketball season since Kingston High, then Newburgh Academy, dominated the post-war conference. Coach George S. "Lanky" Masterson's Goldbacks are odd-on favorites to sweep to their third consecutive DUSO crown but rugged opposition is due from Kingston and Fallsburg.

The DUSO schedule makers handed Coach G. Warren Kias a hot potato in successive post-holiday contests with Fallsburg and Newburgh on the road. An even split in these two engagements will project the Kiasmen squarely into the pennant picture. Don't overlook the fact that Kingston whipped Coach Sam Kalloch's Blues in the PHS bandbox. Not many other schools will be able to make that same statement when the final returns are in.

Bowling and golf, primarily participant sports, enjoyed banner seasons in 1951. Bowling interest should reach an all-time high with the New York State men's championships unfolding in Kingston in April and May. Between 1500 and 1600 teams are expected to compete.

What will the 1952 state bowling tournament mean to Kingston from a dollars and cents standpoint? Roughly, a quarter of a million dollars. How about that for promotion by a small group of interested bowling officials?

The area's ski resorts, particularly Belleayre, Highmount and Phoenicia, should experience a banner season after three winters of lean pickings. Lack of snow, and unusually mild winters have cost ski operators several million dollars in the last few years.

The month of December was an augury that 1951-52 winter will be made of sterner stuff, that flaky white stuff that spells boxoffice for the ski operators.

Competitive golf reached an all-time high in Ulster county last year and the expansion of the Father Herdegen Memorial tournament to 72 holes, including the Ellenville course, in 1952, will enable the pastime of the links to reach its greatest peak.

From a national standpoint, athletics starts the year determined to cleanse its house. If Rocky Marciano's kayo victory over Joe Louis wasn't a fluke, the boxing industry could enjoy its greatest wave of prosperity since the heydey of the Brown Bomber.

The Giants will be favored to win the National League pennant. Several teams will be picked over the Yankees but Casey Stengel's horde will probably stumble into their fourth straight pennant—even without the peerless Joe D.

Nearly Missed Trip

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—You just don't go traveling abroad without a passport, so it seemed Frances Louise Springer-Miller of Stowe, Vt., would miss her plane to the winter Olympic Games in Oslo, Norway. An alternate on the U. S. women's team, Miss Springer-Miller discovered she'd left her passport at a New York hotel as the plane with other members of the team prepared for its take-off. She telephoned her father at the hotel, and he rushed to the airport in a taxi with the passport. The plane was on the runway, warming up its motors for the take-off, but Pan-American officials rushed her to the craft in a station wagon with seconds to spare.

Lew Hymes Blasts 274-663; Evelyn Francis Leads Women

Former Sets New Central Rec Mark

Veteran Lou Hymes sizzled through the weekly action in the Central Rec Major League Wednesday night with an opening four-timer and bouncing back with a six-time strike spree for a new 274 single record and a hefty 663 series.

The 274 blast eclipsed the former solo record of 260 held by Charlie Grunenwald.

While Hymes led the individual bowlers last night, Evelyn Francis, a promising keglerette for a few years running, ended her 1951-1952 slump with a neat 536 triple to lead the Colonial Women's League at the Bowlatorium.

Piling up wood for his 274 game, Hymes opened with four strikes, then had a seven-pin fill, a spare and six more strikes to complete the robust game.

His other counts were for 189 and 200 even for the 663 series.

Broskie Raps 628

Following Hymes' 274—663 blast in the Central Rec Major, a couple of 600s were turned in by Harold Broskie and Tom Welch, both also achieving the hat trick.

Broskie pummeled the maples for 212-214-202 for 628 while Welch followed closely with 200-204-212 for 616.

Other top pinfall included George Robinson with 220—594; John "Red" Sangi 206—588; Ken Williams 235—586; Cliff Quick 213—579; Harry Smith 224-200—579; Larry Weishaupt 202—576; George Flemings 202—574; Ed Heins 225—570; and Jack Houghtaling with a 239 single.

Displaying some of her top form, Evelyn Francis' 536 triple was put around scores of 167-186-183 in the Colonial Women's League. Elizabeth Bruck posted 529; Ada Markie 514; Mary Wyant 512; Rose Rhymer 488; Phyl Gehringer 475; Charlotte Lapine 472; Rose Schatzel 471; Winnie Overfield 470; Kay Brodhead 468; Carrie Mohr 467; Bertha Schaller 466; Dot Rawding 462; Betty Bailey 461 and Dot Khederian 460. Mae Martalto hit 213—452, turning in the lone 200 of the night.

In the Silver class of the Colonial Women's loop, Helen Bordenstein turned in 140-147-179 for 466. Marion O'Donnell rolled 464; Mabel Davis 459; Dora Manfro 454; Marie Kelekian 453.

Sue Healy's 170-133-144 for 447 topped the Purple Division. Pauline Barth posted 446; Nancy Hussey 438; Anna Mitchell 432; Anna Berardi 428; Gwen Hulsair 427; Ruth Toffel 427; Peggy Duffy 406 and Mabel MacAvery 404.

Bill Johnson was runnerup to Ed Heins in the Junior Major circuit with a pair of 200's—215 and 218—for 616. Herb Sleight rolled 214-575; Ed Ougheltree 549; Tom Provenzano 214-548; Tony Albany 544; Ernie Bartroff 537; J. Spadafora 202-537 and George Magley 536.

Other good pinfall in the CYO loop belonged to Nick Bruck who polished off 554; Ed Koskie 203-540; John Zeeh 533; Gerard Kearney 202-522; Joe Mannello 517; Don Clausi 514; Ken Radel 202-504; Ed Lukas 503 and A. Maurer 502.

Closing Date Set

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—Nominations for the 1952 Belmont Stakes, final number in the triple crown of racing, will close Jan. 15. The Belmont, which follows the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, will retain the $100,000-added value, and is expected to be run on June 7, final Saturday of Belmont Park's spring meeting. Nominations also close Jan. 15 for the $50,000 Coaching Club American Oaks, for three-year-old fillies. The Belmont spring meeting runs from April 29 through June 9.

Robinson's 192 Tops Rec Major

George Robinson, the hard working secretary who handles the vital statistics for the Ferraro and Central Rec major ten pin leagues, is leading the latter circuit with a 192 average.

Mitzie Arlensky, the stylish southpaw, boasts 194 but has competed in only 18 games.

Ken Joseph trails the leader by a point with 191. Angelo Ferraro and Clifton Quick are tied with 190.

Pontiac Broadway Garage has opened up a seven-game lead over second place Jimmie's Inn and Amell's in the team race, with 32 wins and 13 losses.

Individual records are held by Charlie Gunenwald, 260, and Joe Ruzzo 706. Team marks are Miron Lumber's 1084 and Amell's 3063.

New State Ski Guide Available to Skiers

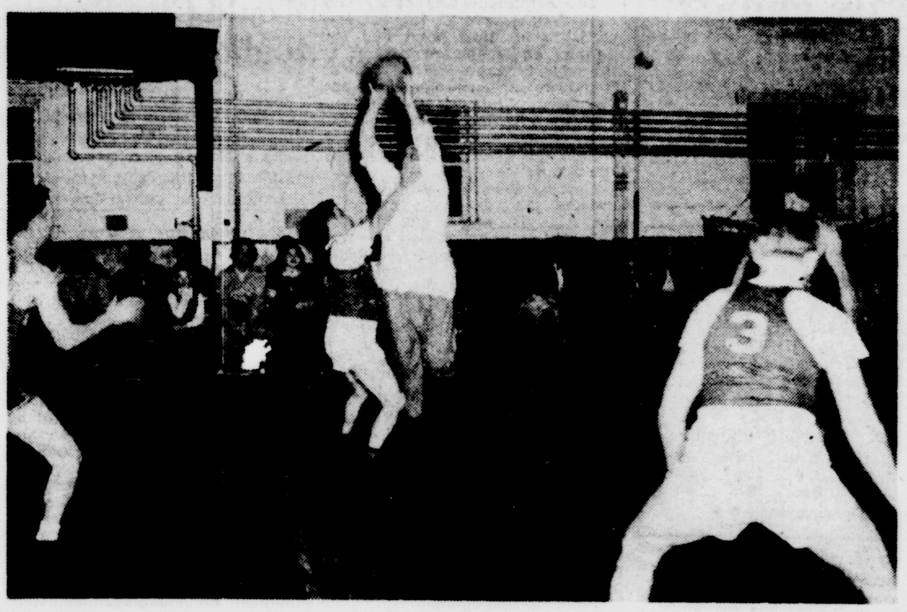

Albany, N. Y.—Publication of "Ski New York," a guide to ski centers in the state, was announced today by the State Department of Commerce.

The guide will be distributed to skiers as part of the department's program of promoting winter travel and recreation. The pocket-size booklet contains 56 pages and is illustrated with photographs of winter sports activities.

Seventy-seven ski centers are described in detail. Length, width and descent of slopes and trails is given and the hours of operation of lifts and tows. Instruction available and equipment for rent is listed. An item of special interest to motorists is the detail for each center showing highways to them.

Free copies of the booklet may be obtained from the New York State Department of Commerce, 112 State street, Albany 7, N. Y.

'50 Club' Rallies To Win, 49 to 41

A last period spurt netting 17 points turned the tide in favor of the "50 Club" basketeers who registered a 49 to 41 victory over the Kaplan Bag Company five in a regular B League contest Wednesday night at the YMCA.

The two clubs were tied five times during the course of the ball game, including twice in the final period of play. With about four minutes left to play, however, the "50 Club" cagers had things pretty much their own way.

Johnny Burris, who paced the winners to victory, came through with three deuces and three free throws in the final period while collecting 14 points during the entire game. Ron Diamond, also of the winners, was outstanding under the basket, while picking up 12 points. Ray Berardi followed with 10.

Leading the losers was Bob Hickey who emerged as top scorer in the game with 16 points. His field goals were well placed from one-handed shots, on a left hand twister from the bucket. Bob Baumer of the Bag five netted 14 points and played a terrific floor game, according to reports.

Knicks Near Second, Take Third Straight

(By The Associated Press)

Backed by a three-game winning streak, the New York Knicks were over the .500 mark again today and within two games of second place Syracuse in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association.

The Knicks turned back Milwaukee's Hawks, cellar dwellers in the Western Division, 89-67 at Chicago last night before a capacity stadium crowd of 20,004. In an exhibition, the Minneapolis Lakers defeated the Harlem Globe Trotters, 84-60, in the second game of the stadium double bill.

The victory was the New Yorkers second straight over the Hawks and gave them a season's standing of 16 and 15. The game was won in the third period when the Knicks scored 30 times while holding Milwaukee to 11 after being in front only 39-37 at the half. Max Zaslofsky paced the winners with 27 points.

The Hawks now have bowed to the Knicks in four of five games.

Cards' Mizell May Become Greatest Southpaw—Keane

Houston, Tex., Jan. 3 (AP)—A veteran baseball observer says Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, a St. Louis Cardinal acquisition, may become "the greatest lefthander the game ever had."

Johnny Keane, a long-time member of the Cardinal organization, called Mizell a faster pitcher today than Dizzy Dean or Wild Bill Hallahan were in their prime.

He said Mizel also probably is faster than Lefty Grove was.

Mizell is the young hurler called up a couple of days ago by the Cards from their Houston Texas League farm. He signed his 1952 contract Monday and will report to the Cards' spring training camp in St. Petersburg, Fla.

"Of course," Keane said, "I'm trying to compare a kid who is getting his first chance in the big show with three famous pitchers. I saw Grove in St. Louis when he was at the height of his career and the same goes for Dean and Hallahan when they were with St. Louis.

"But if Mizell pitches in the majors as he has during his three years in minor baseball, no one will be able to hit him consistently and I foresee him becoming a star player. I do think that Mizell must learn to mix some slow stuff with the fast. Let the batters see the slow ones to confuse them, then come in there with the fast ball.

"The fast ones, they may never see."

Vinegar Bend's record with Houston last season was 16 victories and 14 defeats.

Mangrum Is Favored In Los Angeles Open

Los Angeles, Jan. 3 (AP) — The 1952 professional golf campaign will be launched here tomorrow when about 200 players tee off in the first round of the $17,500 Los Angeles Open tournament.

Missing from the lineup will be incomparable Ben Hogan, as well as Sam Snead and several other name pros.

On hand, and favored to score a repeat victory, is Lloyd Mangrum, who won the event in 1949, placed second in 1948, did not compete in 1950 and topped the field a year ago.

Main target for the field is the winner's prize of $4,000, a large boost from the previous $2,600 when the purse was $15,000.

First session today involved executive officers of state prep groups from 33 states. The officials planned to discuss various high school athletic problems.

Burris and Taylor Lead Scorers

The Progressive Baptists and Trinity Lutheran recorded victories in the Protestant Church League Wednesday night at the YMCA boards.

With J. Burris and J. Taylor hitting the double figures of 29 and 20 points, the Progressive Baptists walloped the YMCA Cadets by 77 to 44.

In the other tilt, Trinity Lutheran turned back the Redeemer Lutheran cagers by 53 to 35.

While Burris and Taylor led the scoring for the Baptists, Henderson and Cody chipped in with 14 and 12 points respectively to complete the rout. Comstock, Woods and Nagele were high for the losers with 14, 12 and 10 points respectively.

Ron Brandt was the big gun for Trinity Lutheran with his 19 points. Dick Gollnick and Bill Marks followed with 14 and 11 in that order. Johnny Smith hit for 13 and Bob Baumer 11 for the Redeemer quintet.

'Stripes' Causes Furore

Bonn, Germany (AP)—A bootleg copy of the army newspaper, Stars and Stripes, has sent State Department and army officials into a tizzy. It raised this question: How can German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer get his daily copy of Stars and Stripes—legally? A high German official has been sending out a messenger daily to buy a bootleg copy. The catch is that a German cannot legally buy "Stripes." It sells only for American money—the scrip issued to troops—and Germans are forbidden by army regulations from possessing scrip. Some one suggested that the army send Adenauer a complimentary copy each morning. But the army's legal brains said "regulations" forbid giving away "Stripes." State Department officials are now poring through regulations to find if the department can foot the bill for Adenauer's "Stripes."

Rangers Score Second 1-0 Win Over Wings

(By The Associated Press)

The Detroit Red Wings, riding high atop the National Hockey League standings, were wondering today when those carbon-copy 1-0 defeats at the hands of the New York Rangers will end.

For the second week in a row the Wings invaded Madison Square Garden last night, and the lowly Rangers scored a first period goal then battled it to the bitter finish for a 1-0 shutout.

Don Raleigh scored at 12 minutes of the first period on passes from Jack Evans and Gaye Stewart, and the goalie Chuck Rayner turned back every Detroit assault of the New York nets.

Terry Sawchuck, the Detroit goal tender, was equally brilliant in the wing nets, with a total of 31 saves. Rayner stopped 17 Detroit shots, several times coming 10 and 15 feet out on the ice to steer the puck from the nets as the Wings applied heavy pressure in the final period.

A week ago, Ed Slowinski scored on passes from Raleigh and Stewart at 3:04 of the first period, and the teams fought it out the rest of the way without another goal.

Last night's victory was only the second over Detroit this season for New York. Detroit has won six, and the teams played one 4-4 tie.

Stanford Will Get Top Melon Slice Despite Bowl Loss

Pasadena, Calif., Jan. 3 (AP) — Stanford's Indians took a 40-7 pasting in the Rose Bowl but they will get about twice as much money as victorious Illinois, when the spoils are distributed several weeks hence.

The net gate was about $350,000 and radio and television rights brought in $400,000 more. After taxes, expenses of the game and stadium rental, the net will be about $580,000, and the Big Ten Pacific Coast Conferences divide it equally. The figures are approximate (and unofficial) because, PCC Commissioner Victor Schmidt explains, it will be some time before the final audit is available.

Stanford gets a flat $60,000, plus $2,000 traveling expenses. The PCC treasury receives $25,000 and the remaining $203,000 or so is divided among the nine conference schools, Stanford included—about $22,500 each. Stanford therefore gets about $85,000, minus expenses.

Illinois' expenses figure at about $20,000, so $270,000 will be split 12 ways in the Big Ten Conference. Illinois gets two shares, one goes to the commissioner's office and one each to the nine other schools, so Illinois figures to get about $45,000, plus expenses.

A golf ball leaves the club at a speed of about 180 feet a second when hit by the average golfer.

Knicks Near Second, Take Third Straight

(By The Associated Press)

Backed by a three-game winning streak, the New York Knicks were over the .500 mark at home today and within two games of second place Syracuse in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association.

The Knicks turned back Milwaukee's Hawks, cellar dwellers in the Western Division, 89-67 at Chicago last night before a capacity stadium crowd of 20,004. In an exhibition, the Minneapolis Lakers defeated the Harlem Globe Trotters, 84-60, in the second game of the stadium double bill.

The victory was the New Yorkers second straight over the Hawks and gave them a season's standing of 16 and 15. The game was won in the third period when the Knicks scored 30 times while holding Milwaukee to 11 after being in front only 39-37 at the half. Max Zaslofsky paced the winners with 27 points.

The Hawks now have bowed to the Knicks in four of five games.

'Stripes' Causes Furore

Bonn, Germany (AP)—A bootleg copy of the army newspaper, Stars and Stripes, has sent State Department and army officials into a tizzy. It raised this question: How can German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer get his daily copy of Stars and Stripes—legally? A high German official has been sending out a messenger daily to buy a bootleg copy. The catch is that a German cannot legally buy "Stripes." It sells only for American money—the scrip issued to troops—and Germans are forbidden by army regulations from possessing scrip. Some one suggested that the army send Adenauer a complimentary copy each morning. But the army's legal brains said "regulations" forbid giving away "Stripes." State Department officials are now poring through regulations to find if the department can foot the bill for Adenauer's "Stripes."

Rangers Score Second 1-0 Win Over Wings

(By The Associated Press)

The Detroit Red Wings, riding high atop the National Hockey League standings, were wondering today when those carbon-copy 1-0 defeats at the hands of the New York Rangers will end.

For the second week in a row the Wings invaded Madison Square Garden last night, and the lowly Rangers scored a first period goal then battled it to the bitter finish for a 1-0 shutout.

Don Raleigh scored at 12 minutes of the first period on passes from Jack Evans and Gaye Stewart, and the goalie Chuck Rayner turned back every Detroit assault of the New York nets.

Terry Sawchuck, the Detroit goal tender, was equally brilliant in the wing nets, with a total of 31 saves. Rayner stopped 17 Detroit shots, several times coming 10 and 15 feet out on the ice to steer the puck from the nets as the Wings applied heavy pressure in the final period.

A week ago, Ed Slowinski scored on passes from Raleigh and Stewart at 3:04 of the first period, and the teams fought it out the rest of the way without another goal.

Last night's victory was only the second over Detroit this season for New York. Detroit has won six, and the teams played one 4-4 tie.

Raleigh, slim 148-pound winger, played with a bruised big toe on his left foot last night, the result of an injury at Boston Tuesday. An X-ray before the game showed no break and he was permitted to play.

Sports of the Day

(IN BRIEF)

(By The Associated Press)

New York — The Rev. Robert (Bob) Richards, pole vaulting star, and national decathlon champion, named winner of the 1951 James E. Sullivan Memorial Trophy as amateur athlete of year.

Lausanne, Switzerland — International Olympic Committee announced Israel would be permitted to participate in 1952 Olympic games at Helsinki.

Fayetteville, Ark. — University of Arkansas announced Billy (Toar) Hester, seven-foot center, had withdrawn from basketball team.

Mobile, Ala. — Paul Brown, coach of Cleveland Browns, quit as coach of north team in senior bowl game Saturday because of commitment to direct team in Jan. 12 professional bowl game at Los Angeles.

New Orleans — Ed Fullerton, back, and end John Anderton elected co-captains of Maryland football team after Sugar Bowl victory over Tennessee.

Detroit—Catcher Bob Swift, veteran of 12 years in American league, signed contract with Detroit Tigers.

New York — Lefty Ed Lopat, New York Yankee ace, signed new contract for reported $25,000 per year.

Cincinnati — Ewell Blackwell, Cincinnati Reds pitcher, signed 1952 contract.

Stanford Will Get Top Melon Slice Despite Bowl Loss

Pasadena, Calif., Jan. 3 (AP) — Stanford's Indians took a 40-7 pasting in the Rose Bowl but they will get about twice as much money as victorious Illinois, when the spoils are distributed several weeks hence.

The net gate was about $350,000 and radio and television rights brought in $400,000 more. After taxes, expenses of the game and stadium rental, the net will be about $580,000, and the Big Ten Pacific Coast Conferences divide it equally. The figures are approximate (and unofficial) because, PCC Commissioner Victor Schmidt explains, it will be some time before the final audit is available.

Stanford gets a flat $60,000, plus $2,000 traveling expenses. The PCC treasury receives $25,000 and the remaining $203,000 or so is divided among the nine conference schools, Stanford included—about $22,500 each. Stanford therefore gets about $85,000, minus expenses.

Illinois' expenses figure at about $20,000, so $270,000 will be split 12 ways in the Big Ten Conference. Illinois gets two shares, one goes to the commissioner's office and one each to the nine other schools, so Illinois figures to get about $45,000, plus expenses.

A golf ball leaves the club at a speed of about 180 feet a second when hit by the average golfer.

Modena Fox Head Will Be Checked

Modena, Jan. 3—A fox led Modena residents a merry chase on Wednesday until it—or another one that looked like it—was struck and killed by an automobile later that afternoon.

Tests will be conducted to determine whether the fox that was killed was rabid, the county health department reported today.

Mrs. Lester Wager was doing her housework when her attention was attracted Wednesday morning by the sound of a truck stopping and backing up. She looked outside to see a man laughing at a fox and a dog, walking side by side like old friends, headed toward the dairy barn.

Grabbing her son's 30-30 rifle, Mrs. Wager followed the fox to the barn, but the fox circled around the cows so that she could not get a shot at him. She did manage to hit him with the gunstock, but the animal snapped at her and ran away, she reported.

Help Is Given

She summoned help, and beside her husband and other village men, Game Protector Albert Roberts of Highland, Justice of the Peace Hobart Smalley of Clintondale and the owner of several fox hounds joined the search.

Later in the day, Mrs. Wager's son noticed a fox in the yard. He and his father got in their automobile, drove to the road and succeeded in hitting and killing the animal.

The body was turned over to Roberts and its head will be preserved so that tests may be made to determine whether it was rabid.

Dr. Gilbert Hoppenstedt was summoned and administered vaccine to the cows in the event that they had been bitten by the fox.

Employment Test
Service

Employment tests are free and easy to take. You will enjoy taking these tests and can benefit greatly. They have helped many men find the best job for them. If you qualify, you will have a wonderful opportunity for pleasant, profitable work with no layoff periods.

Does your present job give you better than a good living with an opportunity to increase your income rapidly? Does your present employment offer you the future you want and need, or does it seem to lead nowhere?

Are you searching these pages for a job that offers you the opportunity for greater Security? If so, we would like to talk with you.

We are an old manufacturer of chemical and electrical products, now selecting men who are desirous of making real money, more money in one week than some men make in a month.

We are not concerned about your educational background, contacts or previous experience, although your promotions could be more rapid with us if you had done mechanical work.

Men selected will have opportunity to participate in percentage remuneration plan even while learning.

Bodies of Eight Taken to Morgue

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 3 (AP)—Bodies of eight of the 28 persons killed Sunday in the crash of an Air Force C-47 have been removed from an Arizona mountainside and brought to a mortuary in Mesa, 16 miles east of Phoenix.

The eight bodies brought down the icy side of 7,000-foot Armer mountain 65 miles northeast of Phoenix were those of personnel most easily removed. Three days are expected to pass before all the bodies are removed.

An evacuation team of airmen, aided by Arizona cowboys, struggled up the mountain yesterday and found the mangled bodies among the scattered wreckage of the twin-engine plane. The victims were 19 West Point cadets, four crew members and five other military passengers.

A team of identification experts from Wright Patterson Air Force base in Ohio arrived here late last night to aid in the work of identification.

So difficult is the task of gathering the bodies and evacuating them by pack horses down the mountainside, that it will probably be late this afternoon before additional bodies are brought to the Mesa mortuary.

Weather Outlook Given for Month

The bureau's report yesterday follows:

The weather bureau's 30-day outlook for January calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals west of the Continental Divide and in the northern plains, with greatest departures in the Pacific northwest. In the south and east, temperatures are expected to average warmer than normal, with prevailingly mild weather indicated along the gulf coast and in the southeastern states. Elsewhere near normal teemperatures are predicted.

Precipitation is expected to exceed normal over most of the nation, except for subnormal amounts in the Pacific northwest and the southern states from Texas eastward. From the central plains northeastward much of the precipitation will be in the form of sleet and freezing rain.

The average U. S. woman in the 25-29 age group and 5 feet 6 weighs approximately 136.

Col. Zack Miller Dies; Circus Owner

Waco, Tex., Jan. 3 (AP)—Col. Zack T. Miller, who with his brothers once owned the largest ranch in Oklahoma, died today. He was 74.

Miller, who lost the famed 101 ranch near Ponca City to mortgage companies in the 1930's, had been ill since last summer.

He was a pioneer of the old Wild West and the last of three brothers who built the ranch and the Miller Wild West show into nationally known attractions.

Before the ranch became involved in litigation it was composed of 110,000 acres.

Miller had been ill ever since a bunch of donkeys tromped on him last summer while he was trying to load them onto a trailer.

He had been a familiar sight at cattle auctions in his later years—the closest he could ever get to cattle, he said. A small Negro boy pushed him around in a wheel chair.

Bodies of Eight Taken to Morgue

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 3 (AP)—Bodies of eight of the 28 persons killed Sunday in the crash of an Air Force C-47 have been removed from an Arizona mountainside and brought to a mortuary in Mesa, 16 miles east of Phoenix.

The eight bodies brought down the icy side of 7,000-foot Armer mountain 65 miles northeast of Phoenix were those of personnel most easily removed. Three days are expected to pass before all the bodies are removed.

An evacuation team of airmen, aided by Arizona cowboys, struggled up the mountain yesterday and found the mangled bodies among the scattered wreckage of the twin-engine plane. The victims were 19 West Point cadets, four crew members and five other military passengers.

A team of identification experts from Wright Patterson Air Force base in Ohio arrived here late last night to aid in the work of identification.

So difficult is the task of gathering the bodies and evacuating them by pack horses down the mountainside, that it will probably be late this afternoon before additional bodies are brought to the Mesa mortuary.

Weather Outlook Given for Month

Washington, Jan. 3 (AP)—The weather bureau forecast below seasonal normal temperatures west of the Continental Divide in its 30 day outlook for January.

The bureau's report yesterday follows:

The weather bureau's 30-day outlook for January calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals west of the Continental Divide and in the northern plains, with greatest departures in the Pacific northwest. In the south and east, temperatures are expected to average warmer than normal, with prevailingly mild weather indicated along the gulf coast and in the southeastern states. Elsewhere near normal teemperatures are predicted.

Precipitation is expected to exceed normal over most of the nation, except for subnormal amounts in the Pacific northwest and the southern states from Texas eastward. From the central plains northeastward much of the precipitation will be in the form of sleet and freezing rain.

The average U. S. woman in the 25-29 age group and 5 feet 6 weighs approximately 136.

Col. Zack Miller Dies; Circus Owner

Waco, Tex., Jan. 3 (AP)—Col. Zack T. Miller, who with his brothers once owned the largest ranch in Oklahoma, died today. He was 74.

Miller, who lost the famed 101 ranch near Ponca City to mortgage companies in the 1930's, had been ill since last summer.

He was a pioneer of the old Wild West and the last of three brothers who built the ranch and the Miller Wild West show into nationally known attractions.

Before the ranch became involved in litigation it was composed of 110,000 acres.

Miller had been ill ever since a bunch of donkeys tromped on him last summer while he was trying to load them onto a trailer.

He had been a familiar sight at cattle auctions in his later years—the closest he could ever get to cattle, he said. A small Negro boy pushed him around in a wheel chair.

530 Permits Are Issued by Chief, Total $2,846,992

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy's building permit report for 1951 shows a total of 530 permits at an estimated cost of $2,846,992.

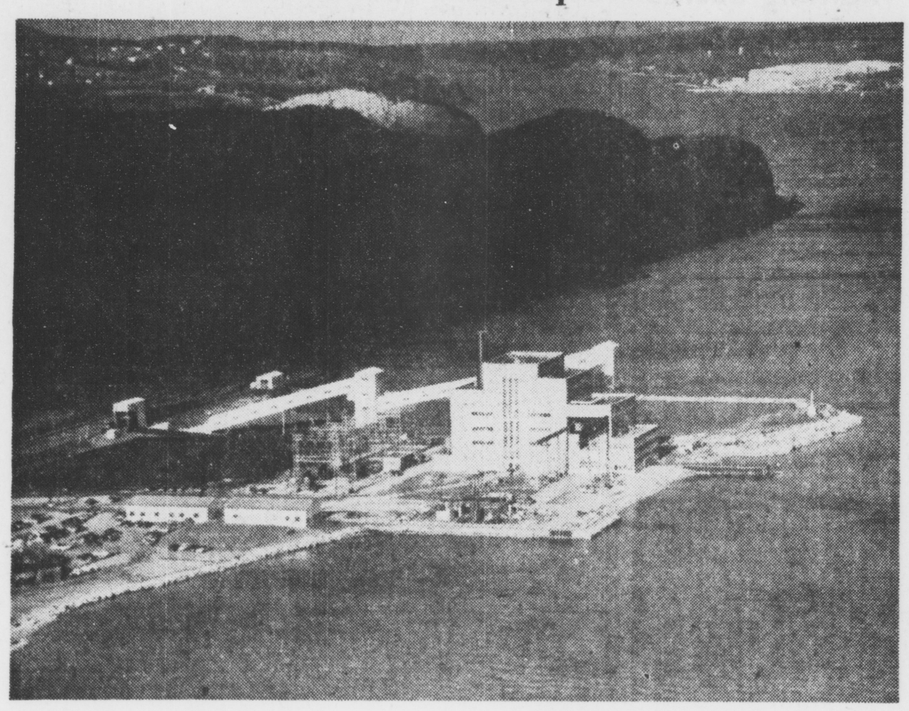

Despite the fact that a permit for the public housing project was issued during the year and brought the total up considerably, it was far below the 1950 total of $4,881,400. This figure was high mainly because of permits issued for the new school and the new wing on the Benedictine Hospital. In 1950 the chief issued 723 permits.

The chief issued 29 permits in December at an estimated total building cost of $76,567. This was far below the total in November which was brought to $1,085,052 because of the housing project permit.

The December total for six new dwellings was $55,500, and that for alterations, additions and repairs on dwellings was $4,999 and $10,600 for the same purpose on non-residential buildings. The total for oil tanks and burners during the month was $5,468.

New Power Plant Operates

New Steam Station Dedicated; Gives Increase in Power

At Danskammer Point, once the scene of Indian tribal rites and war dances, Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation dedicated its new 60,000 kilowatt steam station at noon today. Even as Ernest R. Acker, president of the Central Hudson System, made the dedicatory remarks power from the $12,000,000 steam station was flowing to communities on both sides of the Hudson river.

During the dedication ceremony, Acker addressed an audience of directors and executives of Central Hudson, area newspaper editors, union representatives, New York city newspapermen and key personnel of the New York city engineering firm of Burns & Roe, Inc., which designed and supervised construction of the steam station.

The new steam station, one of the most efficient plants of its type in the United States, is located six miles north of Newburgh on the west bank of the Hudson river. With the completion of the 80,000 horsepower unit, Central Hudson began generating a large portion of its electrical requirements within its own system. In recent years the company has been forced to buy large quantities of electricity from neighboring companies. The increased cost of purchased power, however, has made it uneconomic to continue with this type of operation.

To Build Second Unit

Plans for a second 60,000 kilowatt unit at Danskammer Point are well underway and foundation work will begin in the summer. Upon its scheduled completion in mid-1954, the new unit will bring the installed generating capacity at Danskammer Point to 120,000 kilowatts with a capability of 132,000 kilowatts. The total investment at the site will be approximately $24,000,000 with the installation of the second unit.

The plant site, purchased by Central Hudson in 1940 and covering approximately 60 acres, has 4,465 feet of river frontage, is accessible by highway, railroad and river, and is generally considered one of the best sites for its purpose in the eastern section of the United States.

Interesting facts about the new steam station:

The coal comes principally from the Fairmont region of northern West Virginia. Approximately 600 tons are burned daily to supply the 11,000,000 pounds of steam necessary to drive the generator at full load.

Ashes from the burned coal are collected and sluiced to a basin north of the station property are being used for the reclamation of land now under water.

60,500,000 gallons of Hudson river water are used each day to cool and condense the steam. This amount of cooling water is about 10 times the amount of water used in the domestic water supply of the city of Poughkeepsie. After having been used to condense the steam, this water is returned to the river actually cleaner than when taken out. This is because the water is treated before being taken into the station to destroy minute organisms and other matter found in all river water.

The steam station is pressurized, that is, the air pressure in the building is greater than that outside so that foreign matter will not seep in.

To simplify construction and promote maximum operating efficiency the generator has been mounted on the condensor instead of on a separate foundation. This arrangement has never before been used in a generating unit of this size. The mounting has been used on smaller machines with excellent results.

It requires 41 persons to operate the steam station on a 24-hour basis. This includes about 20 shift operators as well as coal-handling and maintenance crews.

The name for the historic peninsula upon which the new generating station stands was derived from a Dutch description given the promontory when the Indians assembled there. Their council fires, war dances and celebrations resulted in the Dutch calling it, "De Duyfels Dans Kammer," or "The Devil's Dance Chamber." Historians say the name "Danskammer" was first used sometime between 1624 and 1640.

Violence Is Reported

Santiago, Chile, Jan. 3 (AP)—Chile's presidential election campaign broke out with violence for the first time today. Supporters of Senator Carlos Ibanez threw tear gas bombs into a theatre where Senator Arturo Matte, candidate of a right wing bloc of parties, was addressing a meeting. Ibanez, a former president, is the candidate of a splinter group of the Agrarian party and independents. He advocates renewal of diplomatic relations with Russia, broken off in 1947.

A vastly increased demand for cobalt has resulted from its use in jet engines.

530 Permits Are Issued by Chief, Total $2,846,992

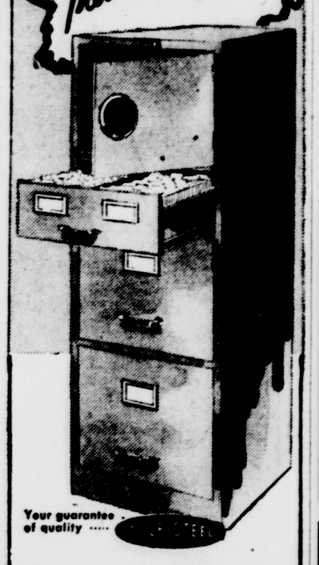

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy's building permit report for 1951 shows a total of 530 permits at an estimated cost of $2,846,992.

Despite the fact that a permit for the public housing project was issued during the year and brought the total up considerably, it was far below the 1950 total of $4,881,400. This figure was high mainly because of permits issued for the new school and the new wing on the Benedictine Hospital. In 1950 the chief issued 723 permits.

The chief issued 29 permits in December at an estimated total building cost of $76,567. This was far below the total in November which was brought to $1,085,052 because of the housing project permit.

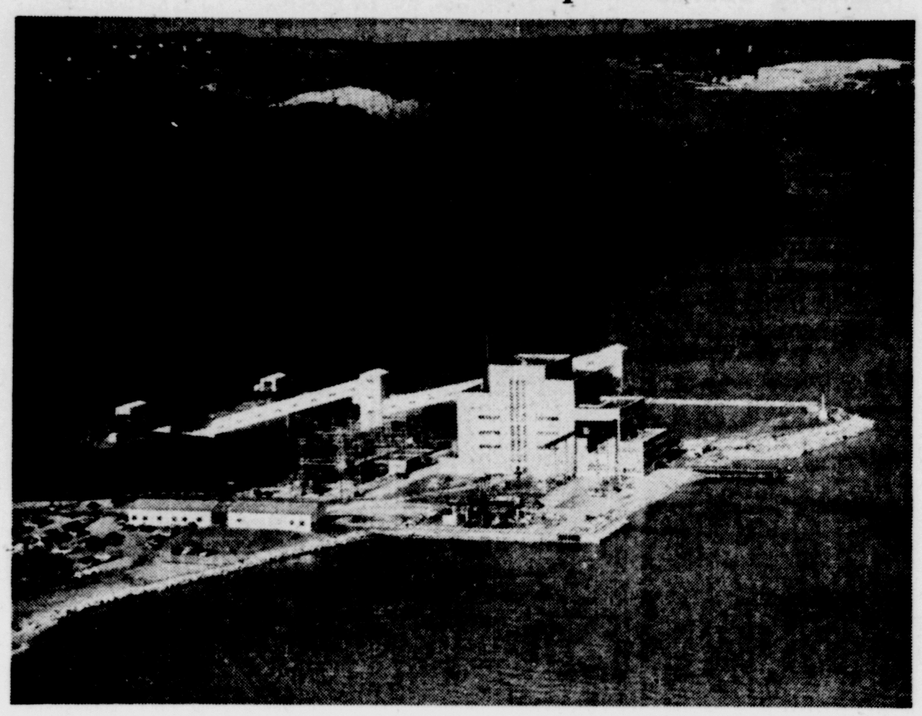

The December total for six new dwellings was $55,500, and that for alterations, additions and repairs on dwellings was $4,999 and $10,600 for the same purpose on non-residential buildings. The total for oil tanks and burners during the month was $5,468.

New Power Plant Operates

New Steam Station Dedicated; Gives Increase in Power

At Danskammer Point, once the scene of Indian tribal rites and war dances, Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation dedicated its new 60,000 kilowatt steam station at noon today. Even as Ernest R. Acker, president of the Central Hudson System, made the dedicatory remarks power from the $12,000,000 steam station was flowing to communities on both sides of the Hudson river.

During the dedication ceremony, Acker addressed an audience of directors and executives of Central Hudson, area newspaper editors, union representatives, New York city newspapermen and key personnel of the New York city engineering firm of Burns & Roe, Inc., which designed and supervised construction of the steam station.

The new steam station, one of the most efficient plants of its type in the United States, is located six miles north of Newburgh on the west bank of the Hudson river. With the completion of the 80,000 horsepower unit, Central Hudson began generating a large portion of its electrical requirements within its own system. In recent years the company has been forced to buy large quantities of electricity from neighboring companies. The increased cost of purchased power, however, has made it uneconomic to continue with this type of operation.

To Build Second Unit

Plans for a second 60,000 kilowatt unit at Danskammer Point are well underway and foundation work will begin in the summer. Upon its scheduled completion in mid-1954, the new unit will bring the installed generating capacity at Danskammer Point to 120,000 kilowatts with a capability of 132,000 kilowatts. The total investment at the site will be approximately $24,000,000 with the installation of the second unit.

The plant site, purchased by Central Hudson in 1940 and covering approximately 60 acres, has 4,465 feet of river frontage, is accessible by highway, railroad and river, and is generally considered one of the best sites for its purpose in the eastern section of the United States.

Interesting facts about the new steam station:

The coal comes principally from the Fairmont region of northern West Virginia. Approximately 600 tons are burned daily to supply the 11,000,000 pounds of steam necessary to drive the generator at full load.

Ashes from the burned coal are collected and sluiced to a basin north of the station property are being used for the reclamation of land now under water.

60,500,000 gallons of Hudson river water are used each day to cool and condense the steam. This amount of cooling water is about 10 times the amount of water used in the domestic water supply of the city of Poughkeepsie. After having been used to condense the steam, this water is returned to the river actually cleaner than when taken out. This is because the water is treated before being taken into the station to destroy minute organisms and other matter found in all river water.

The steam station is pressurized, that is, the air pressure in the building is greater than that outside so that foreign matter will not seep in.

To simplify construction and promote maximum operating efficiency the generator has been mounted on the condensor instead of on a separate foundation. This arrangement has never before been used in a generating unit of this size. The mounting has been used on smaller machines with excellent results.

It requires 41 persons to operate the steam station on a 24-hour basis. This includes about 20 shift operators as well as coal-handling and maintenance crews.

The name for the historic peninsula upon which the new generating station stands was derived from a Dutch description given the promontory when the Indians assembled there. Their council fires, war dances and celebrations resulted in the Dutch calling it, "De Duyfels Dans Kammer," or "The Devil's Dance Chamber." Historians say the name "Danskammer" was first used sometime between 1624 and 1640.

Ibanez, a former president, is the candidate of a splinter group of the Agrarian party and independents. He advocates renewal of diplomatic relations with Russia, broken off in 1947.

A vastly increased demand for cobalt has resulted from its use in jet engines.
